In a Speech of Henry Watterson at the Collins Banquet.

Is a Jingo, but Learned the Lesson From England.

Polated Remarks Concerning "Common Institutions and a Common Language."

London, June 1.-The dinner given Saturday night by all of the United States consuls in the United Kingdom to Patrick A. Collins, the United States consul general here, was a notable gathering. It was considered a great compliment to an efficient official, and all the American consuls located in Great Britian and Ireland were in attendance, except three, who were absent from the country. Among those present were: Ambassador Bayard and the entire staff of the embassy, Joseph Pulitzer of the New York World, Senator Hoar of Massachusetts, S. E. Morss, consul general at Paris. PATRICK A. COLLINS

An illuminated complimentary address was presented to Consul General Collins. J. E. Neal, United States consulat Liverpool, presided. He proposed as a toast "The Guest of the Evening." To this toast General Collins made a fitting response. G. F. Parker, the United States consul at Birmingham, proposed a toast in honor of "The Diplomats." To this toast, Ambassador Bayard and Minister Hannis Taylor replied. To the toast, explosive bullets in fighting. The Euro-"Consular Service," Consul General pean governments have instructed their Morss responded.

The speech of the evening was that Louisville Courier-Journal, in responding to the toast "Memorial Day." It, in fact, created a sensation.

After several unmistakable allusions to Ambassador Bayard, Mr. Watterson began the main portion of his address by replying to the statement made by T. P. O'Connor, M. P., in his paper, The descendants, there was but one feelinga feeling of thankfulness that God had laid the weight of his hand upon the southern Confederency and preserved the life of the American Union.

Continuing, Mr. Watterson said: "I land I learned the lesson, and got the 'Greatness and glory for England.' General Collins, in responding to calls or the guest of the evening, was received with the greatest enthusiasm. His adress was filled with points of a specific ature, largely relating to the character f American consular representatives n Great Britain. He alluded to Howrd Fox, present consul at Falmouth, hose grandfather was appointed to he same position by Monroe, whose dinner of the great American journal the first public dinner which Mr. Pulitter had attended during all the years in which he had accomplished so many great things for journalism and for hought throughout the world.

Ambassador Bayard, in responding to the toast, "The Diplomats," dwelt upon the great courtesy accorded American representatives to Great Britain.

Senator Hoar of Massachusetts paid a warm tribute to the character of General Collins, who, he said, he had known as a boy, and consequently, he was not surprised at the success of his career as a man. Said Senator Hoar, in concluding his address: "At the early age of 4, Collins entered the hospitable gates of America. He became a student in our oublic schools, working at intervals for the purpose of supporting himself and his mother. So persistently and success fully did he study and work, that he has eturned to Great Britain with honors superior to those of knighthood, or of hereditary titles descending from a hundred ancestors. This is, to be an American." The speech of Senator Hoar was received with great applause

"And then the old fight on the county commissionership and the old board commenced when Henry H. Faxon arose and made the following speech in presenting the name of W. Walter Ewell of Quincy for county commissioner:

"Mr. Chairman: I have the honor of presenting the name of W. Walter Ewell, as that of a candidate for the position of county commissioner, a man worthy of the support and confidence of every delegate in this convention. Mr. Ewell is 45 years of age, has served three years as commissioner of public works, and is conspicuously well informed as to road building, valuations, and other perplexing matters calling for arbitration by the county commissioners. He has always been a resident of Quincy and by his integrity in public and private affairs has won the respect of our best Coddington Exercises.

Exercises appropriate to Memorial day were held at the Coddington school Friday afternoon and while in one sense of the word they were simple they were very interesting.

Promptly at 2 o'clock while the City band played "Marching Through Georgia," the pupils marched out of the rooms and took positions facing the building."

Meanwhile a large number of the parents and friends of the pupils had assembled, Our Telephone Number is 48-3; and with them was a delegation from Paul Revere Post consisting of Comrades C. H. Porter, and H. C. Hallowell of the school board, F. W. Loud, J. T. French, J. W. Brief Locals a Speciality and Pub- Pierce, Franklin Jacobs, Elijah Brown and Ephraim Thayer.

The following programme was then carried out:

Raising of the flag by comrades of the Grand Army.

Music by the band. Three cheers for "Old Glory." Pledge to the flag recited in unison.

Concert recitation, "Blue and Gray," B primary class. Concert recitation, "Longfellow's Decoration day," A primary class.

LEATHER AND SHOES

About the Only Branch of Trade Showing General Improvement.

New York, May 30.-Bradstreet's says: The improvement in the trade situation is confined to the demand for hides. leather and shoes, the tendency of prices of same to advance, and an improvement in request for dry goods, hats and shoes from wholesalers at St. Paul, Kansas City, Omaha and Baltimore. The crop outlook in South Carolina and Kentucky is brighter, because of recent rains, and a generally better feeling exists among sugar producers and handlers in Louisiana and Texas, because of the recent sugar bounty decision. General business continues quiet, and at larger financial centers less commercial paper is making, even at lower rates. A between season's trade has begun to assert itself, and from a number of points mercantile collections are less satisfactory, in some instances more difficult. There is no gain in volume of May business at Chicago, it being less than an average, although greater than during May, 1895. Labor troubles at Milwaukee have an unfavorable effect on business. In Texas both corn and cotton crops are retarded for want of rain.

At St. Louis and throughout contiguous territory, and at smaller business centers along the track of the recent storms, business has been interrupted. Damage from the cyclone in St. Louis alone has been heavy, in addition to which, shipments from jobbers are delayed, and retail merchants are suffering from the effects of the storm.

Speculation in the New York stock market is at a standstill, awaiting political developments in connection with the currency. Actual holders of securities are not sellers, but professionals and small margin operators have liquidated sufficiently to cause moderate concessions in prices. London neglects the American market, while the price of British investments continues to advance. The decision of the court, upholding the legality of the Joint Traffic association, is regarded as a point in favor of owners of railroad securities. The St. Louis tornado and damage to railroad property were among the bearish factors, as was the continued gold export to Germany. Shipments this week amount to $3,900,000.

HOT AND CLOSE. Those Who Saw the Boston-Cleveland Game

Got Their Money's Worth. Boston, May 29 .- For nearly four hours the Boston and Cleveland teams battled, playing 12 innings, replete with brilliant ball playing. Vetoed For Economy. Washington, May 30 .- The president yesterday sent to the house a message vetoing the river and harbor bill. He says that if the bill becomes a law the obligations which will be imposed government, together with the appropriations made for immediate expenditure on account of rivers and harbors will amount to about $80,000,000. In conclusion the president says: "I hope I may be permitted to suggest, at a time cism, that the contracts provided for in this bill would create obligations of the United States amounting to $62,000, 600, no less binding than its bonds for Cairo, May 30.-The decision of the mixed tribunal is an open secret, although it will not be delivered until Monday. It will support the French contention, and thus virtually decide that the Egyptian government cannot make war against the khalifa, or even resist a Soudanese invasion without the consent of each member of the debt commission. The case before the mixed tribunal was a suit by the French and Russian members of the commission of the caisse of the Egyptian debt against a decision of a majority of the commission to appro priate the surplus of the Egyptian debt for the Nile expedition. The French contention was that it required a unanimous vote of the commission to authorize this expenditure, and not the vote of a mere majority of the commission.

Dr. Edson's Complaint.

New York, May 30 .- About 100 prom inent drug firms of greater New York will feel the heavy hand of the law i the suits begun yesterday in this city and Brooklyn by Dr. Cyrus Edson are successful. According to the physician certain druggists are selling poison as aseptolin, his recent discovery for the cure of tuberculosis. Dr. Edson asserts that while he gave the formula for the cure to the medical world, the sale of a preparation that tends to kill rather than cure has injured his reputation. He asks the courts to determine the amount of damage to which he is entitled.

In Congress.

Washington, May 30 .- The house bill repealing the section as to free alcohol in the arts passed the senate without amendment. In the house Mr. Boutelle presented the conference report on the naval bill. It showed an agreement upon all the principal points of difference between the house and senate, excepwith respect of the number of battle ships authorized to be constructed. The report was agreed to.

Got Off Easily. New York, May 30 .- Judge Brown, in the United States circuit court yesterday, sentenced Emanuel Niger to six years in the Erie county penitentiary. Niger is the artist who so skillfully counterfeited United States treasury notes with pen and ink that for years he remained undetected.

NEURALGIA, CATARRH AND RHEUMA-TISM COMPLETELY CURED.

George Briggs, of Moore, Oklahoma, writes that P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him of catarrh, facial neuralgia and rheumatism, after three years of intense suffering. The pain lay in his cheek bone and temple, down the right side of his face, along his upper lip, and from the slightest touch he suffered agonies for weeks at a time Could only open his mouth wide enough to admit a teaspoon, and any acid i his food would put him in torture. He had a consultation of the best physicians in Texas, but all to no purpose.

Catarrh and rheumatism were also causing him much trouble, until he tried P. P. P. He says he is well and will swear that there are no cases of neuralgia, catarrh and rheumatism no matter how chronic or how old the cases are, that P. P. will not make a total cure of.

Mr. Briggs winds up his testimony by saying he thanks God and our medicine, P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, for the great cure.

The Museum's Summer Season.

Wellington, Thursday night.

Immediately succeeding the engagement of Mr. Salvini the Boston Museum will follow its usual custom and inaugurate a summer season of comic opera. The Museum has for a number of years enjoyed an enviable reputation in Boston of being peculiarly adapted to the comfort of large audiences during the heated term, and for this reason June, July and August of late years have usually found its doors open to that great body of seekers for some light musical offering which is so prominent in Boston. The summer season will be inaugurated Monday evening June 8.

Wood island is a small sland situated at the Sage island situated at the mouth of the Saco river, about 1½ miles from Biddeford Pool, and is inhabited by only three or four families, who earn a livelihood from lobster fishing. Milliken, who was a game warden and special police officer, lived there with his family. Hobbs, the murderer, also lived on the island, occupying a house owned by Milliken. Hobbs had been to Old Orchard yesterday, returning late in the afternoon, intoxicated. After his return, he took his rifle and accompanied by a man named W. W. Beauregard, aged 24, who lived with her married sister, Mrs. Frank E. Clair, in this city, was found dead in bed at Chandler's hotel yesterday morning. Later in the day Medical Examiner For Latest Local and Vicinity Breck performed an autopsy on the woman, and announced that death was the result of an unsuccessful criminal operation. Shortly after 8 o'clock Monday night Eugene Bernatchez, aged 21 called at Frank E. Clair's tenement and asked for Miss Beauregard. He invited her to take a bicycle ride, and she accepted. About an hour later the couple entered Chandler's hotel and registered as "John M. Smith and wife, Boston. As the night watchman at the hotel was making his rounds shortly before 12 o'clock, he saw the door of room 19 partly open. He knocked several times and getting no response entered, finding Miss Beauregard lying partly disrobed on the bed, dead. All search for Bernatchez has proved fruitless. A bicycle pump was used to perform the operation. There is some doubt in the minds of the police as to whether or not the operation was performed by the young woman herself, or by Bernatchez.

Much Talk Over That Mooring Stone Taken in Night.

A Question of Ownership is Now involved.

Mr. Miller Resents Rumors That He and Others Stole It.

The "stolen" mooring stone is the talk of the day, and there is talk of prosecuting the parties, as they are now known. The stone was taken Saturday night as stated by John G. The first witness called at Monday afternoon's session was Richard Delahney, a stone cutter, but nothing was brought out. Mr. W. I. Beckford, an inspector of furniture, was called. He testified that he had made an inventory of the furniture at the Court house, and his estimate of the value was $46,712, which covered everything, and he called it a nice job. Upon motion of Councilman Lamb the Robert Casson of the firm of Early & order appropriating $25,000 for paving Casson, cabinet makers, was called and he cent streets was taken from the table, and presented a sixteen page report covering in detail all the furniture at the Court house, The order then took its second reading as furnished by Keeler & Co., and his aggregate amount of the value was $42,561. R. P. Wait, the architect, was then called. He said he had gone over the Keeler bills at the request of Mr. Morse, expressing thanks to the Adams Real Esand the movable furniture figured $31,873, the stationary $9,397 making a total of $44,270. Keeler & Co. had been paid $43,-Councilman Anderson offered an order for the Committee on Elections to meet at 702.16. There was $1711.84 deducted for City Hall, Tuesday eveing, June 2, to re- returns, $262.12 for cartage, and $568.12 for credits. Mr. Casson's estimate of $42,ceive returns from the special election in 561, to which is added $568.12 that he knew nothing about, makes $43,129.12, which was a difference of $573.04 from what Keeler & Co. received. The continuous rains are a great drawback to the efforts that are being made to start the street lights. The weather is not only greatly retarding the work, but is a menace to electricians that they dare not tamper with recklessly. Fo this reason, it may be weeks before the city is lighted as heretofore.

The long list of the dead has not reached the foot of its lengthy column Nor is it likely that the end of this week or the next will finish it. The number of seriously injured is many fold large than those who did not live to survive the awful experiences of the storm, and that many of them will succumb to the injuries inflicted is quite certain, for each hour the mortuary clerk is presented with new requests for burial permits. WEATHER AND CROPS.

Vegetation Given New Lease of Life During the Past Week.

Cool Nights and Light Frosts Did No Damage.

All New England Has Been Greatly Benefited by Heavy Rain.

Boston, June 2.-The United States agricultural bureau, New England section, issues the following weather-crop bulletin for the past week:

The weather in New England during the week ending June 1 has been the most favorable for vegetation of any this season. It has been a little too cool, and light frosts were experienced in northern Vermont, but the drought has been thoroughly broken. About threefourths inch of rain came in southeast-€rn Massachusetts, eastern Maine and northwestern Vermont, but over all southwestern and central New England the fall during the week has been from A Full Line of two to nearly three inches. At Middletown, Conn., during the shower on the 28th, three-fourths inch of rain fell in 20 minutes, but generally the fall was moderate and soaked into the ground well.
Grass on old and dry fields had begun to head, but newly seeded fields and pastures are showing a marked improvement from the rain. Planting is well under way, and crops are coming up fairly well. Insect pests are reported unusually numerous in many places. Rain fell to an appreciable amount on four days of the past week in Maine, and crops show a marked improvement, although in the northern section the drought was not so severely felt as in other sections of New England. The rainfall for the week was .72 inch at L. Eastport, and about two inches at Portland. The temperature has been rather lower than the normal, with cool nights. There is some field and some silo corn 137 Water St., - South Quincy. 3 et to be planted, but the greater part of the seed is now in, except on late fields. The seeds have come rather slowly.

Grain is doing fairly well. In Aroostoo county, potatoes are beginning to come up, and look well. Fruit trees are unusually full of blossoms, and it is found that the earlier frosts have not injured the buds to any amount. The nights have been cool in New Hampshire, yet no frosts are reported. The weather has been less favorable for farm work, but the abundant rains have made a wonderful change in all vegetation. Crops are pretty well planted in late farms, tion. Crops are pretty well planted in southern counties, except on late farms, but there is complaint that the seeds are coming unevenly, and that much replanting is necessary. There is considerable planting yet to be done in central and northern districts. Wild strawberries are getting ripe. Blackberry bushes are blossoming very full. Raspberry bushes were badly winter-killed in Cheshire county. Pear sets are reported to be blasted in Hillsboro county. Apple sets are dropping badly in many orchards, yet a good amount of fruit is left on the trees.

Some frost is reported from northern Vermont during the week, and generally the weather has been a little too cool, but the much needed rain has fallen, and crops show a marked improvement. About three-fourths inch of rain fell in northern, and over one inch in southern counties during the week. Pastures are fast losing the brown appearance of a week ago, and grain and meadows have taken a new lease of life. Planting has been pushed along, and on some farms is about completed. Corn is growing fast; one correspondent reports corn standing three inches above ground that was planted on May 21. Wild berries was planted on May 21. Wild berries of all kinds are making a good show. Apples are dropping some in Addision county, but the correspondent reports that some can be spared, as the trees set very full. Caterpillars are reported to be very thick.

The weather has been the most favorable for crops in Massachusetts during the past week than at any time this season, though a little too cool for some plants. Much replanting of seeds has been done in northeastern counties, but other correspondents report that seeds are now coming up that have lain in the ground for weeks, failing to germinate to be very thick. ground for weeks, failing to germinate before. The amount of rainfall in this state has been abundant and well distributed, varying from three-fourths inch in southeastern counties to over two inches in northern and western. Newly seeded and rich fields are showing much better, but pastures are still reported short, and the ganged recont ground for weeks, failing to germinate reported short, and the general report is that the grass on old fields and dry uplands is too nearly matured to be helped much. A correspondent in Middlesex county reports the grass prospect 50 per is being finished, and hoeing has begun Potatoes are looking well, except in parts of Worcester county, where they are coming unevenly. The weather has been favorable for transplanting tobacco, tomatoes and such crops, and much of that work has been done. Cranberries are coming along finely. Cut worms are doing much damage.

The greater part of the planting has been done in southern Rhode Island, but in the northern part there is considerable yet to be done. Nearly two inches able yet to be done. Nearly two inches of rain has fallen during the week, and the ground is well soaked, and all crops are growing well. Nearly good of the property well. are growing well. Newly seeded fields have been especially improved. Old meadows are very light.

From two to nearly three inches of rain has fallen over Connecticut during the week, and although it he been slightly cool, the weather has been very favorable. Pastures and old fields are improving slowly, while grain and newly seeded fields already show marked benefits. The weather has been favorable for tobacco setting. Strawberries are ripening a week or 10 days ahead of the usual time, and except in parts of Tolland county, they are pronounced to be very fine and not much affected by the dry weather. Blackberries have Juderwriters, New England Insurance Exhange.

Wiring and Fitting for Incandescent and Wiring and Fitting for Incandescent and are very thick in New Haven county. Cut worms are doing a great deal of damage in all sections of the state-to gardens in Tolland county; to gardens and onion fields in Fairfield county, making it necessary to resow many onions; to squash, cucumbers and beans in Litchfield county, and to beans, peas, tomatoes, potatoes and carrots in New Haven county. One man reports from the last named section that his carrot seed has been ruined by the cut worms.

Sailors meeting of citizens interested in external improvement will be called. The work may be on a much broader scale than that done by the old Quincy Village Improvement society, as a city is always glad to meet abutters half way in tangible improvement, like side walks or edge stones. Commissioner Knowlton says, "Quincy is not a city," but it is going to be good and try to be one. Arguments Today in the Norfolk Investigation.

The Committee Expected to Report Tomorrow.

Legislature Likely to Take Prompt

The investigation of the Norfolk County Commissioners which has occupied fourteen full days before the special committee of the Legislature, ended today and the committee will probably make the report of its findings to the Legislature

The electrical expert who was to have been present this morning did not appear and the defence offered no further testi-

Mr. Morse then began his argument for the defence by reviewing briefly the hearing, which he said had ended in a reckless charge of fraud against the Commissioners. This charge Mr. Storey derived from the one person who was responsible for this

From the beginning there has been a persecution against the Commissioners. There has been nothing but censure for what they have done. I only ask for a fair and impartial judgment, and if I get this I feel convinced that I can convince the committee that there is nothing against the Commissioners; that there has been no fraud or extravagance; that there was an honest and praisworthy performance of a great public duty by the Commissioners.

Mr. Morse then reviewed the history of the additions to the Dedham court house. The first contract was made in April, 1892, and from that time to June, 1895, the changes were going on. Pawtucket, R. I., June 3.-Ex-Governor D. R. Brown, whose name has been ruentioned in connection with the Republican nomination for the vice presidency, was the principal speaker at the annual celebration of the Republican league of Rhode Island yesterday afternoon. The record-breaking pluralities which Governor Lippitt and the Republican ticket received at the recent elec-tion were the basis upon which the delegates to the annual convention of the tection, and which gave us our carrying league joined in mutual congratulations. I he prospects of Rhode Island contributing a nominee for the vice president's chair were informally discussed by the delegates, but nothing was said, either at the convention, or banquet which followed, concerning a choice for presidential or vice presidential electors.

Henry E. Tiepke called the convention to order. After welcoming the visitors, Vice President Van Horn was called upon to preside. Several informal congratulatory speeches were made, and then the convention got down to business. The election of officers re- he visited Canton and seen the silent their physicians. M. N. Van Horn, Philip Boucher; secretary, Richard W. Jennings; treasurer, C. F. Crawford.

In the evening the delegates sat down to a banquet, and heard addresses by leading party men. Ex-Governor Brown spoke at length, dealing with the principal issues of the day. He said in part: "It is a pleasure to note the true spirit of patriotism, the pride and love of nation and home, so characteristic of the ideal American citizen, prevailing here, and I congratulate the members of this state league, not only upon your record of work well done, but also upon the keen interest that you now evince in state and national affairs as well The topics of the day agitating the pub-He mind the most are those relating to the monetary, tariff and labor questions. In my judgment, a return to our former economical policy, with such modifica-tions as are needed to give protection to every section of the country, and also a return to the scale of the American standard of wages paid in 1892, would speedfly bring to an end the much discussed currency question, which at the present time, by reason of the agitation and the proposition on the part of some for a de-based currency, is so harmful to the welfare of the nation. "And here I want to say that no dollar of less value than the American gold dollar, the existing standard, should be adopted, and I believe in saying this, that I have embodied the sentiments of 9-10ths of our people, despite the fact that several of our western sister states oppose our views.

"The question of equity between capital and labor will in the near future attract very much attention, for there is brother-in-law, and that she has sea spirit of unrest abroad in this bright cured promises from a number of other land of ours. Houghs Neck now feels safe. The cottagers had a practical example this morning of the efficacy of its fire protection, and what promised to be a conflagration was confined to the building in which it started, in fact to the second floor.

The fire originated in the tenement of Harry Sheppard, the builder, who occupies the upper part of Harvey's West Side stable, and about this large building are several cottages some of which are connected therewith, so it was a grand place for a conflagration to start.

Box 14 was pulled at 6.40 and the bell on the hose house alarmed all who had not previously been aroused by William Faxon's stentorian cries of Fire! Fire!!

The electric car had just arrived from Quincy and was at the hose house just in time to hitch on to the carriage and pull it to Bay View avenue, and a line of hose was quickly laid from the hydrant on that 'wheel" are about to organize a bicycle avenue. In four minutes, there was a stream on the building, and two minutes later another from the Sea street hydrant. Flames at this time were bursting through many of the second story windows and the roof was enveloped in smoke, but the The well known jib and mainsail yacht fire was under control some minutes before Privateer has been enrolled in the Quincy the Quincy department arrived, although the steamer was there within twenty minutes. LAW VIOLATED.

By the Norfolk County Commissioners.

Storey's Plea Yesterday at the Investigation.

Chairman Morrell is Severely Crit-

S ate House was closed Wednesday by the arguments. That of Lawyer Morse for the defence appeared in yesterday's LEDGER Lawyer Storey for the committee said in substance: He read the law governing the filing of vouchers, but no contracts were filed even though demanded. Mr. Wilcutt has charged $1200 for something, but he can't tell what, and the County Treasurer has nothing to show how it went. The architect had altered bis vouchers by instructions of Commissioners, but the pretense that Mr. Worthington was interfering was no reason they should be falsified.

Had Chairman Morrell been proud of his work he would not have been absent from the hearings before the committee on county estimates. What Mr. Wiggin there predicted has occurred.

The commissioners failed to comply with the dictates of common honesty. The darkness in the case was their own creation. Every law concerning them has been violated.

Extravagance is apparent. It was a profit to contractors and expense to the Wednesday evening, in South Quincy, at Secretary Carlisle, by name, in their taxpayers. They opened the door of the the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Wil- resolutions, and all of the districts extreasury wide.

Messrs. Morrell and Wait defeated Mr. Wiggin at the polls that no one should only 23 days after he left the board the expensive furniture was ordered.

If a man doesn't keep books it is an indication that he wants to cheat some-If no books are in existence there is very strong evidence that someone has been cheated.

Then there is the fact that on the carpets $400 dropped from the pocket of the county into that of Ridgeway, and Ridgeway keeps no books and Mr. Morrell keeps no books. The next time Mr. Morrell wants to buy carpets he does not take the advice of Mr. Ridgeway and go to Pray, but follows Ridgeway to Cotton, where again Mr. Ridgeway down, and was called out four times. receives a commission. The tracks in this investigation point all one way.

Violation of the law and extravagance is shown. The two combined in such a way any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by and in such curious transactions as furnish the conclusion that the chairman of the County Commissioners certainly has new for the last 15 years, and believe him perprofited by the transaction. Whether he feetly honorable in all business transactions pects to receive it in favor or not I do not know. I am not able to prove it. I should Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Drugnever expect to do it in an investigation of this sort.

I have shown you that he stood ready to give Mr. Bates $6,500. I have shown the animus. I have shown you that the money has left the county. I have shown you that it has been unnecessarily spent. I have traced it to the pockets of the contractor. I have shown that these gentlemen who were bound to defend the county have failed to do it and that is enough. and whatever their relations and friends be, I ask you to do them justice. Here are the evils. They are numerous and serious. The laws which the Legislature has passed have been set absolutely aside, and it is for you, gentlemen, to see if you can find a remedy.

HEAVY BLOW TO SPAIN

Another Big Expedition Successfully Landed on Cuba's Shores

Colonel Portuondo.

May Be the Means of Securing For Cuba Her Long-Sought Freedom.

Washington, June 4.-Gonzalo de Quesado, charge d'affaires of the Cuban republic, received telegraphic advices yesterday afternoon of the safe landing of the expedition sent out under Colonel Raffael Portuondo, with a large cargo of arms and ammunition.

This news, the friends of Cuba say, is of vast importance to the Cuban cause It means, they assert, the prolongation of the war for a year, at least. To Spain it is a heavy blow.

The cargo alluded to contained 12pounders, with a large supply of ammunition, and over 1,000,000 cartridges. Be sides these munitions, there was a large supply of dynamite. Fully 100 men were in the party, and are now safe in the camp of the Cuban army. Colonel Portuondo is well known in Washingon. He is the Cuban secretary of for eign relations, and a man of splendid country was completely conditionable the artillery, cartridges and dynamite, the expedition carried a large quantity of medicine and hospital stores, and thousands of rifles. The expedition is before last Monday.

Colonel Portuondo came to this coun try some months ago, specially to procure the material that was most needed in the field by the Cuban generals. The Cubans are now prepared to lay their own telegraph lines over the territory they control, and they have sent down instruments with which they can tap the banish wires.

The official list of the carge of the Three Friends shows that the steamer carried 800 Remington rifles, 43 caliber; 125 repeating Lee carbines, 43 caliber, 50 Mauser rifles, such as are used by the Spaniards; 31 revolvers, 44 caliber; one 2-pounder Hotchkiss gun and one 12pounder Hotchkiss gun. Both of these were mounted on board the Three what we eat. Men have lived 40 days Friends, and one was used against the out food but no man ever yet lived with- Spanish cruiser, which gave chase to

> There were also on board 500 ball shells and 500 explosive shells; 400,000 43-caliber cartridges, to fit the Mausers captured from the Spanish troops; 100,000 cartridges, 44-caliber; 25,000 Remington cartridges, 4000 pounds of dynamite, 3000 feet of fuse, 1000 fulminates for explosives two electrical machines to fire mine and torpedoes, 8000 yards of wire for field telegraph lines, 500 feet rubber tape, for telegraph wire shears; 800,000 steel rifle shells of 43-caliber, and 200,000 shells of 44-caliber, 1000 caps for electric shells wire and batteries and all appurtenance for field work: 5000 rubber coats, 500 com plete mounts for cavalry, 200 shovels naphtha launch.

Expects Thieves to Confess.

New York, June 4.-Assistant District Attorney Lindsay returned from Europe yesterday. He went to London as the representative of the district attorney's office, to look after the extradition of Dunlop and Turner, the Burden diamond robbers. "There will not be any trouble in my opinion," he said, "in securing the lop is greatly broken up, and I would be surprised if he did not turn state's evidence. I think Turner would be willing to do the same."

Watching Our Navy.

Halifax, June 4.-A new warship has just been launched in Great Britain, and will be ordered to Halifax to join the North American squadron. The intention of the admiralty seems to be to replace all the old ships on this station with new cruisers. The fleet will be strengthened in guns, and probably in number of ships. The North Atlantic squadron of British ships will be strengthened in these waters proportionately with Uncle Sam's.

Prince of Wales' Persimmon Won the Berby In Fast Time.

Epsom Downs, Eng., June 4.- Persimmon, the Prince of Wales' colt, at 5 to 1 against, won the Derby yesterday. Leopold DeRothschild's St. Frusquin The horses were sent away at 3:23

p. m., Bay Ronald taking the lead for the first 200 yards, with Teufel second and Earwig third, St. Frusquin and Persimmon last. After the quarter-mile post had been passed, Gulistan went to the front, and St. Frusquin and Persimmon crept up at the top of the hill. At the halfway mark, Bradwardine was first, Teufel and Persimmon following. A quarter of a mile away from home, St. Frusquin was first, closely followed by Persimmon, and then took place one of the most magnificent finishes of modern times. It was nip and tuck, nose and nose, most to the finish line; in fact, the finish was so close as to cause some comment, only thejudges being in a position to tell accurately which horse was the winner, and many persons thought St. Frusquin had crossed the line ahead. Persimmon, however, won by about a neck, two lengths separating St. Frus-quin from Earwig, and Teufel was

When it was seen that Persimmon had won, nearly every silk hat in the Jockey club enclosure was sent flying up in the air, about 50,-000 other hats in every part of the course followed suit, and there was a perfect roar of cheering.

Then in an instant, the whole course, from Tattenham corner to the paddock, was a mass of wildly surzing, human off their legs, and nearly all present seemed crazed with excitement. When the prince appeared on the steps, minus his hat, there was a thunder of applause, which seemed to shake the buildings, and cause the ground to tremble with the intensity of the force of popular enthusiasm, worked up to an unprec- Underwriters, New England Insurance Fxedented pitch.

Fraud Exposed.

Boston, June 5.-The joint special legislative committee to investigate the to the legislature last night. It sets forth that the commissioners actually spent $400,000 on the Dedham court house, of which all over $281,000 was it legal and unauthorized; that the law requiring contracts of over $300 to be advertised was repeatedly violated; large contracts were made without writings. and the rights of the public were violated. The law to regulate the procedure of the commissioners was violated repeatedly for the sake of concealing the amount of expenditure. Transfers to the amount of $24,000 were made, and were clearly illegal and improper. The rogress of the investigation developed the part of many persons who had dwelt with the commissioners every ordinary indication of fraud. It is evident that certain expenditures on the courthouse were not merely extrava-gant, but dishonest. Chairman Morrill is held responsible, and his associate, Bowker, must share responsibility. Work of the Fire Department the Talk of the Hour.

The Quincy Yacht club opened its season Thursday with a club race off the club house. There were but few boats out, although a better day as far as the elements were concerned would have been hard to find. The wind was nearly due south, and there was plenty of it, and the several yachts went under full sail, the wind holding good until the finish.

The first gun was fired at 3,30 and John Cavanagh's prize winner the Beatrice, and the Privateer, Capt. Schaaf, were soon manœuvering for positions. The Beatrice succeeded in crossing first and led the way on the first leg of the race, but on the beat to Jackknife Ledge bouy the Privateer gained the lead and apparently was an easy winner, for although she cracked her masthead and her spreaders did not hold, she finished with a lead of over seven min-

The second class got away at 3.40 and the race in this class was between the Swirl, Opechee and Kayoshk. Henry came up smiling as usual and got the position, at the gun crossing a few seconds ahead of the Kayoshk, while the Opechee brought up in the rear. On the first round the Swirl increased her lead and the Kayoshk and Opechee exchanged places. In crossing the line the first time around the Swirl had a lead of nearly three minutes over the Opechee and nearly four over the Kayoshk. On the last leg the Swirl increased her lead another minute, beating the Opechee by over four minutes, and the Kayoshk nearly five and one half minutes.

In the third class the contestants were the Sphinx and George Maybury's new boat, the Enigma. The Sphinx was the first to cross the line at the start and upon crossing the first time around had a lead of Sect. 8 provides: "No payment shall be | 29 seconds. During the second leg the

By Public Statutes, chap. 23, sect. 22, the ounty commissioners are required to present their estimates for the annual expenses of examine their books. the county to the secretary of the commonwealth, to be laid before the General Court made in detail, the various heads of expenfor each being given. The figures before January, 1895, at a time when the commismade contracts which called for an expenditure of not less than $100,000, since the amount which they actually expended during the year 1895 exceeded that sum, their estimate to the Legislature asked only $10,-000 for the additions to the court house and $20,000 for the repairs and furnishings of all county building.

These estimates were attacked before the ommittee on county estimates, and the charge was made that the commissioners were concealing the real state of affairs and were expecting to make a much larger expenditure upon the court house and its fur niture than their estimate called for, intending to take the money from sums appropriated for other purposes. The commissioners denied any such intention, and insisted to the committee that $30,000 would cover all that they proposed to spend upon the court house or its furnishing. In the private session at Dedham Mr. Morrell subsequently stated to Senator Dallinger, th n chairman of the House committee, that $40,500 would be needed, and gave him the items, stating that this was all that would be required t complete and furnish the court house.

During the years of 1895 and 1896 they spent upwards of $117,000, and the committee are of the opinion that the representations made by the commissioners to the committee on county estimates were intended to deceive, and, in pursuance of that purpose to conceal from the taxpayers of Norfolk county the true state of their accounts. The conclusion of the committee on this point is confirmed by the fact that in the annual statements of expenditures which the commissioners are required to make by Public Statutes, chapter 23, sections 27 and 28, as amended by chapter 380 of the Acts of 1890 and chapter 141 of the Acts of the same year, the expenditures on the court house were distributed under various heads which are clearly inappropriate.

Thus, under the head of "Additions to the court house" in the various reports for the years from 1892 to 1895, inclusive, we find charged $203,417.09; under the head of "Farnishing and Repairs" $173,959.99 under the head of "Miscellaneous" some thing like $8,575. Under the distinct heads of "Fuel, Light and Water," and "Fuel Electric Light Wiring and Fitting. GEO. H. FIELD, Agent. and Repairs," various other sums are put, it being, in the judgment of your committee, clear that there was no distinction between I wish to insure your lives for a term of the expenditures placed on these different heads which warranted such a distribution, and that it was undoubtedly done in order to make it appear that in building the court house the authority given by the Legislature had not been exceeded.

The statute provides that "Whenever in the judgment of the county commissioners of any county, the interests of the county demand an expenditure in excess of the amount authorized by law therefor, the commissioners may transfer from any appropriation such sums as they shall consider expedient. In all such cases however, the county commissioners shall cause the reasons QUINCY, - MASS., for such transfer or expenditure to be placed upon their records." Brief Sketch of the Career of the Famous "King of Long Island."

Dr. Paul Kunger and Coachman John longer. Stokes, started on a fishing trip about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. On going from the yard of the farmhouse the horses shied, tipping over the open carriage, throwing the occupants down an embankment about eight feet, against a stone wall.

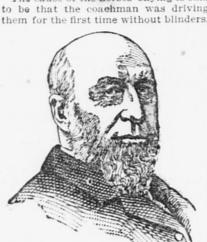

Mr. Corbin's injuries were very serious -a compound fracture of the right leg above and below the knee, a fearful scalp wound over four inches long on the forehead, cut through to the skull, one on the right side of the head three inches long and the lip and chin badly

Dr. Kunger was thrown over the wall and sustained a broken arm and a sprained ankle. Corbin Edgell had his eg broken twice between the knee and ankle, and sustained a fractured skull. Stokes died from his injuries about 6 o'clock, without regaining conscious-

Austin Corbin, who recently attained an ambition which he had cherished for 30 years in obtaining complete control of the entire railroad system on Long Island, was a star of the first magnitude in the financial firmament. He was 11. His shrewd business instinct told him that the island, with its many natural advantages, was bound to become a summer, outing place for a great majority of the teeming millions of the big cities at whose very doors it lay. The Long Island railroads at that time consisted of a few scattered lines, badly managed and being run at a loss by their owners. Mr. Corbin began by securing the control of the principal line. With that as best known and most highly respected a foundation he gradually built up the great system which now spans the island in all directions, absorbing one after the other of the lines as opportunity offered and combining them into one harmonious whole. To Mr. Corbin's foresight New York ers owe the development of their far famed Coney Island. Many of the other beautiful seaside resorts on the island which are now so popular were brought to notice by Mr. Corbin. Since he gained absolute control of all the railways on the island his much talked of project of establishing a line of ocean steamers, with the American port located at Montauk Point, had been rvived.

I was attended by the most eminent physician in the land. I visited the great Saratoga Springs, N. Y., the noted Hot Springs of Arkansas, and many other watering places, always consulting with the local physicians for directions, and finally came to Florida, ten years ago. About two years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, was confined to my room for twelve weeks, and during that time was induced to try P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, knowing that each ingredient was good for impurities of the blood. After useing two small bottles I was relieved. At four different times since I have had slight attacks and each time I have taken two small bottles of P. P., and have been relieved, and I consider P. P., the best medicine of its kind.

Respectfully, J. F. GREER.

James M. Newton, of Aberdeen, Ohio It is difficult to estimate Mr. Corbin's wealth. At Newport, there is a villa, set in the center of an estate 1400 acres in extent. Beyond this there is a game preserve, which takes in many former mountain farms in Newport township, extending over 10,000 acres. About this last there is a high, strong fence, and within the barrier elk, moose and deer roam at will. There is also a herd of buffalo and some fine specimens of the Sun rises-4;08; sets, 7:18.

LOVE IS EVER YOUNG.

She had not the least shame about telling her age. On the contrary, she 64, but that at 64 she looked not a day over 48, and a blooming 48 at that.

True, her hair was silver, but what a waving wealth of silver! And it was not sent to soften wrinkles either. She wore as many of these ornaments as it is legitimate to wear at 48, and no more. Oh, she was certainly a wonderful woman for her age, was Mrs. Joseph

It did not detract from the comparatively youthful appearance of Mrs. Allestree that her costumes always represented the height of the fashion.

Quaint, indeed, she appeared, particularly on a certain evening, standing in the old square portico, with the sun shining straight under the trees into

The house at her back was low and long. It stood endwise to the lazy little river that flowed at the foot of the abruptly sloping lawn. On the other side, at the end of a long, shady avenue, was a gate with an old fashioned wooden arch over it, concealed by vines.

It was toward this gate that Mrs. Al lestree looked, leaning forward eagerly, like a girl, one hand shielding her eyes from the level sunbeams. She were white-think of her daring to wear white! She was watching for Joseph. He had gone down to Stoneton-only a mile distant-for the post at 5 o'clock. That was two hours ago. Joseph did love dearly to gossip with the old farmers and shopkeepers, but he really ought to remember dinner time.

But Joseph had not forgotten his dinner. At this very minute the gate opened and his little gig rolled in, followed by three enthusiastic dogs-a St. Bernard and two red setters.

Mr. Allestree, after embracing his wife, as if he had just returned from a year's journey, went in with her to dinner, and Mr. Allestree was-but I will not describe him; simply he was everything that the husband of Mrs. Allestree should have been. Forty-two years had gone by since their marriage, and in all that time they had never been separated a single day.

"Dearest," said Mr. Allestree as they sat down, "I owe you an apology for my tardiness, but it couldn't be helped. I got a letter calling me away on an immust go immediately-tomorrow.'

"Oh, that Perley affair," she said, Kennedys are coming in the morning to stay over Sunday."

"I cannot, Henrietta. It's got to be attended to at once.'

"But, Joseph, you can't go without me. You know you never did such a thing. "I am afraid I must do it this time."

he replied mournfully. They sat in silence for some minutes. Twice Mrs. Allestree wiped away a sly tear with her napkin. At length, bravely assuming a cheerful aspect, she ask ed, "How long will you be gone?"

"I can't possibly reach London, accomplish all I want to and get home again in less than ten days." "Joseph, it will kill us both."

"Ah, no, my dear," he laughed; "it won't quite do that-at least I hope not. It will be hard, very hard. But think, my love, we were apart for five long years once on a time.

"Ah, Joseph," with a sob in her voice, 'that was before we had ever lived together. We only knew each other by letter. you know. "And a mighty comfort did we take out of those same letters. Isn't it strange that in two and forty years we should never have had occasion to write to one another? Not since you were Henrietta Shower.' "It is a singular circumstance," she replied. "Yes, we can write. Do y u know, Joseph, the thought of it already consoles me a little. It will be such a delightful novelty. It was a good thing for Mrs. Allestree that she expected visitors. B t after the guests had departed her con tion was pitiable. Especially as no le ter had come.

Mr. Allestree had gone away early on Saturday. Now it was Tuesday. had managed to be patient over to e Sabbath, but on Monday morning, when handed, she had refused to believe that he had not dropped the letter or that the postmaster had not overlooked it.

There were only two deliveries in the 24 hours, and at evening the same performance was repeated.

On Tuesday Mrs. Allestree went herself to Stoneton and delivered a severe lecture to the postmaster upon the general indifference of government officials, thereby greatly annoying the poor man. Mr. Framwell began to dread the hours of delivery. Twice a day, whatever the weather, Mrs. Allestree presented her handsome, anxious face at the window. When he handed out the post to her, and she found not the letter she longed | tiful the flowers are!" voice that demanded of them to hunt through every box, lest perchance he had made some error in distributing.

all the leading peace and arbitration societies in the kingdom, and a number of prominent personages, assembled yesterday, on the occasion of the presentation of an address of thanks to Joseph Pulitzer, proprietor of the New York World, for his efforts in behalf of good feeling between the United States and Great Britain. A vellum engrossed address, which was presented to Mr. Pulitzer, and which was read, says:

We desire, on behalf of all who wish We desire, on behalf of all who wish to see knit more firmly the ties of history and kinship between two great branches of the English-speaking race, to profier you hearty thouse for the prompt efforts made by you and the thorough, great journal you direct toward that noble object, and to congratulate you on the immense and gratifying success resulting from that ratifying success resulting from that eneficent exemplification of the marvellous facilities of modern journalism in the dark days of last December. Your prompt intervention evoked from the best, wisest and most influential persons of the day so united and emphatic a protest, that the counsels of moderation and sanity were enabled to exert their rightful sway over true, public their rightful sway over true public

I am deeply sensible of the great compliment of your presence. Yet I feel you come to do honor to principle, and not to a person. It is a natural desire with men of earnest conviction to find expression for that conviction. I know of no purely moral sentiment that has been advanced in England since the abolition of slavery that appeals so strongly to the mind and heart as this idea of substituting civilized methods of peace and reason for barbar ism and needless war. It is encouraging to feel that there are men in the world like those constituting your vari-ous peace and arbitration organizations; who labor for the public good and a high ideal. We beyond the Atlantic have watched, with admiration, your devoted enthusiasm, often under dis-couragement, and not seldom in the face of misapprehension. I congratulate you upon the fruit of your labors in the progress of this sentiment. In America there is not, or at least recently there s not, a single organized society such yours. But this is not because the American people are opposed to the principle you represented. Just the reverse. It is because all of the people in the United States, regardless of parties and sections, are in favor of arbitration, tration society, which has grown from a determination to protect American ideas against foreign intrusion even outside our boundary line.

Feeling that if the New York World has been to any degree helpful in this Venezuelan affair, your warm words of appreciation are an encouragement to all members of my profession both sides of the Atlantic, who have fearlessly dis-charged their duty under great diffi-culties. For it is not pleasant to both criticize the government and offend the people in free countries, where popular opinion is always the force behind the ct to impulses, often from an excessive ject to impulses, often from an excessive enthusiasm, the responsibility of the press becomes most grave. It is its duty to interpret the right, to expose the wrong, to teach the moral, to advocate the true and to oppose the false, constantly and conscientiously, judicially and fearlessly. Without sacrificing conscience to the natural desire of plaudits and popularity, it must attack error, whether emanating from the cabinet or from the people themselves. It perverted patriotism called fingoism.
True patriotism, true Americanism. means love of and pride in country. But we love our great republic, not because it has 70,000,000 of people, not because of morality, national honor, tolerance, and, above all, justice. Jingoism is not confined to any one country, but it is found in England as well as in America; in Germany as well as in France; in Russia as well as in Japan. Jingoism is an appeal to national vanity, national prejudices or national animosities. Every day there rests upon the conscientious press the responsibility of combatting these prejudices and of teaching lessons of enlightment.

THE WEEK PAST.

After all the work on the Norfolk investigation, and the conclusions reached, the matter should not be allowed to slumber until the next General Court. The taxpayers of Norfolk county can have no respect for the present board of County Commissioners, and if they do not resign, the sooner they are removed from office the better. That such a state of affairs should have existed in our county has startled our people, and they will work for as speedy a change in officials as possible, and will be more interested in the future it," he exclaimed. "Any one who reads in the county conventions.

A contemporary attempted to ridicule the LEDGER for its stand, but in view of the fact that Representative Thompson and his committee bounced South Boston out of the Tenth district it makes nuusually interesting reading:

"Again we are pained to correct a wrong impression created among a few of our citizens who read the 'serious comic daily' of Norfolk County. In its issue of Wednesday the information appeared that Representatives Thompson was appointed on the committee of the House to change the boundary lines of the several Congressional districts around Boston and that he would probably be able to get Quincy out of the present district. That our many readers and voters and friends of Mr. Thompson may not expect too much of him, or class him as being without influence from his failure to do this, we would state that owing to a change in the ward lines of the city of Boston, a change on the four Congressional districts has been made necessary. The Legislature has passed a bill that these four districts shall be changed within the limits of the city of Boston, so that they will conform researches have been of estimable value.

Triangle Wheelmen.

It was found necessary to postpone the run to Rockland Thursday evening, out the club went to Hyde Park instead. Next Thursday will be the date for the regular business meeting, when a number of new members will be elected.

It is probable that a reception to local and out-of-town cyclists will be given during the latter part of June.

The club will have no less than six representatives at the State contest at Lowell, June 20th. There will be a tenmile road test for a team of not over three, a half mile, two miles, and five-mile race. Sanction for these races has been received from the L. A. W. The winning team will receive a shield, which they can hold for one year, and each individual rider covering the distance in less than three minutes to the mile will be given a silver medal. In the shorter races first and second medals will be given.

The club has just issued neat cards giving twelve reasons why wheelmen should join the club.

Boston Woman Murderously Assaluted by an Unknown Negro.

Robbery Thought to Have Been the Motive.

Assailant Had Previously Visited Many Other Houses In the Neighborhood.

Boston, June 6.-Mrs. Mary Martin was brutally assaulted in her home, 11 Middle street, South Boston, about 5 o'clock last evening, by an unknown colored man, about 35 years of age, whose whereabouts the police have been unable to ascertain. The victim is confined to her bed, suffering from concussion of the brain and several scalp

The particulars of the affair, as far as can be learned, are as follows: Yesterday morning a colored man called at several houses on Middle street, ostensibly in search of employment, and at about 10:30 o'clock he entered Mrs. Martin's yard and asked her to give him a drink of water. She accommodated him, and as he turned to leave the yard he asked her if any of the men folks were about, and what time they would be at home. She informed him that there were no men folks at home. After the man left, Mrs. Martin thought nothing more about her caller. Soon after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Martin was called to her front door by a ring of the bell, and as she answered the summons, she was surprised to find that her caller was the same man who had visited her in the morning.

Before she was hardly aware of what he was doing, the man crowded her into the hallway, and, grabbing her about the throat with his left hand, struck her several blows on the head and face with a large brick, which he carried in his right hand. Mrs. Martin made several outcries, and the man ran out of the house and down Middle street, in the direction of Dorchester avenue, and made his es-

Mrs. Martin's cries brought several of her neighbors to her aid, and they found her in the hallway bleeding from the wounds on her head and face. She was removed to her room, and Dr. Watts was called and found that her wounds were of a serious nature.

The affair was reported to the police of division 6, and an officer was sent to investigate. He learned, in addition to the facts given above, that the same colored man visited several other houses in Washington village yesterday afternoon. The police believe that it was his intention, after having committed the assault, to rob the house

A Royal Send-Off

New Haven, June 6.-A remarkable demonstration marked the departure of the Yale 'varsity crew last night on its way to Henley, Eng. At 6:30 the procession started from Osborn hall for the station. The Second regiment band led the procession. There were fully 2500 students in line, and many more friends of the students bringing up the rear, all marching locked arms, 15 or 20 abreast. The moment the band struck up popular Yale airs, pandemonium reigned. Cheering, singing and the familiar Yale cheers were continuous from start to finish. and the crowds that thronged the streets with horns and other racket-making in-struments added to the din. The line of march was made brilliant by red fire over the entire route. At the station the crush was terrific. The crew, after getting aboard the train, came out to the rear platform and, amid deafening cheers, and "Auld Lang Syne," by the band, the train pulled out of the station.

Boston, June 6.-The McTammany ballot-box bill was signed by the gov-ernor, and the pen with which it was signed goes to the inventor. In the senate, the Boston aldermanic bill was or-dered to a third reading. The house order for prorogation was laid on the table. The bill conferring upon voters in cities the power of legislating by direct vote was referred to the next general court. The bill to increase the number of associate justices of the superior court was passed to be engrossed. There was a ATLANTIC, - - MASS, hot debate in the house over the new pipe line bill, which was finally passed. The senate, in the meantime, had adjourned until Monday, much to the disgust of those who favored the prorogation order posted Thursday. The house, to show its independence, adjourned until Tuesday, when the last acts of the present legislature will be performed, and the session closed by the governor.

Just How He Proposes to Play It Is Not Definitely Known at Present.

St. Louis, June 6.—The Republic this morning prints a lengthy interview with Perry S. Heath, former editor of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, in which he gives what purports to be McKinley' position on the financial question. I reads as follows: Mr. Heath did not at tempt to deny that the McKinley program was to force the tariff issue to the front in 1896. "Wall street," said Mr. Heath, "has attempted to run every na tional convention held since I have known anything about national conven tions. It will try to run the Republican convention this year, and it will, as usual, fail. Major McKinley is one of those men who does not believe his judgment should be taken against the combined wisdom of his party. Nobody has spoken for him authoritatively of the currency plank, and nobody will b able to do so, because he is willing t trust the convention, and stand by its decision. A Manchester Man Gets Rid of an Old Time Enemy.

He Fought It For Ten Long Years In Vain.

Ex-Rep. John Eaton Gives the Facts In the Case.

John Eaton, whose store is at 1069 Elm street, has been in the cigar business in Manchester for over eight years, During the war he served in the Second New Fourth Regiment. A few years ago his fellow-citizens showed their respect for him by sending him as representative to the State Legislature. Not only the personal friends of Mr. Eaton, but many of his business neighbors, know what a sufferer he has been for many years past and by what an effort he remained in active life. A few months ago his condition was so serious that it was even thought that he was going to die. His face showed the signs of the digestive trouble which seemed to be beyond the reach of human aid.

Today he not only looks, but is a healthy, robust man, and he does not hesitate to explain how so great a change was brought about. Here is his state-

"For 10 years I suffered as much as anyone can suffer and still be on his feet. The trouble was that gas formed in my stomach, and nothing I could do would relieve it. There were many kinds of food I could not eat at all, and even with a careful diet I could not escape pain. Sometimes a glass of water would be more than I could bear. The stomach trouble caused nervousness and such distress at night that sometimes I would walk the floor for hours before I could go to sleep.

"I went to some of the best doctors in Manchester, but they could not help my stomach. I tried taking bismuth after my meals, but even that did no good. Then I tried a great many other things. but they all failed. Hardly a week passed that I was not driven to make some new experiment, although it seemed a hopeless case.

"One day, some weeks ago, when I was feeling especially miserable, a friend suggested that I try Puritana, and he at once went out and got me a bottle. As soon as I took the first dose I felt that it was doing me good. And it

"It removed the stomach trouble completely. I am no longer troubled with the gas, and can eat and sleep as well as any man. For years I could not eat baked beans, although I am very fond of them. Since taking Puritana I can eat beans or any other food that I want.

"Last summer I only weighed 121 pounds. Now I weigh over 170, and am still gaining at the rate of a pound a week. I am heavier today than I ever have told a number of people what Puritana has done for me, and I find that it is helping them in the same way. These are the facts in my case in a nutshell. "JOHN EATON.

Mr. Eaton referred to Mr. John Hall, the druggist, who said that the facts were too well known to need corroboration. Such cases are being reported. constantly, and they prove the claims that are made for Puritana. This medi-In curing indigestion and liver troubles, But in building up strength and health through the stomach, which is the power producer of the system.

How McKinley Would Dispose of Contesting Delegates at St. Louis.

Republicans' Financial Plank Is In Danger.

Timid Ones Alarmed at the Tide Sweeping Toward Free Silver.

Washington, June 5.-A McKinley Republican from Canton has brought the following story, saying that he had been empowered to tell of Major Mc-Kinley's program regarding the 158 contesting delegates to the St. Louis con-

"There should be every effort made to leave as little soreness as possible after the St. Louis convention. This is Mr. McKinley's idea alone, and his managers have acceded

"Senator Quay, on his visit to McKinlev, asked McKinley if he (provided he is nominated and elected), would recognize the Chris Magee Republicans in Pennsylvania. McKinley replied that he would recognize the regular organization, and this organization is dominated by Quay. McKinley said that he had no idea, if nominated and elected, of opposing the regular organization of the state of New York, either. McKinley said that Platt had said some things which had hurt his feelings, but, nevertheless, McKinley did not propose to start any fight in New York state. The facts about these matters are as I give them to you, and no one who is fully acquainted with the subjects that I have en talking about will gainsay them.

The financial plank at St. Louis is considered by many to be in danger. So many states in Republican convention, notably New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, etc., had come out squarely for the single gold standard that for weeks the sound money people have been expecting to have their own way at St. Louis, and to override the Ohio straddle and every attempt to commit the party to an evasive

Free silver men are boldly claiming that the Oregon result insures the support of the entire | Florida Times-Union. west for the cheap dollar. In this situation McKinley's failure to revise his record in the direction of sound money is now being commended as having been good politics, and the advocates of an equivocal platform are growing in numbers and strength. Republican leaders are sufficiently alarmed over the prospect of a successful Democratic combination of west and south in the electoral college, so that some of their number are ready to concede a good deal to save the silver Republican states. The gold standard east, they believe, will have to support the Republican ticket, however unsatisfactory it might be, as against a free silver Democracy, and hence the only votes to be won are along the border. The strongest sound money men have practically abandoned all hope that the St. Louis platform will declare explicitly for the gold standard, and now intend to make the fight on an attempt talked of "this too, too solid flesh" if he to secure a declaration against further purchases of silver on government account, as well as straight-out free silver. RUSSELL WON'T RUN.

Poor Health and Gains of Silver Men Too Much For Him.

Hanna Talks of McKinley's Financial Views.

Hats in all grades, and ready Says Ohio Man Is For a Dollar That is Worth a Hundred Cents.

Boston, June 8.-The Post says that ex-Governor Russell's name will not be presented for the presidency at the Chiing for restoration of his impaired health. It is not generally known that the favorite son of Massachusetts has been in bad For all, in bright colors for shape physically for some time, but it is true, nevertheless, that he is not a well man and while some of his party associates have been inclined to charge him with being selfish for not taking a more active part in the campaigns of the last two years, the fact is, he has been acting pon the advice of his physicians. This one reason that will make him silent so far as seeking a nomination for the residency is concerned. Another is that he silverites have become so strong that t would be next to useless to have his riends urge his nomination when it is known how staunch a gold man he is. The south and west will undoubtedly ontrol the convention, so the nomination of the brilliant ex-governor upon a gold plank seems hopeless. While ex-Gov ernor Russell has not made public an ouncement of his real position, his riends know that he will not permit the rom Maine a statement defining his rea position and instructing the Massachu etts delegates not to present his name will undoubtedly be made by him.

Hanna Breaks Silence.

Cleveland, June 8.-Mark Hanna McKinley's campaign manager, made Saturday night the first statement conerning the Ohio candidate's financia ews. It was based on the McKinle silver letter to the Stark County Farm ers' Alliance in 1890. Hanna's statement says that McKinley now holds the same views as to the use of silver. Here s his statement:

"It takes an elastic imagination to contrue Major McKinley's hurried scrawl to 'Farmer' Bryan, secretary of the Stark County Farmers' Alliance, in 1890, uring the heat of the warmest consional campaign ever held in Ohio, nto a declaration for free coinage of silver. Naturally, this letter is made the most of by Major McKinley's enemies. I am not surprised at that. I say emcommitted himself to the free and un

imited coinage of silver. ver product of the United States for money as a circulating medium, and | Brockton having gold and silver alike, mean free

"This statement is only another exression of McKinley's well-known attitude on the money question, in which ne declares for gold, silver or paper oney, good the world over. People seem o forget that McKinley supported the Sherman purchasing clause regulating the coinage of silver in direct opposition o the Democratic attempt in 1888 to foist free coinage upon the country. McKin-ley favors 'honest money'-that is, a dollar worth 100 cents. That is what he meant when he said that he favored the use of the silver product of the country for money as a circulating medium. Hanna spent Sunday with McKinley. This will be his last conference with the candidate before the convention, as he leaves for St. Louis tomorrow.

For Free Silver Coinage. Salt Lake City, June 8 .- The Dem cratic state convention adopted a brief platform, the money plank of which is as follows: "The Democratic party of Utah, believing that the restoration of the money of the constitution is of paramount importance, declares in favor of the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, as such coinage existed prior to 1873, regardless of the action or policy of other nations; gold and silver coin to be a full legal tender for all debts, both public to attend the national convention are instructed as a unit to vote in favor of the adoption of the foregoing principle by that convention, and for the nomination of candidates for president and vice president known to be sincerely and steadfastly in favor of carrying the principle into operation."

Allison Posters Are Out.

St. Louis, June 8 .- Up to date there are fully five times as many out-of-town newspaper correspondents in this city who have come to the national convention, than politicians. Less than half a dozen politicians of national repute have put in an appearance. It is not expected here will be much real activity in a politcal way until the arrival of M. A. Hanna, Thomas C. Platt and ex-Governor Gear of Iowa. The bill posting brigade of the Hawkeye state candidate were here yesterday, and as a result lithograph portraits of Senator Allison have been hung in shop windows and posted upon the walls of the town.

Under Silver's Banner.

Cincinnati, June 8. - The Enquirer's tabulation of delegates to the Onio Democratic state convention on June 23, shows that up to date 30 of the 88 counties have selected delegates, with the following results: 211 instructed for free silver, 11 for gold, and 23 unin-

Bandits In Chicago. Chicago, June 8 .- The gang of desperadoes, which has been the terror of the west side for the last two months, committed another bold robbery Saturday night, holding up a store full of peo ple at 9 o clock, and escaping with $500. The store was Klein's, general mer chandise. It was crowded, and as three young men entered the place about 9 o'clock, no particular attention was paid to them. Two of them made their way to the desk of the cashier, and while one threatened to kill her if she screamed, and kept two revolvers leveled at the girl's head, the other ran behind the desk, grabbed all the money he could lay his hand on, and then started toward the door. Many people made a motio as though to stop them, but they kept the crowd back by threatening them with revolvers, and, as they neared the door, the third man turned in an alarm of fire, and in the confusion all the men escaped. The robbery was committed in the presence of 200 people, and on a crowded and brilliantly lighted street.

Quickly Repaired.

A serious break occurred in the water main about 8 o'clock Saturday night, and morning the city was practically without an adequate supply of water, as the stand pipe was shut off and the only supply the ity had was through a small main on

The break if such it can be called, was in the twenty inch main that runs from the stand pipe and was near the corner of Water and Franklin streets, and was caused by the pipe pulling apart at the joint, the pressure having forced the babit metal from the joint, a process which has probably been going on for some time. The police discovered the break and

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, Saves a Man From Becoming a Cripple.

Mr. Asa Ammons, a well-known citizen of Jacksonville, Florida, was afflicted by a terrible ulcer. Medical skill seemed unavailing in stopping the ravages of the terrible disease. The leg was swollen and intensely painful, as the ulcer had eaten its way down to the very bone. All medicines and treatments having failed to effect a cure, the doctors said the leg must come off. Just when it seemed that Mr. Ammons would become a disabled and a crippled man, he tried P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and the result was wonderful.

P. P. P. SAVES HIS LEG.

"Jacksonville, Fla., July 1, 1895.— Two years ago I had the worst ulcer on my leg I ever saw. It had eaten down to the bone, and my whole leg below my knee, and my foot was swollen and inflamed. The bone was swollen and painful, and discharged a most offensive matter. My physicians said I had necrosis of the bone, and my leg would have to come off. At this stage I commenced to take P. P. P. and to bathe my leg with hot castile soap suds. It began to improve at once and healed rapidly, and is to-day a sound and useful leg.

"I think P. P. P., Lippman's Great

Remedy, is all a man could ask for as a blood purifier, as I have known it to cure so meterrible cases of blood poisoning in a remarkably short time "ASA AMMONS." TERRIBLE BLOOD POISON. The body covered with sores—two bottles of P. P. P. made a positive and permanent cure. This is only one of many thousand similar cases. Catarrh yields at once to P. P. P. That smothered feeling at night, that heavy feeling in the day—can and should be removed; P. P. P. will do it if you only give it a chance.

DO-NOTHING CONGRESS

Session About to Adjourn Is Entitled to That Appellation.

Tariff and Financial Legislation Shut Out.

Review of What Has Been Accomplished by Nation's Lawmakers.

Washington, June 8 .- There were no conferences held yesterday on the different appropriation bills in disagree ment between the two houses. The points at issue between the houses are thoroughly understood by the conferrees, and it appears to be only a question of which house will recede from the position it has taken.

If, as now seems probable, the first session of the Fifty-fourth congress adjourns before this week is ended it will be the shortest so-called long session since that of the Thirty-fifth congress, and one of the shortest in the history of the government. This record is probably partly due to the political difference be-tween the senate, house and president, which have forestalled agreements on many lines of legislation, and partly to the determination with which the Republican leaders in the house have carried into effect Speaker Reed's caucus prediction, that the congress would be a do-nothing assemblage. Legislation means appropriations, the house leaders have said, and as their opinion was that the treasury's condition warranted no appropriation, except the most impera tively necessary, they have held the doors tightly shut against all classes of bills which usually receive hearings. Foremost among the inevitable regular acts of the congress are the annual appropriation bills for the support of the government. Their preparation has constituted a large part of the work of the session, and five of them are yet hanging between the house and the senate. For this reason it is impossible to giv the exact totals of the bills on the grand total of appropriations made by this con gress, which aggregate about $500,000, 000, but the disbursements authorized during the session will be discussed hereafter by Chairman Cannon of the appropriations committee, and ex-Chairman Sayers, from the points of view of their respective parties. Tariff or financial legislation of any character was abandoned for all practical purposes, when the disagreements between the hous and senate were demonstrated by the fate of the two bills prepared by the house ways and means committee. One of the most bitterly contested fights which has occurred has cropped out in the provisions of the Indian and the District of Columbia bill for aid to church schools, a feature which still holds both bills in conference. The Indian bill contains provisions, giving the homestead settlers on all ceded Indian reservations an extension of one year in which to make payments, and for the completion of the surveys of land in Indian territory. Incidental to the legislative, executive satisfied that they will do and judicial bill was an entire revision of the salaries of United States district well to buy of us. United States into that country alive. In the sundry civil bill the most important legislation is to make effective the Carey arid land act, (which ceded erid lands to the public land states for reclamation) by authorizing the states to give liens on the land to avert exrenses of reclamation.

The most noteworthy legislation pertaining to the navy is contained in the appropriation bill. The house provided for 15 new torpedo boats and for four battleships, but the senate reduced the | CRAGG-CLIFF WEYMOUTH HEIGHTS number of battleships to two, and a conference is pending over that difference. The bill made provision for the enlistment of 1000 additional seamen. It also made unlawful the employment of naval or marine officers on the active or retired lists of parties furnishing supplies or materials of war to the government. A special resolution authorized the acceptance by the government of the ram Katahdin, which failed to meet the speed requirements of the contract, but which satisfied the department, being largely an experimental craft. The naval reserve system was strengthened by a plan designed to draft vessels engaged in the coastwise trade into the service in time of war. An act was passed to establish a naval training station on Yerba Buena (or Goat island), in San Francisco harbor. The secretary was empowered to accept certified checks in lieu of bonds from contractors for naval supplies. No special legislation was contained in the army appropriation bill. Special bills were passed, however, creating the posi. tion of chaplain (who will also be profes-Teeth extracted absolutely without pain by the use of the some of history, geography and ethics), and an assistant professor of the same branches at West Point academy, making the national military parks fields for It is claimed that, while it has the re- maneuvers by the national guard or quired properties of ether, chloroform, militia, and a resolution appointing Generals W. Of tariff and financial legislation, this congress, as was said, has accomplished none. With a safe margin of free silver votes in the senate, and a majority of nearly 2 to 1 against silver in the house, it was evident from the beginning that no general policy would be agreed upon The two bills framed by the house ways and means committee, and bearing the name of their aut for, Mr. Dingley, one a bill for the issue of a short of popular ENNYROYAL PILLS loan and of certificates of indebtedness, the other to increase the rates of tariff schedules in wool, manufactures of wool and the other articles, were killed in the senate by the determination to substitute therefor silver coinage measures.

important acts of the senate, was reported adversely by the house ways and means committee. The only one of the many proposed changes in the tariff laws which became an actuality was the repeal of that clause of the Wilson act giving free alcohol in the arts and manufactures. This repeal met with so much antagonism that it could only be effected by coupling with it a compromise scheme for a congressional commission to recommend legislation at the beginning of the next session, by which free alcohol can be secured under sufficient safeguards for the government's interests. The policy of reciprocity was thoroughly investigated by a sub-comthus has mittee of the ways and means, but it was thought inadvisable by the Republican leaders to attempt legislation on that single feature of the tariff system so long as a general revolution was out of the question. Although the house committee on banking and currency devoted much time to discussion of finan-Pinkham | cial questions, it was able to agree on but two bills-one to permit banks to issue circulation to the amount of the par value of the bonds deposited by them as security; the other for the organization of national banks in the smaller towns, neither of which were passed this session. The only important bill 100,000 women to recommended by the house committee on coinage, that for the adoption of the metric system of weights and measures at the beginning of the next century, met with a temporary rebuff in the house, but will be brought up again.

While foreign affairs divided with ence surely it is more than possible paratively little legislation resulted from the discussions, because so great a share of the conduct of foreign relations rests with the executive branch. The first public resolution adopted by the congress-and that after one hour debate ate-was that authorizing the president to create the commission to investigate the Venezuela-British Guiana boundary line. The debate over Cuban affairs resulted in the adoption of a concurrent resolution expressing the sympathy of this government with the insurgents; calling upon the president to accord them belligerent rights and to offer the friendly offices of the United States to Spain to bring the war to an end. Reso lutions were adopted by both branches of congress denouncing the massacres of Armenians in Turkey, and calling upon the signatory powers to the Berlin treaty to protect the Armenian Christians. Seventy-five thousand dollars was appropriated for carrying out the stipulations of the Behring sea seal fisheries treaty with Great Britain. Another resolution passed was to de fray the expenses of negotiating a convention to locate the boundary line be One incident of the excitement which tween Alaska and British America. attended the crisis of the Venezuelan boundary dispute, was the quick adoption by the senate and house of Senator Hill's proposition to repeal the law for bidding ex-Confederates, who relin quished commissions in the Unite States army or navy, to be again appointed to the service. The plans the bring about the Maher-Fitzsimmon right in the Indian territory inspired the rapid enactments of a law imposing ex out liquid. Water is absolutely necessary to health. It is the only agent that carries nourishment to the blood and enters every tissue and minutest vessel in the body. Without water the brain shrinks and the blood clogs. The old anti-option bill was killed by the house committee on agriculture, and will not appear in this congress. A large fraction of the session's business related to the public lands, and important amendments were made to the public land laws. Foremost among these was Delegate Flynn's "free home" bill. A second important measure was that which extended for five years, from March 2 last, the limit within which the United States may bring suits to annul patents to land heretofore granted under railroad grants, but confirmed the titles to all such lands held by bona fide purchasers. Another important bill enacted late in the session was that for the relief of the settlers of the Northern Pacific indemnity lands. Among the miscellaneous acts passed during the session were the following: For the deportation of refugee Canadian Indians from Manitoba; to establish the government of Creer county as a county of Oklahoma; forbidding divorces in territories unless the parties applying have been residents for one year before the application; making unexplained absence for seven years pre-sumption of death for pension claims; fixing penalties for failure to use automatic brakes on railroad trains; for the detail of revenue cutters to enforce order at regattas and yacht races, and insure the safety of the spectators and participants; to reconvene the United States delegates to the international marine conference, for the destruction of the income tax returns; for the secretary of the treasury to distribute medals and diplomas awarded by the World's Columbian commission; authorizing the secretary of the treasury to remit fines penalties and forfeitures in laws relating to vessels and to discontinue prose-4 Faxon's Block, Quincy cutions; giving the use of the White lot and Washington monument to the Christian Endeavor convention of 1896; to allow to return, duty free, of articles sent EDDY REFRIGERATORS, ICE CHESTS from the United States for expositions and fairs; permitting foreign exhibitors $3.95 up. 25 per cent discount at GUY'S at the Nashville exposition to bring laborers into the United States.

National Republican Committee Has Many Contests to Straighten Out.

What Shall Be Done With Colored Delegates?

Hotels and Boarding Houses Refuse to Accept Them as Guests.

St. Louis, June 9.-In no former Re publican national convention has the committee had so heavy a duty to perform in making up the roll for the temporary organization as the present committee has before it. There are 158 contested seats from 15 states and one territory, and of these the entire delegation is contested from five states, and the territory of Arizona. The committee, as a whole, will commence the hearing of the contests Wednesday forenoon, and the indications are it will hardly be able to finish them before the end of the week.

Many of the conventions that resulted n contested delegations were marked by violence. In several of them police had to arrest the participants for as saulting and beating the chairman, and the feuds that grew out of local rivalries have been transferred to the national arena to be stubbornly fought out by the principals, who have come deter mined, if possible, to return home as the recognized leaders of their respective bailiwicks. The bitterest of these contests come from the south. All of the contending parties have come here prepared with printed briefs and affidavits as to their regularity and right to recog nition, and each case will be presented by special counsel, selected from the best speakers among the respective factions The committee will probably take up the contests with the states in alphabetical order, when both sides are on hand an ready. The committee's conclusions, however, are not final. They are for the purpose of making up the roll for temporary organization, and only show who, in its judgment, is primarily entitled to a sea in the convention. The whole fight by every delegation may be gone over ancw before the committee on credentials which is to be named by the chairman of the convention, and contests do not even stop with that committee's report, as the delegates who are unsuccessful before it have the right of appeal to the convention. There are not likely to b many long continued contests on the floor of the convention, as in almost every instance the contending factions claim to favor McKinley. It would be hard to predict who will selected by the national committee for temporary chairman of the conven-tion, so few of the committeemen have arrived, and there is none of the prominent leaders of the party here. Among the men who have been mentioned, how ever, are ex-Governor Merriam of Minnesota and H. C. Evans of Tennessee, candidate for the vice presidential nomination. Mr. Evans is also talked of for permanent chairman, as also are General Grosvenor of Ohio, Senator-elec-George L. Wellington of Maryland, Senator Foraker and Mayor John A. Caldwell of Cincinnati. It is probable that M. A. Hanna, Thomas C. Platt, Senator Gear and Joseph Manley will arrive by

What shall be done with the colored delegates and alternates to the national ntion is a question which is puz zling the members of the national com mittee, who have arrived here, as well a the Business Men's league, which se-cured the convention to St. Louis. Every hotel and boarding house came out flat footed yesterday, and declared that it would entertain no negro as a guest of customer. Money is nopbject. Threats of prosecution have had no effect, and from the present outlook it would seen that unless tents are secured the colored men will have to go hungry and un-

"I am thoroughly disgusted and discouraged," said National Committee man Long of Florida last night, in speaking of the matter. I have been ooking all day long for a hotel, boarding house or cafe that would admit the negroes, but it has been a fruitless search. I even went so far as to try to charter a steamboat, but when the owners learned for what purpose it was wanted they found an excuse for refusing me the use of the vessel. It is the first time in the history of the Re rublican party where such an embarrassing predicament has arisen."

When asked what the national committee would do in the matter he re plied: "I have consulted with the members who are here, and we have decided GEO. H. FIELD, Agent. to offer a resolution as soon as the committee meets condemning the hotel and inn keepers, and for the setting askle of a fund for renting a hall in which cots shall be placed for the accommodation of the negroes who may come to the convention. We will also require the employment of cooks, etc., to supply them with food."

This trouble has been brewing for nearly a week. A number of days ago Money Wanted it was learned by the Business Men's league that some of the leading hotels had been cancelling agreements with certain state delegates when the landlords learned that negroes were numbered among them. It became so apparent that the negroes were being dis-criminated against that the league is-endeavor to meet the situation as justice and propriety require. Any parties failing to receive accommodations will please report to the general hotel committee, C. C. Rainwater, chairman, or the bureau of information."

When the hotel men read this they were wrathful. They said it was an invitation to the colored delegates to prosecute them for damages. They went to the league committee on hotel accommodations, and made a vigorous protest. Concerted action then followed, with the result that the negroes cannot find lodging places, or even a reputable place to eat. Major C. C. Rainwater, a member of the Business Men's league, and of the local entertainment committee, is quite as much displeased with the turn affairs have taken, as any member of the national committee. He, with several other members of the local committee, have been hunting for a place to modesty that has been prolific of weakness entertain the negro delegates, but without success.

The boom for General Allison of Iowa, as the candidate of the coming Republican convention, will be opened in force today. G. B. Pray, ex-chairman of the Iowa state central committee, has assumed direct charge of the movement. Mr. Pray's chief lieutenants in this fight will be General G. M. Dodge, Colonel D. B. His Name Will Be Presented.

Washington, June 9.—Senator Quay expects to leave on Wednesday night for St. Louis. He will be an important figure at the convention, in spite of his recent concession that McKinley has a majority of delegates, and will be the party nominee. Quay's friends do not doubt that he is already "on the ground floor" with the new administration, and that he will make himself still more "solid" when Pennsylvania is called and he announces her 64 votes for McKinley. he announces her 64 votes for McKinley. Quay's name will be presented, as it was at the Pennsylvania state conven tion, as the greatest exemplar of modern In all shades, 36 inches wide at Republicanism, but when the roll is called he is expected to gracefully lay the honors at McKinley's feet.

No Bolt, Says Campbell.

Cincinnati, June 9.—Ex-Governo Campbell has been interviewed at his home in Hamilton. He said: "There have been some threats of bolting at Chicago if the platform does not provide for independent free coinage. In my opinion no man can honorably enter the Chicago convention unless he intends to abide by its results. I will go further and say that every Democrat, regardless of his opinion, ought to stand aggressively for his party this year, whether the platform meets his precise views or not There is no instrumentality in the coun try that ever can or will work out justice and right to all classes of people except the Democratic party."

To Fight the Two-Thirds Rule.

Motor, Dynamo and Bell Work. Mr. Mayo was born in Boston in 1832. He made his debut at the age of 17 in San Francisco, as the waiter in "Raising the Wind," but did not come to Boston until 1865, when he came to the Boston theater as a stock star. Theatergoers of 20 years ago remember Frank Malo as one of the finest looking actors on the stage, and at 57 he was still a strikingly handsome man-tall, erect, with a dignity of manner, and an unaffected simplicity as well, that made him a distinguished figure.

An Insane Mother's Act.

Chicago, June 9.—While temporarily insane, it is supposed, Mrs. Hannah Kock, the wife of a bricklayer, walked into that part of the South branch known as "Mud lake," leading her two children by the hand. She was drowned together with her 2-year-old child, Emma, but her son, Charles, 9 years of age, struggled and released himself from her grasp and saved himself.

A Big Undertaking.

Bluffton, Ind., June 9. - A gigantic project, that of building a second pipe line from the Indiana oil fields to Whiting, has just been made public by the filing in the office of the county recorder of articles of incorporation, to which are attached the names of John and Michael Cudahy, the pork packers of Chicago. The new line will be 160 miles in length.

Boulevard Bill Passed and Quincy Likely to be Benefitted,

The Quincy Board of Trade held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at Durgin & Merrill's block, there was however, but little business to transact. R. A. Sears, Esq., was elected temporary President Adams read a letter from John O. Hall resigning his office as

It was voted that the resignation be accepted to take effect at the next meeting and that a committee of three be appointed to look up a candidate to fill the vacancy. Mr. Wade, who had been engaged to canvass among the business men for members, reported that owing to illness he had been unable to do much. He had, how ever, seen parties at Atlantic, Wollaston and Quincy and had received promises from some to become members. An informal talk then followed as to what was necessary to be done to increase the membership, and to induce manufacturing industries to locate here, and the general impression seemed to be that lack of transportation facilities was a great hin-

There is a plan in today's Herald for the mprovement of the water front of Boston harbor which is of commercial interest to Quincy as it proposes to construct a circular basin in the Neponset river which is to be dredged to a depth of 30 feet.

At the head of the port are located the principal piers for transatlantic traffic. Each of these is 1000 feet long, over 300 feet wide, cut by a canal for lighters, with Bill had been signed by the Governor and space on each for four large sheds and

In the rear of these piers is a space 500 feet wide, in front of high fireproof storehouses. The transfers, it is suggested, would probably be by electric power. In the rear of the storehouses is a large space for freight yards, on the Quincy shore. The detail plan shows the four principal piers, the administration building and the large warehouses. SECURITY OF BUSINESS Necessitated the Bond Sales, According to Secretary Carlisle. Washington, June 10 .- The reply of the inquiries of the senate sub-committee of finance, charged with investiin the years 1894-5-6, was made public during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, reaching the unprecedented amount some detail the subsequent withdrawals | day, and sentenced to three years' in the and tells of the contract entered into by the secretary of the treasury with Au gust Belmont & Co. and J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York, for the purchase of The price at which these bonds were sold was 104.496, which would yield to yesterday to one year's imprisonment the investor 3.75 per cent per annum. The secretary says the president on the same day asked congress to provide for a 3 per cent gold bond, which would effect a saving of over $16,000,000 to the government. A 3 per cent gold bond bill was introduced in the house, but it failed to pass, and the contract was carried into effect after the syndicate had fur nished a large part of the gold from abroad.

Mr. Carlisle next refers to the president's urgent request for financial legislation, in his annual message of Dec. 20, 1895, and the failure of congress to act thereon. He says the bond sales were necessary for the preservation of the credit of the government and the security of the business interests of the people and accomplished those results.

In Congress.

Washington, June 10.-The resolution offered by Mr. Wolcott (Rep., Col.) for Ducks and Piques, an inquiry into the contest for the erec tion of an equestrian statue for General W. T. Sherman, and requesting the sussession, was laid before the senate. After For the Little Ones. and the resolution defeated. The final conference on the naval appropriation bill was presented and agreed to, and so was the Indian appropriation bill. The senate at 5:40 adjourned, leaving the sundry civil bill and the District of Columbia bill the only appropriation New Percales bills not finally acted upon. The house gave its final approval to conference reports on two of the four appropriation bills which were in issue-the naval and Indian bills. Most of the day was de voted to the consideration of the Aldrich-Underwood contested election case from the Ninth Alabama district. Mr. Ald rich was given the seat.

Outrage by Spanish Troops.

Marianao, Cuba, June 10.-Reports have just reached here of the killing of 17 more peaceable persons in Santa Cruz, on the north coast, east of Habana. A Spanish column entered the town. The half drunken major in command became enraged at the lack of enthusiasm shown by the inhabitants, and had 50 of then seized. These he ordered to be shot. The slaughter had begun when a cool-heade lieutenant had "to horse" sounded or the bugle. This had the effect of coo ing down the excited men, and the killing ceased when 17 had been put to death No further details are reported here at present. The information comes from Spanish sources.

The Wiborg Plea.

Washington, June 10.-The numer ously signed petition for the pardon o Captain Wiborg of the Horsa, who was sentenced by the United States cour in Philadelphia to one year and four months' imprisonment and $300 fine, for a party of filibusters and their arms in Cuba, has been delivered to the presi-Hancock St., Quincy. dent, and has been referred to the attorney general. Talking Home Rule.

Habana, June 10.-There is much talk in official circles of arranging the Cuban question on a basis of a concession of home rule, similar to that in Canada. Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle to The Cubans are inclined to accept this, provided Spain takes the Cuban debt and the United States guarantees the Spanish performance of the compact.

BEFORE THE BATTLE.

Republican Leaders at St. Louis Have Many Themes to Discuss.

Silver Advocates Are Causing Some Une asiness.

Color Line Question Has Not Yet Been Satisfactorily Settled.

St. Louis, June 10.-Politicians, great intermediate shades of complexion from all over the Union are swarming into this city. For the last week they have been dropping in at odd intervals by ones and twos. But now they are coming by the carload.

There is already considerable discussion among the delegates and other ings, then the fault is not ours." party leaders who have arrived, as to the receive more attention than any other sibility of a bolt by the free silver adnone more than by the silver men themselves, of whom there are already sevwell to buy of us. If we can ever, and will not be until the arrival of Senators Teller, Dubois, Cannon and others. It is gathered from those who are already here that the disposition to bolt the convention is confined to but few. One of the most prominent of the silver delegates said that the men from the west felt that they had been elected by Republican constituents to meet in convention to secure all they could for silver, but that they were not authorized to bolt if they found themselves in a minority, and that the more they conferred the more general was the opinion that they should stand by the Republi can organization.

Among the representatives from the west, the name of M. H. De Young, mem ber of the national committee from California, and a strong advocate of free silver, is already being urged in connec tion with the nomination for the vic presidency. When Mr. De Young was asked for an expression of his views as to the course of the silver men, he said: The delegates from the silver states are very determined in their desire to advance the interest of silver. They want the right to have free coinage of silver, at the ratio of 16 to 1. Some of them are very radical, and talk about leaving the convention in case they fail to have their views adopted. This action will not be general. FOR DOING THEIR DUTY Cambridge Police Are Set Upon by

Riotous Harvard Boys. Clubs and Fists Were Used

Battle Waged Fiercely Until Quelled by the Students Themselves.

Without Stint.

Cambridge, Mass., June 11.-A flerce iot took place in Harvard square last ight, and a number of Harvard students ave sore heads this morning, and sevral of the Cambridge policemen are ursing wounds. It all happened as a esult of the students' exuberance over the victory the Harvard Baseball club secured at Princeton. Three of the students were locked up and one was so badly cut about the head that a physician was summoned to station 1 and 12 stitches taken in a wound n the back of his head. He is a sopho ore, who gave the assumed name of Pilling. The other two students are Goldthwait H. Dorr of Orange, N. J., and Clay Stone Briggs of Galveston.

Patrolmen Corcoran, Murray, McElroy and Dynan were roughly handled. The others were struck in the face with fists and stones. This all occurred after the officers had attempted to arrest Briggs on the charge of discharging firearms in the street.

The students gathered in crowds in Harvard square, and each class was cheered, and yells went up for Harvard and the victors from every side. Cannon irecrackers roared, red fire was burned and skyrockets and other fireworks were exploded.

There appeared to be no concerted ac ion agreed upon to celebrate the victory. until at last one student, a six-footer nounted the roof of the night lunch art, and in a sonorous voice announced hat there would be a parade.

The chief of police cried for the students to enter the codege yard. They would not be allowed to discharge fireno heed was paid to the police, and by sheer force of numbers the parade was Massachusetts avenue to Putnam square. Fifty abreast they marched, Wilkins; auditor, H. H. Ackerman. and there were fully 2000 of them.

Finally Patrolmer Corcoran and Stev Great Reduction in prices on rimmed Hats and Bonnets. ver, and they made a grab for the weapon. It seemed as if nearly every with all his might to 1000 feet distant.

With cries and yells the students and he other persons in the parade rushed or the officers, while 10 other patrolmer vere fighting their way through the crowd to where Patrolmen Murray and Stevens were battling to retain control f their prisoner. "Kill the police" was the cry made by one person, and immediately it was taken up and carried to the nd of the line. Briggs was in the midst of the police en, who, with drawn clubs, were orderng the students to stand aside and allow hem to make the arrest. In this maner the little band of policemen wended heir way slowly to the police station, all the time the crowd striking at them and throwing stones and sticks. The policemen lost their helmets and their coats were torn from their backs.

When in Brattle square, Dorr, with his is in session at Freeport. clinched fist, struck Patrolman McElroy in the face a terrible blow. It is claimed by some that he had a stone in his hand, but this is denied. He was grabbed by Officers Dynan and Coulter, and then the crowd became even more frenzied than

Dorr was hustled along, but the two officers were immediately surrounded by 100 students, and in an instant all three vere upon the ground, and hundreds of ersons were apparently on top of them. The officers were kicked and pounded, their clothes torn and their faces scratched, but they hung on to Dorr and finally were able to rise, after using their clubs very effectively.

In the meantime the other officers were coming to thir assistance, and then it was that Pilling emerged from the crowd that was kicking and hitting at Dynan and Coulter, and assaulted, it is claimed Patrolman Corcoran. He was grabbed by Patrolman Murray, and then ensued fight such as is seldom seen. Pilling, who is an athlete, fought like a tiger while the cheers from the crowd edged

He grabbed Patrolman Corcoran by the neck and began to choke him. He was hit in the head with a club by one of the officers, but even then he did not give up fighting. Then, it is claimed, he grabbed Corcoran's coat and tore it from his back. The officers, with their three prisoners, were then in front of the station, but the students and others ran ahead of the police and blocked the doorway to the police station. Chief Cloyes and adjoining property heavily damthen ordered the policemen to clear the passageway, and use their clubs if necessary, but a large number of students refused to move, but they did when the clubs of the officers were raised high and after thud. Briggs and Dorr were the very last to get away from the police. With the three men in the station the crowd outside began to yell and threaten to effect an entrance. For half an hour the crowd remained in front of the station, and it only lacked a leader to make it a desperate one. Finally a student mounted the steps

'They have only done their duty, and we are to blame," again he said. He was greeted with cheers, and when he told the crowd to go to Holmes' field, it slowly dispersed, to meet again at Holmes' field, where speeches were made condemning the police for their action. At first these speeches were loudly cheered, but later, when one or two students had taken the side of the police, and stated that the officers had told them that they must keep inside the college yard, and that they had only done their duty in arresting a man discharging firearms in the street, they were cheered also. The three students, Briggs, Dorr and Pilling, were bailed out by fellow students within an hour of their arrest, $50 being deposited in each case.

President Eliot of Harvard college, last evening, after the riot, threatened to put an end to athletics at the college altogether, unless the students subsided and went to their rooms. The boys were also addressed in the same strain by several professors.

Dissolved For '96.

Boston, June 11.-The legislature of 1896 was prorogued at 12:20 o'clock yesterday, a session yesterday having been made necessary by the failure, on Tues day night, to dispose of the Boston aldermanic bill. The secretary of state an nounced the prorogation in the senate stating in his little speech that the chief magistrate, during the year, had signed 550 bills and 124 resolves, and that three bills had been vetoed. From the senate the secretary of state proceeded to the house, where he repeated his message of prorogation, thus formally dissolving the

Your Watch is No Good.

"That is fighting talk," you say, but wait until we finish the sentence—if it fails to tell you the correct time. A watch will sometimes run several years without being cleaned, but it is wearing out, and, when it finally stops, some genius who advertises "Clean your Watch for a Dollar," and whose kit of tools comprise a brush, tack hammer and a screw driver, brushes out the dirt, ignorant of the damage the watch has sustained, and your watch, once your faithful friend, can no longer be relied upon.

Think This Over

CHURCH WEDDING. June Weddings.

Miss Melvina A. Sweetser Becomes Mrs. William P. Bailey.

After a week of stormy weather good fortune smiled on Miss Melvina Amanda Sweetser of Neponset and Mr. William Porter Bailey of Wollaston, Wednesday evening, when they were united in marriage at the Trinity Congregational church at eight o'clock. May no clouds cross their life was the wish of the many friends present from Quincy, Braintree, Boston and vicinity.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sweetser formerly of Quincy, and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bailey, who until quite recently ived at Quincy.

As the bridal party entered the church Lohengrin wedding march was played, and during the ceremony the organist, Miss Taylor, softly played Schubert's serenade. Rev. Edward Norton, the pastor emeritus of the Evangelical Congregational church Excepting on the Seventeenth of June a of Quincy officiated, being assisted by the portion of Loveli's grove will be open free Rev. E. C. Webster, the pastor of the church. The bride was given away by her father. As the procession went out Mendelssohn's wedding march was played.

The bride was prettily gowned in white silk with pearl trimmings and wore a veil; she carried bride roses. The maid of honor, Miss Cecil Browne of Lynn, had a gown of light green. The two bridemaids, Miss Annie K. Bailey and Miss Marion I. Bailey

Mr. Arthur W. Bailey of Wollaston was best man and the ushers, Mr. Delcevare King of Quincy, Mr. Frederick L. Eno of Lynn, Mr. John O. Hall, Jr., of Quincy, and Mr. Ernest V. Fitts of Quincy.

The decorations of the church were by the young people of the church and were a beautiful, consisting mainly of palms, evergreen and daisies. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey will be absent three weeks on their wedding trip, and upon their return will reside on Central avenue,

Priest Wants His Manuscript.

New York, June 11 .- A venerable Italian priest in Jefferson market yester day, complained that Carlo Motto had robbed him of part of a valuable manuscript history of the Vatican, 12 silver coffee cups and a pair of gold earrings. "The Open Vatican" is the title of the manuscript. The complainant and author. Monsignor Antonio, D.D., Conte Renier, says the publication of the work would carry consternation into church circles. He affirms that he was one private secretary to Pope Pius IX. He is 71 years old. The priest said he had befriended the prisoner in many ways, taking him from the street and shelter-ing him when he was homeless and hungry. Motte admitted his guilt, and said he had given the manuscript to Francesco Beraigua of Brooklyn. This Beraigua denies. The priest estimated that the manuscript was worth $25,000.

St. James Hotel Openly Refuses to Entertain Colored Delegates.

Reed Considered Out of the Presidential Race.

Governor Bradley Issues a Statement Denying Deals Attributed to Him.

St. Louis. June 11 .- The meeting of the Republican national committee, to decide the contests for seats in the conbers, and they were so concerned with the proceedings of the committee that they declined to give attention to the other questions

The entire day's session was given up to the Alabama contests, which involved the seats of the four delegatesat-large, and all of the nine districts, except the Second, making 22 seats that were in dispute. The contests were all decided except those from the Third and Fifth districts, in which hearings were postponed on account of the absence of other contestants or contestees. The points at issue in the Sixth and Eighth districts were settled outside of the committee, and the contest in both instances withdrawn. The issue was presented to the committee in all other cases.

The Georgia contest on the delegatesat-large was taken up last evening, and except for two districts in Alabama and one from Georgia, these two states were entirely disposed of. The total of the day's work was the disposal of 24 contesting delegates, 18 in Alahama and six in Georgia. Of the 24 delegates seated all but two favor McKinley.

The proceedings were of a harmonious character, and while there was evidence that there was genuine feeling in behalf of various candidates, this feeling did not at any time take a personally aggressive form

Several weeks ago the officers of the Tippecanoe club, under the direction of M. A. Hanna, made a $6000 contract with Thomas P. Miller, proprietor of the St. James hotel, to take care of a certain number of delegates for five days during the convention. The club officers then wrote to certain southern delegations that rooms had been engaged for them at the St. James. When Mr. Miller learned that the club intended to fill the rooms with negroes, he objected. "If I permit you to bring negroes here," he said, "all my help will leave. It will put me in a most embarrassing predicament.".

Upon the arrival of Mr. Hanna from Cleveland yesterday, he was told what had occurred. "I am sorry for Mr. Miller," said Mr. Hanna to his agent, but he signed a contract, and unless he lives up to it he will find himself involved n a most unpleasant legal complication." When the hotel man was notified of this he made the following written reply: "I cannot entertain the colored delegates in our main dining room, or under the contract with your club."

As all the leading hotels are crowded, the Tippecanoe club is in a quandary as to what it will do with the colored delegates, whom it promised to care for. Mr. Hanna said he felt very sorry for the Business Men's league, which promised the national committee there would r line drawn "7 done everything in its power to prevent this trouble," he added, "and I do not onsider it in any way to blame." Mr. Hanna's emissaries also rented he big exposition building for use during the convention. It was suggested that cots be placed in it for the use of the colored men, but when the management of the building learned of this, it told the club that the negroes could not be quartered there. It was finally agreed that the colored delegates might be fed there. Tony Faust, who holds the lease of the kitchen at the exposition building, said he could not furnish either food or ooks to do the work. Many of the colored men have, of their own accord, gone to the homes of colored people living here, and obtained board and lodgings. Some of them, however, refuse to do this.

Dr. John Gant of Sherman, Tex., has a contract with Proprietor Griswold of the Laclede hotel for his people, black and white alike, and this end of it the hotel man is going to keep, but black delegates will not be allowed to eat in the dining hall. Meals will be served in their rooms, and there will be no lack of attention to them. This is what makes Dr. Gant angry.

Mr. J. H. Manley said yesterday: "In my judgment, the convention will nominate McKinley on the first ballot for the presidency. It is useless to attempt to deny that this will be the result. The action of the national committee in its overwhelming vote on the Alabama case settles conclusively how the respective states, which the members of the committee represent, will vote in the convention. Mr. Reed's name will be presented to the convention, and voted for, and I am authorized to say that under no conditions or circumstances can he or will he accept the nomination for vice president, if it should be tendered England delegates will be loyal to Mr. Reed, but the convention is for Governor McKinley, and will nominate him."

While the declaration of Mr. Manley contained nothing that has not been looked for, yet it caused a flutter of excitement when it was known that the manager of Mr. Reed had announced that there was not further hope among the leaders of the forces of the man from Maine. Other supporters of Mr. Reed said that the declaration would cost Mr. Reed at least half of the votes that would have been cast for him had nothing of the kind been said, and several of Reed's supporters asserted that the declaration of Mr. Manley ought to be followed by a statement from Reed that his name would not be presented, so that those who were yet under obligations to vote for him would be released. It was said that in the face of certain admitted defeat, delegates could not be expected to vote for Reed, and that probably all of New Hampshire's votes, all of Rhode Island's and all but one in Connecticut would be cast for McKinley, even if Reed's name was presented. There are some delegations from the south which will take similar action. It was also stated that the declaration of Mr. Manley would weaken the other candidates, as it would be sure to in-ceived from this great medicine. Among them, Mrs. Ella Howell, of Derby, Perry Co., Ind., who writes:

"I was so weak I could not walk across the room without assistance. I took Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and his 'Favorite Prescription' and one bottle of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' I began to improve very fast after the use of a few bottles. The physicians who attended me said I had 'dropsy,' and that my disease was leading into pulmonary consumption. I had quite a cough, and the home physician gave me up to die. I thank God that my cure is permanent. I do not feel any symptoms of my old disease. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce and his remedies too highly. The medicines come the nearest to 'raising the dead 'of anythat I have ever known about. They are worth their weight in gold."

The STARTING POINT of almost all diseases is in the digestive organs. Constipation leads to more diseases than any other one cause. It is not looked upon as a serious thing, but it is. It means that poisonous, effete matter, that should be excreted, is retained in the body, and has its effect in producing headaches, biliousness, sour stomach, foul breath, heart-burn, flatulence, palpitation of the heart, and many other serious symptoms. It can be quickly and permanently cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. A reference of a large number of people, for the most part from St. Louis, who saw the inside of the building for the only time during the convention. Senator Carter and other members of the nost prominent people in the city occupied seats on the stage. The services consisted of vocal and instrumental music, and speeches made by Hon. S. Kennard, chalrman of the local committee, Mayor Walbridge and Governor Stone.

says: "I do not want to be vice presimoney standard. He does not expect a single delegate to bolt, no matter what Frankfort, Ky., June 11.-During the past week statements have been sent out from Washington that Governor Bradley, who was elected governor of Kentucky on a gold standard platform over a Democratic free silver candidate, had originally been in favor of compromising policy, and that Govern McKinley had induced him to adopt th gold standard policy, and that he ha since negotiated with McKinley an other candidates, and this has been fo lowed by statements purporting to cor from Frankfort, that Governor Bradle had in his possession letters writte him in confidence from various Republi cans of national prominence, which would make public in retaliation for th aspersions against his sincerity. It has been intimated that the expected dis closures would create a great sensation in national politics, and in consequenthe governor has been overwheime with inquiries on the subject. Concern ing these reports, Governor Bradley ha made the following statement: "I can not permit the Washington dispatche to the Chicago Record to pass uncha lenged. In response, I deny that I was ever the representative of Mr. Hanna in any way. Nor is it true that my ac tion was ever controlled or governed in the slightest degree by what is politically called in that dispatch 'the Platt-Clarkson crowd.'

"There never was any combinati between those gentlemen or any o them and myself or any of my friends I have not attempted to make terms with Mr. McKinley or any of his managers, or with any one of the presidentia aspirants, or any of their managers I have not offered to trade 16 votes any vote for the vice presidency, nor wil I be a candidate for vice president, not would I accept a cabinet position.

"I did write to Mr. McKinley, and at the same time wrote to a number of lead ing Republicans throughout the coun try, concerning the Kentucky campaig The insinuation that I wrote favoring straddle on the currency question, or that Mr. McKinley advised me not to pursu such a course, or said that 'in the silve agitation was the result of the panic 1873,' is totally false. I did not write him that 'a majority of people in Kentucky were in favor of free coinage or that both parties were rapidly drifting that way.' My expressed opinion was that the Minneapolis platform was to general, and that the party should make a clear and distinct declaration. M views concerning the currency question are too well known to require explana tion in Kentucky. Weeks before the con vention assembled, the Louisville Criti announced my declaration that I would not accept the nomination on a free silver platform, and the Dembitz interview in The Courier-Journal was almos equally explicit. I have time and again declared in favor of the gold standard with every dollar made of equal value and against the free and unlimited coinage of silver. My canvass was made on a platform embodying those ideas, and I adhere to that platform now. I believe that sound currency will be the leading issue of the coming campaign. The honor of the republic and the welfare of the people demand its correct solution. It is far above personal or individual advancement, and in this hour of suprem trial, the Republican convention should declare unhesitatingly in favor of the single gold standard. It is no time for quibbling or evasion. We may lose some western states, but this loss will be more than compensated by gains in the old slave border states. But if I thought that such a declaration would cause the Republican nominee to be defeated, 1 would none the less favor it, for success at the expense of national welfare would be neither creditable not profitable. In justice to Mr. McKinley, I will add that the statement in today's Courier-Journal that he wrote me recommending the $ 8.00 silver tinge, is not true, neither he nor 16.00 any one of the gentlemen addressed suggested anything of the kind." The following was given out yesterday by Richard C. Kerens, member of the national committee from Missouri More importance is attached to it than to various proposed planks that have been proposed, on account of Mr. Keren's visit to Major McKinley at Canton, although Mr. Kerens would not have it understood that the proposed plank had the sanction of Mr. McKinley, and gave no intimation to that effect:

"We believe that our money should not be inferior to money of the most enlightened nations of the earth, and are unalterably opposed to every scheme Office, 4 Chestnut St., Quincy, Mass that threatens to debase or depreciate our present monetary standard. In the vast retail establishments of large cities, many women are employed as saleswomen. Men formerly held the positions that the same work. Their duties compel them to be on their feet from morning to night, and many of them, in a short time, contract these distressing complaints called "female diseases.

Then occur irregularities, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, indigestion, leucorrhœa, general debility and nervous prostration.

They are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" (eelings, blues and hopelessness.

In such cases there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. The following is a sample:

"My dear Mrs. Pinkham :- After writing you, and before your answer came, I was too miserable to go to the store, and so lost my position. That was five weeks ago. I am now back again in my old place, and never felt so well in all my life. The bearing-down pains and whites have left me, and I am not a bit nervous or blue. Life looks brighter to me. Quincy Gets Good Trains But Loses Old Favorites.

24 In and 25 Out Instead of 31 Both Ways as Now.

An Hourly Service Both Ways With Some Exceptions.

As already noted a new timetable will go into effect Sunday, June 14, on the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R., and the changes are more sweeping than predicted, although warned in the DAILY LEDGER some days ago. Quincy, the centre of a city of 25,000 Quincy should not be sidetracked in this way. It is of enough importance for through trains to stop at, and if they stopped at Quincy it would not be necessary for so many to stop at Braintree. Quincy gets an hourly service, except inward between 6 and 9 A. M. and outward between 4.30 and 7.30 P. M. A half hourly service during the whole day would be very satisfactory, but to be obliged to wait almost an hour if one happens to miss a train will result in considerable traffic being diverted to the electric cars.

Instead of an increase service, as Quincy usually obtains in the summer the number of trains is reduced. Today there are 31 each way, but on Monday there will be Col. Albert Clark and Hon. John Shaw only 24 inward trains and 25 outward. started for St. Louis Thursday where they What trains we have are excellent, usually making but three stops and making the run in 18 minutes. There are no inward expresses, but two morning The Misses Cote of Putman street are to trains make only one stop, and the only daughter of Register of Deeds, Thomas F. entertain Lynn friends on the Seventeenth, train to make over three stops is the 741 P. each way between West Quincy and Boston which run accommodation. West Quincy and East Milton will be happy, for their service will be increased half hourly service inward in the early morning and outward toward night, and hourly at other times there will be no two-hour gaps as at present. The new time table will be found in the LEDGER advertising columns today, and gives the stops and hour of arrival. Inward trains where an "r" appears leave Quincy Adams two minutes earlier, and if an "a" appears stop at Wollaston two minutes later; if a "b" four minutes later at Norfolk Downs, and if a "c" six

MADE FOR TWO.

Jack Hinkston was her slave, bound hand and foot to her chariot wheel, or perhaps it would be better to say now that she had taken to cycling, that he was bound to her bicycle wheel. She had flouted him and scorned him for upward of two years, and in despair Jack set himself at undoing his bonds.

As he cycled along a narrow country thoroughfare he heard behind him the sharp ring of a bicycle bell. Something in its imperative ring, or else the fact that he was on a lonely road, caused him to look over his shoulder, and he nearly tumbled off his machine with amazement and surprise.

There was Cissie on the top of a silver plated machine, with the very newest and natty cut of an advanced woman's you be so kind as to mend my tire?" bicycle costume, clipping over the distance at a tremendous rate of speed. which assertion Jack raised his eyebrows with incredulity, which made Cissie all the more angry, especially as she knew she was telling a thing which was not true.

"Well, I don't want any help from you, " she said curtly.

"Why, of course not," returned Jack, sitting down on the opposite bank and leaning his bicycle against the hedge. "A person who comes out on a wheel and doesn't know how to mend anything that goes wrong is simply a silly fool. One can see you understand all about cycling, because you have left your machine lying on the ground and the oil is running out of your lamp."

"It isn't your lamp, and I can surely do what I like with my own. I don't see what right you have to interfere."

"Bless you, Cissie," said Jack, "I am not interfering. I am not even offering advice. I have never yet had the pleasure of seeing a woman take off a pneumatic tire and mend the inner tube. This, of course, you have to do before you can move on, for you are miles away from any place, and even if you left your machine here you would not dare to walk home in that idiotic cos-

Still, I must say that I admire your bravery in coming out in the daylight, where people can see you in such a rig. The hard things you have said to me when you had on a pretty lawn tennis costume, for instance, do not affect me a bit when they are said by one who merely looks like a saucy, impudent boy. "Well, Ciss, when are you going to get at mending that tire?"

"I-I-I-don't know anything about tires, "sobbed Cissie.

Cissie had bent her head upon her hands, which rested on the saddle of her cycle. It was quite evident that she was in tears, and Jack, waiting for a reply, smoked on in silence. At last he said, in a gentle voice:

"Look here, Cissie, if you ask me very nicely I will take off that pneumatic tire and mend it in five minutes by the watch."

Cissie looked up again with something like her former indignation in her eyes. "I'll throw the machine into the stream," she said, "before I will ask you to mend it."

"Just as you please, Cissie," replied Jack, clasping his hands behind his head and leaning back in luxurious enjoyment of his pipe. "Just as you please. The day is my own, and I suppose you will wait here till night before you venture back home again

"Out of the kindness of my heart I will stay here with you, not to look at you, for I shall gaze at the tops of the trees as much as possible, and not to talk to you, for if there is anything in this world I abhor it is an impudent, cheeky boy. But this lane is a great place for tramps and gypsies, and it becomes very dark at night because of the overhanging trees."

Jack smoked on, gazing up, as he had promised, at the tree tops. The silence was broken only by the sweet singing Jack had heard that Cissie had taken of the birds and now and then by a quick catch of the breath on the part of Cissie. Five minutes elapsed and then

"Jack," said Cissie without raising darkness comes on."

"Don't go away," cried Cissie. "Please forgive what I said, and won't Jack picked up the bicycle, took off the dripping lamp, had the tire off and

"There," he said, "vou see how "Stop a minute, Cissie. I want to tell quickly a thing is fixed when the time is not wasted in foolish conversation. But the young woman never paid the Are you going any farther, Cissie? If

"I don't know but it would," said Cissie, looking up with a smile that was "No," snapped Cissie. "I am not in all the sweeter because there was just the slightest suspicion of a quiver at "Ah!" said Jack. "I see what is the the corners of her pretty lips.—Luke

Are Cold Baths Dangerous?

The popular notion of the injurious is overheated from exercise must pos sess—as all such ideas have—some ba sis in experience, yet it is falsified by Hancock St., Quincy. the experience of athletes from the days of the Greeks and Romans even until now, who find in this procedure a re freshing and stimulating tonic after the exertions they have recently undergone

And, physiologically speaking, a cold plunge or douche taken immediately after the physical effort, when the skin is acting freely and there is a sense of heat throughout the body, is as rational as in the experience of the athlete it is beneficial. The popular belief doubtless rests on the injurious effects which may be induced by the bath on one who does not resort to it immediately, but allows time for the effects of fatigue to show themselves on the muscles and nerves, and for the surface of the body to get cool. Taken then, the bath is more likely to depress than to stimulate. There is less power of reaction and greater liability to internal inflammation. At such a time a warm rather than a cold bath is more suitable. - London Tit

MISS COULAND DASHES

Is Found to Have Been Illegal Operation.

Mrs Dr. Stevens Is Held In $5,000 Bail.

Suspicions of New York Board of Health Authorities Were Confirmed.

New York, June 13.—An autopsy yes terday on the body of Miss Lenora Cousens of Newton, Mass., showed that she had died from the effects of an il legal operation. Immediately after this conclusion had been reached, Mrs. Anna Stevens, the physician who attended the young woman, was placed under ar-rest, and held in $5000 bail. Miss Cousens who was a member of a quartet ap pearing in the "Sunshine of Paradis lley," at the Fourteenth Street theater died Wednesday evening at a boarding house on Twenty-seventh street, con ducted by Mrs. George Wickes.

Thursday night Mrs. Stevens filed s death certificate, which said the woman' death resulted from heart failure. The health department refused to accept the certificate. When the coroner called upon Mrs. Stevens she again repeated that Miss Cousens' death was due to heart failure. The coroner said that he had every reason to believe that a crim had been committed, and summone Mrs. Stevens, Louis Miller of 201 West Thirty-ninth street, and several others to appear before him yesterday.

Mr. Miller said to the coroner that he and his wife had known Miss Cousen from childhood. He explained that Miss Cousens refused to see Arthur C. Walworth of Boston last Wednesday, ov ing to her condition. Mr. Walworth, h said, was a particular friend of Miss Cousens' parents, and secured for the woman her first position as a singe This was in a church at Newton, Mass in which Mr. Walworth was a prominent member. For this reason and for fear the news of her sickness would reach her parents, Miss Cousens refused to se Mr. Walworth.

"I called on Miss Cousens on the same day," said Mr. Miller, "and I was admitted to her room. She did not seen to be very sick, and I joked with her about 'going on' without 'making up Her complexion was quite sallow, and for this reason I told her she could go through her part without a 'make-up This was Wednesday morning, and when I called again Wednesday evening Miss Cousens was dead. I never sus pected for one moment that the girl's condition was such as it was."

Mr. Miller said that Miss Cousens was 22 years old, and the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cousons of Newton Mass. They are que wealthy. When the coroner questioned Mrs. Stevens yes terday, she said she had attended Miss Cousens for four weeks. "From what was she suffering?" th coroner asked. "I treated her for malaria," Mrs. Stevens replied.

Further questioning brought out nothing materially new, save that Mrs. Stevens said she thought Miss Cousens died of heart failure. Dr. Schultze was called, and said that death resulted from an illegal operation. Bermuda Ready For Another Trip.

New York, June 13.—The steamship Bermuda is to leave Philadelphia with another cargo of arms and ammunition in this city during the last fortnight of Colonel Vidal has been the subject of considerable comment among the Cubans. Vidal was in command of the last party of filibusters that the Bermuda carried to Cuba. Yesterday morning Vidal received a secret order from the junta, and he and his companions went to Jersey City, where they were joined by a dozen more Cubans, and all took the 1 o'clock train for Philadelphia. These, with others already on the spot, comprise the expedition that are expected to sail on the Bermuda. The expedition consists of 50 men, among whom are several physicians, who carry with them a full supply of medicines and surgical instruments. Stowed away in the hold of the Bermuda are 1000 Mauser rifles, four Hotchkiss guns and a large number of machetes.

Lizzie Daly a Bride.

New York, June 13. - Pretty Lizzie Derious Daly, than whom no soubrette is better known on the boards, and whos fame as a lightning change artist is by no means confined to the grand circle. was married to Samuel L. Tuck, a wealthy manufacturer and importer of gas fixtures. Mrs. Tuck comes of a family of stage folk, known not only here, but in England. Her father was George W. Derious, who was a widely famed circus man, and among the pioneers of the business in this country. Her mother was a Hebrew, and Mr. Tuck is also a Hebrew.

Policeman Killed by Half-Breed.

Winnipeg, June 13.—At Calgary last night, as Mounted Police Inspector Godin was riding to Langevin bridge Pierre Ducharme, a half-breed, shot at him. The shot entered the abdomen and passed out near the backbone. Codin immediately returned the fire, shooting Ducharme through the heart Godin then rode to the barracks and fell off his horse. Medical aid was summoned, and a priest took Godin's dying statement. No cause is assigned, except that Ducharme had been drinking heavily.

Three Miners Perished.

Taylorville, Ills., June 13.—The Taylorville coal mining works were destroyed by fire yesterday, and 85 men entombed The fire, which was caused by an explo sion of gasoline, spread rapidly through the mine, cutting off the men at work in the lower levels. Those rescued were taken out through a shaft that the fire did not reach. The flames are still raging below, and the bodies of three miners cannot be got out. Twenty mules also perished. The loss by fire will be $75,000.

A Generous Gift.

Chicago, June 13 .- The largest gift yet bestowed in this country upon either the Volunteers or the Salvation Army has been made to Commander Ballington Booth's army, the Volunteers, by Mrs. Julia C. If you were thrall to sorrow, And I were page to joy, We'd play for lives and seasons With loving looks and treasons And tears of night and morrow And laughs of maid and boy; If you were thrall to sorrow, And I were page to joy. If you were April's lady,

And I were lord in May, We'd throw with leaves for hours And draw for days with flowers Till day like night were shady And night were bright like day; If you were April's lady, And I were lord in May. If you were queen of pleasure,

And I were king of pain, We'd hunt down love together, Pluck out his flying feather, And teach his feet a measure And find his mouth a rein; If you were queen of pleasure, And I were king of pain. -Algernon Charles Swinburne.

The Satisfied Man.

Oh, blessed is he, the satisfied man Who liveth upon the contentment plan, Who hankereth not for all he sees And isn't a hard old nut to please. Oh, blessed is he, thrice blest, I say The happy go lucky bright soul of today!

The satisfied man, would I were he, Contented, unselfish, long living and free, With never a burden to bear him down And never upon his face a frown. Oh, blessed is he, thrice blest, I say, The happy go lucky bright soul of today!

The satisfied man, he is not rich. Mayhap you will find him at work in a ditch He worries at nothing and sings of his work And tells you it's easier to work than to shirk

JUDGE ISAAC H. MAYNARD. Isaac H. Maynard was born in Bovina, April 9, 1838. He was a member of the state assembly in 1877, and for some time served on the county bench. In 1883 he was the Democratic candidate for secretary of state, but was defeated. In 1885 he became assistant attorney general of New York, and on June 1, in that year, President Cleveland appointed him second comptroller of the treasury. In 1887 he was appointed assistant secretary of the treasury. In 1892 Governor Flower of New York appointed him judge of the ourt of appeals, and in September, 1893, he was again appointed to fill the vacancy among the associate justices. caused by the election of Judge Andrews to the chief justiceship. In October of the same year he was nominated by the Democrats for the office of judge of the ourt of appeals, but was defeated at the polls in November.

Inflammatory Rheumatism:

OFFICE OF J. F. GREER, COUNTY JUDGE, & Green Cove Springs, Clay Co., Fla.
GENTLEMEN: Twenty-three years ago I was attacked with inflammatory rheumatism. I was attended by the most eminent physician in the land. I visited the great Saratoga Springs, N. Y., the noted Hot Springs of Arkansas, and many other watering places, always consulting with the local physicians for directions, and finally came to Florida, ten years ago. About two years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, was confined to my room for twelve weeks, and during that time was induced to try P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, knowing that each ingredient was good for impurities of the blood. After useing two small bottles I was relieved. At four different times since I have had slight attacks and each time I have taken two small bottles of P. P. P., and have been relieved, and I consider P. P. the best medicine of its kind. Respectfully, J. F. GREER.

A Manchester Man Gets Rid of an Old Time Enemy.

He Fought It For Ten Long Years In Vain.

Ex-Rep. John Eaton Cives the Facts In the Case.

From the Manchester, N. H., Mirror.

John Eaton, whose store is at 1069 Elm street, has been in the cigar business in Manchester for over eight years. During the war he served in the Second New Hampshire Regiment, and also in the Fourth Regiment. A few years ago his fellow-citizens showed their respect for him by sending him as representative to the State Legislature. Not only the personal friends of Mr. Eaton, but many of his business neighbors, know what a sufferer he has been for many years past and by what an effort he remained in active life. A few months ago his condition was so serious that it was even thought that he was going to die. His face showed the signs of the digestive trouble which seemed to be beyond the reach of human aid.

Today he not only looks, but is a healthy, robust man, and he does not hesitate to explain how so great a change was brought about. Here is his state-

"For 10 years I suffered as much as anyone can suffer and still be on his feet. The trouble was that gas formed in my stomach, and nothing I could do would relieve it. There were many kinds of food I could not eat at all, and even with a careful diet I could not escape pain. Sometimes a glass of water would be more than I could bear. The stomach trouble caused nervousness and such distress at night that sometimes I would walk the floor for hours before I could go to sleep.

"I went to some of the best doctors in Manchester, but they could not help my stomach. I tried taking bismuth after my meals, but even that did no good. Then I tried a great many other things, but they all failed. Hardly a week passed that I was not driven to make some new experiment, although it seemed a hopeless case.

"One day, some weeks ago, when I was feeling especially miserable, a friend suggested that I try Puritana, and he at once went out and got me a bottle. As soon as I took the first dose I felt that it was doing me good. And it did.

"It removed the stomach trouble completely. I am no longer troubled with the gas, and can eat and sleep as well as any man. For years I could not eat baked beans, although I am very fond eat beans or any other food that I want.

"Last summer I only weighed 121 pounds. Now I weigh over 170, and am still gaining at the rate of a pound a week. I am heavier today than I ever friends of McKinley, and the men who was before, in spite of the fact that I am | are now here approve them. I have told a number of people what Puritana has done for me, and I find that it by the most extreme gold men, who want is helping them in the same way. These are the facts in my case in a nutshell.

"JOHN EATON. "Manchester, N. H."

Mr. Eaton referred to Mr. John Hall, the druggist, who said that the facts were too well known to need corroboration. Such cases are being reported. constantly, and they prove the claims that are made for Puritana. conference was held in Senator Quay's room last night, at which Senator Quay himself, Mark Hanna, Mr. Hahn, national committeeman from Ohio; Hosylvania were present, and at which it should retire from the contest for the presidency. He said that the contests. which were now under consideration by the national committee, were of little or no consequence, because the McKinleyites had over 500 uncontested votes, making it evident that the people demanded his nomination. He acquiesce in the suggestion that McKinley should be nominated by acclamation, and the sooner the convention performed its duty and adjourned the better.

The slow progress made by the national Republican committee in disposing of contests continues to excite the concern of members of the committee They realize the condition of affairs as well as, or better than any one else, and are continually making resolves to press along with greater celerity, but these are apparently forgotten in the heat of controversy over particular cases, and formal resolutions to expedite work are lost in discussion. The committee began by deciding to grant 15 minutes to each side in the case of all contesting delegations, but at the beginning of yesterday's session reduced the time to 10 minutes. Notwithstanding this change, only three contests, involving six seats were decided during the forenoon session. The reason for this tardiness is found in the fact that the time taken from the contestants, and more, was consumed by members of the committee

Up to 11 o'clock last night the committee had taken action upon contests involving 96 seats in the forthcoming Republican national convention, leaving 70 still to be passed upon. Of these 96, 36 were disposed of yesterday. The 36 included the contests on the delegates-atlarge from the states of Delaware and Louisiana and the territory of Arizona. and districts from Virginia, Mississippi and Alabama.

It is generally believed that the declaration in favor of the gold standard in the Republican platform will be very emphatic and unequivocal. When the men from the east reach St. Louis they will find that the close friends of Mc-Kinley are ready to offer them a financial plank that they can agree upon without hesitancy.

Several drafts of a platform have been prepared, and it is now believed that a form has been secured which will be satisfactory. It will declare against the free coinage of silver, unless it should be brought about by international agreement. No ratio is mentioned. It will also declare that the Republicans are against the debasement of the currency, and are therefore in favor of the present gold standard.

The Republican party will be given credit for having brought about the resumption act, which has also maintained every dollar at a parity, whether coin or paper, and that the standard of money should be as it always has been, and is now, equal to that of the most enlightened nations of the world. Those declarations embody the wishes of the lution should be changed it will be by the committee on resolutions or the convention itself, but this is not likely, because it contains all that is asked for except a straight single gold standard declaration and nothing more. There is some opposition to the reference to an in ternational agreement, but those who desire that language inserted in the resolution say that the party should not place itself in opposition to the coinage of silver under an international agreement if such an arrangement could be made, but the party is not to be pledged to bring about such an agreement which is a contention of some of the delegations. It is believed by those who have examined the proposed financial resolution that it will meet every demand that can be made by the eastern nen, and that it will be incorporated into the platform when adopted.

It has been positively denied that the

McKinley management has urged the selection of Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks CUY'S COLISEUM-Just of Indiana for temporary chairman of the convention. Marcus A. Hanna so stated yesterday. He said that Mr. Fairbanks would be acceptable, and that was all. A good deal of talk in regard to matters has been caused by a circular letter which has been sent to every member of the national committee. The letter is made up from a newspaper interview with R. W. Thompson, a delegate-at-large from Indiana, in opposition to the selection of Mr. Fairbanks. A copy of the circular was sent to Mr. Hanna. When he read it he expressed regret that the affair had been carried to such an extreme. "I wish it distinctly understood," said Mr. Hanna, "that at no time, nor in any place, have I stated that it was the wish of the McKinley management that Mr. Fairbanks should be selected as temporary chairman. The impression that I had forecasted this selection grew out of a newspaper dispatch sent from Indianapolis on the night I passed through that city. That interview made me state that I anticipated the selection of Mr. Fairbanks as temporary chairman. I did not so state, and said nothing upon this subject that could be distorted into such a statement. "The suggestion of Mr. Fairbanks as temporary chairman of the convention, came from various sections of the country, partly from members of the national committee, whose attention to Indiana had been called by its financial plank, in the platform adopted by that state convention some weeks since. That plank met with so much approval that it was believed to be wise to choose a chairman from Indiana, and as Mr. Fairbanks had been the recognized author of the financial plank of the Indiana platform, his name naturally came into the minds of Folsom prison yesterday.

others who read it, and it thus occurred to suggest Mr. Fairbanks for the position. When we were approached upor the subject we simply said that Mr. Fairbanks would be acceptable. He has been urged for the honor, by those who thought the speech of the temporary chairman should partake largely of the financial question.

When the Republican state convention of Colorado was in session I telegraphed them that I did not desire to go to St. Louis, but that if my party sent me I would not support a gold standard candidate for president on a gold standard platform, or on a platform of doubtful import, or in other words, a straddle. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 14. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-What think ye of Christ?-Math. xvi,

In the topical reference Jesus, in the region of Cæsarea Philippi, asks His disciples, "Who do men say that I, the Son of Man, am?" and then, "Whom national committee stated that there say ye that I am?" and Peter answers, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the

Jesus Christ claimed to be the Son of God to a special sense-divine. This cannot be denied. Because of this claim the keynote of the campaign, should pay view of the claim to divinity, He was no attention to any local issue of rivalry, one of three things: (1) a fanatic, one who really thought He was divine be cause of some derangement of his mind, though He was not; (2) an impostor, or (3) divine—what he claimed to be. Which was He? 1. Was Christ a fanatic? Was He a acceptable to their delegations for the religious enthusiast, whose mind was anbalanced and who falsely thought He was God's Son? This has been charged. His family said, "He is beside Himself." The Pharisees said, "He hath a demon and is mad," and many modern critics look upon Christ as a religious Senator Teller was interviewed by The fanatic. This charge is false, as can be proved by considering the characteristies of a fanatic with Christ. 1. A man with a deranged mind seizes upon and magnifies one idea at the expense of all others. Christ did not do so. He taught duty to God, duty to state and duty to fellow men, the broadest idea of the duties of life that can be taken. 2. A fanatic makes extravagant claims which can never be fulfilled. Christ made apparently extravagant claims, but that they were not the claims of a fanatic has been proved by their fulfillment. Christ was not a fanatic.

2. Was Christ an impostor? This charge has been made, but it is false. 1. ed proves He was not an impostor. He founded His kingdom upon a cross. "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me." Impostors do not try to found kingdoms upon crosses, but upon cess proves He was not an impostor. An impostor might have deceived the ig-"Will any of the other silver senators | norant and superstitious, or even the not probable that the shrewdest of men could for 19 centuries have been deceiving the wisest of the world's wise men. 3. Approaching Nearer.

The nearer men and women approach Jesus Christ the nearer they approach one another. They find more in each other to be respected and liked. They learn to see life from one another's point of view, which begets sympathy and promotes good will. The more that Christ's spirit fills any heart the more the aims and interests which are merely those of this world grow to seem unimportant compared with those which have to do with the higher and eternal world as well as with this. - Congregationalist.

Devotion to Christ.

Personal devotion to Jesus Christ is the exercise of thought and of affection steadily directed upon His adorable per son. But it is also the exercise of will. It is pre-eminently practical. There is much to be abstained from for His sake. There is much to be done and to be enour doing nothing very definite, where the opportunities for action are so various and so complex.—Canon Liddon.

FOR THE FIRST TIME

March on England's Soil.

Bay State Ancient and Honorables Will Do It.

Their Trip Promises to Be a Grand One From Start to Finish.

Boston, June 13 .- The Ancient and Honorable Artillery company will, on whales. June 29, board the steamer Servia, en route for London, to visit the English "Honorables," who now comprise the parent organization of the Massachusetts body. The trip will be one of the most notable events in the history of any artillery organization in the United States. When the Servia reaches her destination a foreign body of 250 "armed men" will march upon English soil, and later on, for the first time in history, the same armed men will parade the streets of London, by permission of Queen Victoria.

The parent company, the Honorable Company of Artillery, was chartered in England in 1537, by Henry VIII, and the organization has been preserved by the descendants of the original members until now. The American branch, the original Massachusetts company of 41 members, under Captain Keayne, was by a bicyclist last night, and its legs cut chartered by Governor Winthrop in 1638. so badly that it may not recover.

About a year ago the London company sent a formal invitation to the Massa chusetts men to visit England. This invitation was accepted, and preparations were at once begun. During the whole 12 months, at meetings and smoketalks, by mail and messenger, plans for the trip have been under consideration, and all details are now practically completed. The company, 250 in number, will leave here on the Servia, which is to be sent here from New York for the purpose, at noon, Monday, June 29. They will probably reach Liverpool on July 6, where their hosts and the lord mayor will meet them. The customary inspection, by order of her majesty the queen, will be omitted, and the visitors will be escorted to a special train on the London and Northwestern railroad, which will hurry them along very smoothly for four hours through the fresh and picturesque Midland scenery to Euston station, London. Thence the Americans will be conducted to their quarters in the new Hotel Cecil, on the Thames embankment.

July C is Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday will be taken up with business sessions of the organization, and with the enjoyment of any program the Londoners may suggest. On Thursday the parade will occur, to be followed in the evening by the grand banquet of the Americans, tendered to the English company, in the new King's hall, at Holborn restaurant. In this marble and crimson hall the Massachusetts Ancients will meet leading representatives of the English government and of her social life The Prince of Wales will be present, to extend a welcome to the visitors, and the exchange of speeches will make the evening memorable, and probably the greatest event of the London visit. Friday and Saturday will be spent in London sight-seeing, under the guidance of the London artillery men. For the remainder of the visit, a choice of six rare journeys has been offered. The two favorite routes are those including Paris, the Rhine and Belgium, and Paris with a tour of Switzerland and Mount Blanc. Some of the visitors, however, will not join these excursions, but will spend of larceny. most of their time about London, with side trips on the river, to the lakes, or to Ireland and Scotland. When sight-seeing is over, the Ancient and Honorable Bourne, Mass. Artillery company of Massachusetts will reassemble at Liverpool, bid a farewell to England and their English comrades, and, on July 23, will sail on their return to the States.

On the morning of sailing, the Ancients the Peck Murder.

Hartford, June 11.-Caspar Hartlein, who murdered Louise Marie Trebbe at Manchester, last February, was yester day afternoon sentenced by Judge John hanged at the state prison, Dec. 3, 1896.

The only witness for the defense was the prisoner, who said that he remembered nothing about the murder, and did not know that he had killed Miss Trebbe He told how much he loved the girl. Th prisoner denied the statement of the murdered girl's sister, that he had placed his hands on her hips and put his arms around her a short time before he killed

The defense was that Hartlein was so crazed with love that he was not responsible for what he did. About a half hour after it retired the jury returned with a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree

When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon 6.44, 7.30, 8 30, 8.44, 9.30, 10.30, 10 44, 11.30, him, Hartlein replied that he was not A. Where to Go for Vacation.

Suggestive of green fields, bright with clover blossoms, are the covers of the handbook of Vermont and Lake Champlain vacation resort for 1896, just issued by the passenger department of the Central Vermont railroad. As one scans the pages of bright descriptive text within, embellished with beautiful half-tone engravings, he can almost imagine himself in that glorious summer country, drinking in the fragrance of blossoming meadows and the health-giving breezes from the great green paper, the book is indeed a gem of the printer's and illustrator's art and is an eloquent sermon in behalf of Vermont as the summer paradise of New England. A Great Hurrah All Along the Line.

A Dinner, Speeches, Band Concert and Fire Works

Saturday saw the opening of another extension of the Quincy and Boston street railway, this time it being the extension from Thomas corner, North Weymouth, to Fort Point, which is Weymouth's famous summer resort. The new line is something less than two miles in length, but it runs argain. Remember these SPECIAL along a picturesque route which affords an excellent view of old ocean.

goes without saying, for Fort Point has long been a favorite resort and the only thing that has held it back has been the GUY'S COLISEUM-Easy lack of means to reach it. Now that has

> It was three o'clock Saturday afternoon when three of the new cars, numbers 41, 42 and 45 left City Square, Quincy, having on board Superintendent Weeks and several of the directors. These cars went direct to East Weymouth where the Weymouth band was found in waiting. The band occupied one car, and the enthusiastic people another, and at 3 30 the start was made for

The band car lead the way and discoursed lively music, while those in the other cars made things lively with their were received with shouts and cheers all along the line, and reached their destination shortly after four o'clock.

Cars were then run at frequent intervals between Thomas' corner and Fort Point and every car went down loaded. As the hour for the fish dinner drew near, many of Quincy's well known business men were seen to alight from the cars and head toward Anderson's. They had been there many times before and thus knew from experience of the good dinner that awaited

The dinner was served about 5.30 and at that hour every available seat at Mr. Anderson's tables were filled and there were many who would have liked to have partaken but could not at this table for

The dinner was excellent and consisted of the many things that are usually served with a first class dinner, and that it was an enjoyable dinner none who partook can

The supper was served about 5.30 and before the attack was made on the many good things Rev. Allan Hudson, chaplain of the Quincy & Boston street railway, invoked the divine blessing, and then for an hour all were busy.

After supper Henry A. Thomas, private secretary to Gov. Wolcott, called order, and spoke briefly of the street railway service in Weymouth and of the great benefit the town had already derived from them, and the benefit that the town was to receive from the new extensions that now connected by an electric road. Al- batted well. though so near that its band concert was heard and its fireworks seen, it is an eight mile ride from Houghs Neck.

We have had the second stormy Sunday,

The Hull club had a fine day Saturday for its opening race, and there were thirteen starters in the four classes. The wind was due east and fresh. By actual time the order of finish was: Third class,-Privateer, Beatrice. Fifth class,-Opechee Rooster, Swirl, Kayoshk. Sixth class,-Spinx, Cocheco, Knockabouts,-Tautog, Torpedo, Jacktar, LaChica, Spinster.

A party of six from Brockton left Houghs Neck about 2 A. M. Sunday for a fishing trip and there were grave apprehensions for them throughout Sunday as they did not return. They arrived however this morning having had a thrilling experience. They were rescued from ship wreck by Portugese on Peddock's island and were obliged to stay there until the storm abated.

The Beatrice got away during the storm and carried away bow sprit and top mast, also running into a steamer. She was taken to the Rock Island cove. Other boats got adrift.

Children's Sunday.

Children's Sunday was observed at the Vollaston Congregational church on Sunday forenoon, notwithstanding the severe storm. The pulpit was tastefully decorated with hemlock and daisies. The principal exercises were given by the primary class. There was an excellent address by the pastor, the Rev. Edward A. Robinson. There were to have been eleven children baptized, but the severity of the storm prevented all but four being present, so that the services will to a certain extent be repeated on next Sunday, when it is hoped that the Rev. Rufus B. Tobey will deliver an address upon the work of the Floating Hospital. A collection will be taken in aid of that worthy object.

The singing was exceedingly well rendered, the choir being assisted by a sextette nor crushing, but mohair is cool and much the better choice for stout women, since H. Nickerson, Miss Avice E. Williams, Miss Mabel H. Winship, Miss Harriet V.

But Efforts Are Said to Have Been Made to Influence a Jury.

Serious Charge In Hallet Manslaughter Case.

Offenders Alleged to Be Known and Will Be Brought to Justice.

Northampton, Mass., June 15 .- One of the most serious charges ever made in the history of the courts of Hampshire nection with the sitting of the superior court grand jury last week. It is reported that an attempt was made to influence jurymen in the case of manslaughter against Charles Hallett.

The matter was first reported to District Attorney Hammond on Monday, Hartford to mark the event when a juryman informed him that h had been approached in regard to the case. The jury found no indictment, and an investigation was at once instituted by State Detective Munian and Sheriff Clark. It has been learned that over two-thirds of the jury were "seen" in Hallett's interest. No money was of-9.30, 10.30, 11.30 A. M.; 12.30, 1.35, 2.30, 3.40, fered in any case, but influence was 4.30, 5.40, 6.30, 7,30, 8.30, P. M.

The men who approached the jury are known to District Attorney Hammond and Sheriff Clark, and these officers state they will do everything in their power to bring the offenders to justice. Some leniency may be shown, because of the nature of the case. Charles Hallett, 16 years old, accidentally shot his sister tree and Quincy, on the hour and half hour. last fall, but was brought into court because the officers felt that the accident was due to criminal carelessness.

Ruined In Wall Street.

Boston, June 15 .- A young man, who was once a millionaire, and who lost his all in Wall street, died yesterday at a lodging house in South Boston. A Carnival of Drunkenness.

Lewiston, Me., June 15 .- Mayor Noble's order to close up the rumshops has gone into effect. The first thing that resulted prohibitory law was a carnival of drunkenness Saturday night. The streets were full of drunken men. Yesterday the police made eight seizures, and they say they intend to keep it up until not a drop of liquor can be obtained in the city. The most respectable places made no attempt to sell, the places raided being kitchen barrooms. It is said the dealers along the principal streets have disposed of their stock, and will wait to see what comes from the order.

Bad Scare at Habana.

Habana, June 15.-This city was startled and alarmed Saturday night at 9 o'clock by the noise of two successive explosions, which shook the ground for a long distance, and was heard for several miles. Consternation prevailed for a time, as it was feared that this was a prelude to an attack, or to a series similar explosions. Excited throngs rushed to the streets, while an armed party proceeded in the direction from which the detonations had been heard It was found that the stone bridges at Cristina and Concha, and the aqueduct of Fernando Septimo, were the points that had suffered from the dynamite The bridges were partially destroyed, and the pipes on the aqueduct, upon which the city is dependent for its water supply, were much damaged. The windows in many houses in the city were shattered by the reverberation of the explosion, and some market structures were also badly damaged.

It is less than three weeks ago that Colonel Cockerill's body was buried at St. Louis. tion. Bernachez admitted the crime, but His widow was reported to have been prostrated on receipt of the news, and was sick for several days. The ceremony which transformed Mrs. Cockerill into Mrs. Lienau was performed by Justice of the Peace McCullough of Ho boken. Mr. Lienau is a very rich man.

Serious Trouble Ahead.

Cleveland, June 15 .- At 10 o'clock last night 300 striking quarrymen marched out of the village of Berea, 14 miles from here, bound for North Amherst, where several hundred quarrymen are still at work. The strikers were accompanied by 10 wagons, loaded with provisions and other supplies, and it is their purpose to lay siege to the North Amherst quarries and induce the men to quit, peacefully, if possible, by other means it fight between "Scaldy" Bill Quinn and necessary. The company marched in Dick O'Brien, scheduled to be held on military order, and went by an unfrequented road. The authorities have been anticipating trouble, and a large force of deputy sheriffs has been on duty at North Amherst. Serious trouble is Spaniards' Report of the First Night Attack of the Revolution.

Habana, June 15 .- Details of the recent engagement near Juruco have been re ceived here. The earlier information was in a brief telegraphic summary. At 8:30 of the evening of May 22, General Ochoa, in command of the Spanish forces at Juruco, received information that a large band of insurgents had encamped on the Don Martin estate, six miles from Juruco. He selected a squadron of cavalry of the Galicia regiment, a detachment of the guerillas Guadelajara, with a small body of local volunteers, as well as some civilians who volunteered for the occasion. The instantly left for the enemy's camp The advance guard was composed of cavalry. General Ochoa issued imperative orders that the men must march in perfect silence

His command consisted of less than 20 men. After a march of six miles they reached the camp of the insurgents. The advance line of the cavalry reported that the enemy was encamped on a small hiil. As the cavalry approached it, the insurgent outpost sentry challenged-'Quien Va?" (Who goes there? "Cuba" (the insurgent password) promptly replied the mulatto guide of the royalists. Meanwhile the cavalry had unsheathed their machetes. "Let one advance," said the sentry, when another sentry near by called out "Fire. There are a lot of them." His alarm was too late. General Ochoa had advanced his command. The insurgents were sleeping soundly, but a few sentrie were on duty. A night attack was wholl new to them. Next the regulars, volunteers and civilians gave voice to the war cry, "Viva Espana." Instantly, within the insurgent camp, all was confusion. The cavalry were amongst them, cutting right and left.

"Al machete," commanded Major Prada of the regulars: "Al machete" wa given by Captain Alcoso of the volun teers; "Al machete" repeated the others when the whole command swept ami

The night favored the royalists, the whole landscape was bathed in clear tropical moonlight, and the Cuban volum teers placed their machetes with ef fectiveness. Many insurgents rushed frantically about. Riderless horses wer racing in all directions, adding to the confusion. Machetes flashed in the moonlight, and pistol shots were heard The royalist cavalry and infantry placed their machetes with death-dealing precision. In 20 minutes not a living insur gent was in sight. Their dead remaine as mute witnesses of the conflict. Th insurgents comprised 600 soldiers. The royalists had but one wounded. An examination of the insurgen camp resulted in the finding of 20 deadall whites. A large number of dead horses, 16 horses and two uninjured mules were captured, including saddles revolvers and Winchester rifles. Am munition must have been scarce, as only

At 1 o'clock in the morning, General Ochoa and his soldiers were back in Juruco, highly elated with the success of their night attack. On arriving at the main plaza, or square, of the town, General Ochoa congratulated officers and This was the first night attack on

The Massachusetts delegates held a caucus yesterday, and agreed upon the following organization: Chairman, E. Guild, Jr., is said to be the choice of the vention. It developed during the caucus as a unit for president and platform, and probably vice president, but in the latter the delegation will have no choice until Reed is either nominated or de-

One important question remaining unsettled is that of the selection of a vice presidential candidate. Next to the financial plank, the filling of this place on the ticket has engaged the greatest share of speculative attention during the week, but, apparently, opinion has not been so well crystallized on this subject as upon others. The names of many candidates have been suggested, including those of Hobart of New Jersey, Morton and Tracey of New York, Bulkeley and Hawley of Connecticut, Hastings of Pennsylvania, H. C. Evans of Tennes M. H. DeYoung of California and D. R. Brown of Rhode Island.

A distinctive portion of the gossip was a tendency among the supporters of Mc-Kinley to throw the nomination for the vice presidency to some man who might be selected by the opposition. This turn in the talk had the effect of the increasing to some extent the movement in the interest of Mr. Dingley of Maine, be cause of his close relationship with Mr.

The attitude of Mr. Platt is believed to preclude the possibility of his having a controlling influence in throwing of the nomination to New York, even if he should have any desire to figure in that capacity. Senator Allison's supporters being western men, as is Governor Mc-Kinley a western man, the inadvisability of giving the second place to one of his supporters in case of the nomination of McKinley is generally urged.

The agitators of the Dingley move-

$5,500 SUBURBAN VILLA.

Comfortable and Convenient Frame Residence-Very Desirable. (Copyright, 1896, by George Palliser, 32 Park place, New York.)

When you set to build yourself a home or any building, see to it that you do not get up for the amusement of your neighbors what they will term an "architectural aberration," for this class of building is quite numerous enough without adding thereto. It is generally the know it all this class of structure, and where ignorance is bliss it is folly to be wise, and criticism is wasted on such.

The country is full of these aberrations, and they may be seen on every hand.

There is the freak house of many styles, like hash of several varieties mixed together, bound to tickle the palate of the smart man who designed it as well as those who believe in his ability as a master mind. There is the freak in all classes and kinds of building, and it is only a well trained and settled mind that can discriminate between the good and bad and avoid

The Monster Convention Soon to Be Held In Boston.

DELEGATES FROM ALL AMERICA.

10,000,000 Scholars and Teachers-Plans For Enlarged and Improved Sunday School Work-The Lesson Schedule.

Representatives of the 140,000 Sabbath schools of North America will gather at Boston on June 23 to attend the eighth international Sunday school convention. There will be 2,000 regularly appointed delegates present, but they will be accompanied by so many friends and others interested in the work to entertain fully 10,000 persons.

These delegates represent Sunday schools scattered all over the United States and the British provinces, with bers these are. But that is what these delegates talk about. You would learn, should you attend the convention, that the figures given are compiled from actual statistics which are gathered ery of the International Sunday School bringing in these outsiders. It is not stated whether these statistics are made up along about Christmas time or during the picnic season, when the Sunday school tide is at its highest, or during normal periods, but it is probable that the figures are conservative.

Besides the international convention, which is a triennial gathering, this is also the thirtieth annual national convention. The general objects of the convention are to improve and enlarge the field of Sunday school work. The great ambition of the delegates is to hit upon some plan for gathering in the millions of children who for various reasons do not attend Sunday schools. The organization is wholly interdenominational, and Baptists, Methodists and Presbyterians, as well as members of other churches, work in harmony together. The question of creeds is never brought up and so there are no clashes arising from this source.

One of the most interesting features of this association is the thoroughness with which it is organized. It is a great ence in a most praiseworthy cause. The delegates come from every part of the continent. Pastors, teachers and officers of all Protestant evangelical Sunday schools are entitled to participate, but the official delegates are chosen by the state territorial and provincial conven-

The international executive committee is composed of 60 members, one from each of the states, territories and provinces. The members are elected at the triennial conventions upon recommendation of the local annual conventions. They hold office for three years. During the interval between the international conventions the executive committee meets annually to direct the work. This committee also has a subdivision, known as the central committee, which meets as often as called together by the chair-

The work is divided into two partsthe work of ingathering and the work of upbuilding or the increase and the conventions and institutes, with two great auxiliaries, called "The Home Class Department" and the "House to House Visitation." What the work of delegates were present representing but 3-in. Bicycle Cleaner, these two divisions consists of is indicated by the titles they bear.

When the international convention convenes and gets down to business everything will be conducted according to

To these smaller conventions are sent qualified workers, either paid or voluntary, who bring to the remote or weaker Sunday schools a knowledge of the best methods of working. They expound plans for the systematic visits to every home in the district and show how elegant the first and show how how the systematic and syst show how home classes may be formed. They Will Represent 140,000 Schools and It is the object of the general association to have this organization complete throughout the country and the question of how to obtain this is discussed at the triennial conventions by men of wide experience.

According to a recent report prepared by Chairman B. F. Jacobs of the executive committee, the work of organization is considered thorough in 16 states and provinces, good in 15 states and provinces and partial in 26 states, territories and provinces, while Alaska, that the Hub will find itself called upon ldaho and Nevada are unorganized. Salaried workers to the number of 48 are employed but many more are needed.

"It is a startling statement," says Mr. Jacobs, "but 1,000,000 of the colored children of this country are not in a school of any kind and one-half the children and youth of America do not attend Sunday school. To enable the executive committee to extend and improve its work we ask $25,000 annually in special contributions."

interesting features of the organization, (3) Reasonable Prices. is the international Sunday school lesson (4) Equitable Methods. committee and its work. It is composed of 15 members, representing the larger denominations, who are elected for terms of six years each. A new committee will be chosen at the coming convention, which lends to it an unusual interest. This committee meets annually and selects the Sunday school lessons which are studied every Sabbath by millions of scholars. For each week in the year they select a certain number of verses from the Bible, which form the basis of the lesson, and give to each selection an appropriate title. To this is appended a text from another part of the Bible, a pertinent passage, which is called the golden text. This material is first submitted to the whole committee and then given to the various publishers. When the lesson is printed in the various ways, it has a wide distribution. It reaches the Sunday school scholar in a variety of forms. It may be handed out by the teacher in the shape of a leaflet, ments and explanations of the lesson are made by ministers employed by the different publishers to do the work. The lesson committee has arranged a course that will cover the Scriptures in six

It is estimated that fully 20,000,000 copies of the international Sunday school lesson are used each Sabbath in various parts of the world. Of course they must be selected to meet a variety of demands, and the committee try to make them generally acceptable. To this end they give a hearing, before making their selections, to the various organizations, such as the Institute of Sacred Literature, the International Primary Teachers' union, the American Sunday School union, the Lesson Writers' and Publishers' union and to denominational societies. After the diverging views of these associations have been expressed the committee consider their recommendations and give them

The sessions of the international convention will be held in the beautiful new Tremont temple, which was recently dedicated, and in the Park Street church. Two sessions will be held each day for three days. Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, will have charge of the opening services, and will also speak for 20 minutes each noon at the Park Street church.

When Mrs. Burnett Was Little.

Writing in The Youth's Companion the author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" says: "I was a shy child and a proud one, and it never occurred to me to ask advice or help of any one. I knew no one who was in the least literary, and if felt it quite out of the question to talk of my small affairs to them. I never talked to any one but my little sisters, who thought my stories adorable.

"Somehow I felt quite sure that if I could do anything I must do it myself. I was not in the least sure that what I could do was of any consequence, but I knew it was harmless and that I could live on what I earned by it if I worked hard enough.

"I have sometimes been asked who 'encouraged' me in those days; but, as I have just said, I did not ask any one to encourage me. I lived quite in the country and quite without neighbors. I knew very few people indeed. I had no library and knew no one who had one.

"I remember with a great feeling of gratitude a man who lent me a book, from what impulse of kindness I could not explain. He was a young man and scarcely knew me at all except as one of three little girls who wore shabby calico frocks and worn shoes and lived in a little frame house on some land which belonged to him."

CENTENARY CELEBRATION OF THE AYRSHIRE POÉT'S DEATH.

Memorial Observances That Will Attract Scotsmen From All Over the World to the Banks of the Bonny Doon-A Statue to Highland Mary.

On July 21 it will be just a century since the death of Robert Burns, On that day not only all of Scotland will revive the memories of the beloved poet, but Scotsmen will gather from the four quarters of the earth to take part in or witness the centenary memorial celebrations. And not only on the banks of bonny Doon and in other parts of Scotland, but in every country where the Enlgish language is spoken, will the memory of the Ayrshire poet be brought to mind.

From this country, where perhaps there are almost as many of old Scotia's sons as in the Land o' Cakes itself, will go large delegations for the pur pose of participating in the celebration. ica will send representatives, who will gather at various places in their native land. Andrew Carnegie, who is the honorary president of the New York Scottish society, will go, of course, as will many other noted sons of Scotland. Many hundreds, if not thousands, will cross the sea mainly for the purpose of seeing the memory of their favorite poet honored on the familiar heath.

All of Scotland, highland and lowland, will celebrate. The birthday of Burns has been for years almost a national holiday there, but this year is to be a Burns year above all others. In the known. That wraps my Highland Mary. The statue can be seen for miles up and down the river and marks one of I had known such persons I should have the many historic spots in the neighborhood. The artist who executed the work is D. W. Stevenson, R. S. A., who took the details of the costume from the works of David Allen, who well knew Highland Mary and was, in his day, famous for his illustrations of Scottish life and scenes, so it may safely be said that the statue is historically correct. Just across the waters of the Clyde is the Ayrshire coast which is replete with memories of Burns. In the city of Ayr itself stands a fine statue of the poet which was unveiled a few years ago. Not far from this statue, just outside the town, is the humble cottage in which Burns was born. The "auld clay biggin" is now a cherished spot and is religiously cared for by a society which, with true Scottish thrift, charges small admission to each visitor to the shrine of poesy. The cottage stands today, it is said, as it did when, on that cold windy day in January, 1759, "rantin, rovin Robin" first saw the light. Even now you can readily see in what intense poverty Burns must have lived. There are only two rooms in the house outside of those used as a barn. It was in the kitchen where Burns was born. The roof is low and is scarcely six feet from the floor of broken flagstone. There is a fireplace on one side, where the family cooking was done, and the bed is made in a deep ledge, beside it. A table and some chairs constitute the furniture of the room. It was here, as the poet himself has described it, that he was born, when

ORIGIN OF A RACE.

Æacus was the king of Ægina, an island rich in beauty and fertile in production. Heavy wooded hills sloped gently down to broad, rolling meadows, where the muffled sound of the plow made pleasant music in the long spring and summer days. The fig tree grew and was rich with its golden fruit all the year round. Banana and cocoanut, palm and plane tree flourished, and the vine trailed and wound its arms about the strong tree for support, for it was ever laden with Inscious grapes. Bright streams flashed in the sunlight, rushing brooks danced down the shaded rocks, calm lakes reflected the peace of heaven.

And to Keep Alive the Patriotic Spirit of 1776.

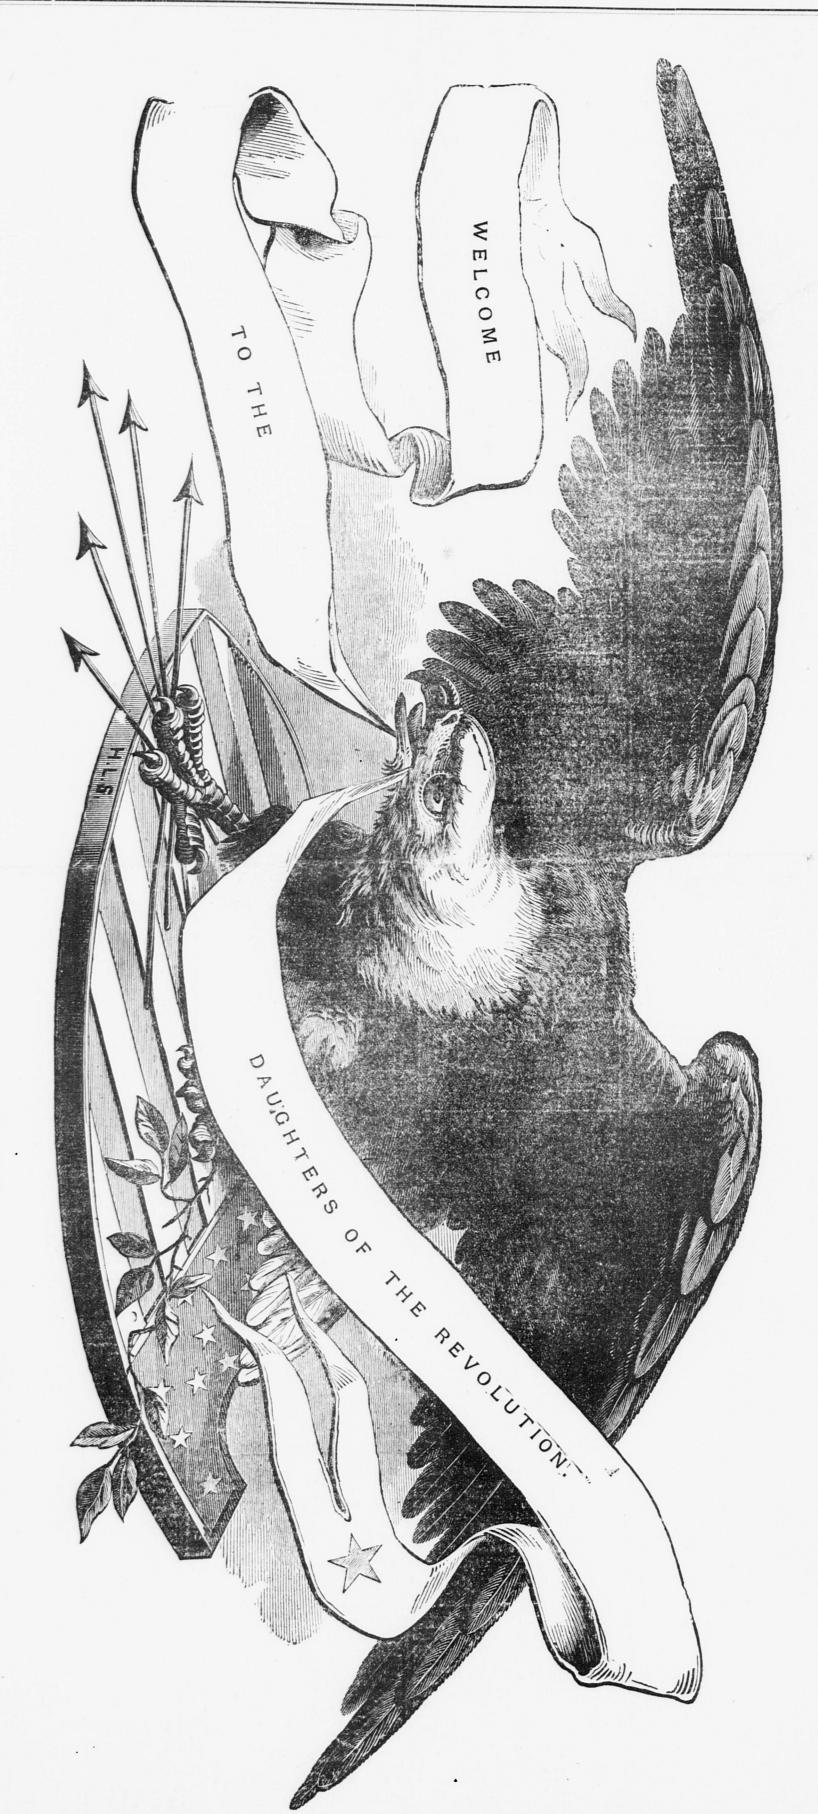

The Delineator, that excellent ournal of fashion, culture and fine arts, is publishing a series of papers on the patriotic societies, and a very timely one in connection with the elebration of Adams chapter in this ity this week, is an illustrated sketch of the Daughters of the Revlution by Carolyn Halsted, The DAILY LEDGER is unable to give the portraits of the general officers which company it-the president, vice president, secretary general and historian, but by kind permission of the Butterick Publishing Company a portion of the paper is reproduced, and will be full of interest to our patriotic readers:

"One of the foremost organizations of women banded togethor for a patriotic purpose is the General Society of the Daughters of the Revolution, founded by Mrs. Flora Adams Darling. It is affiliated in name, object, requirements for membership and cordially helpful association with the masculine order of the Sons of the Revolution-after the Society of the Cincinnati, the first instituted (1875) of the now numerous patriotic orders. A New York Society of Daughters of the Revolution was organized August 30, 1890. The general Society was organized in the City of New York, September 9, 1891, and has steadily numbering some three thousand nembers, with chapters in most of he states throughout the Union.

The Objects of the Order Are: To keep alive among its members and their descendants the patriotic spirit of the men and women who chieved American independence; to ollect and secure for preservation be manuscript rolls, records and her documents relating to the Revolutionary War to provide a lace for their preservation and a fund for their purchase; to encourage istorical research in relation to the Revolution and to publish the results; to promote and assist in the proper celebration of prominent events relating to or connected with the struggle for liberty; and to advance a friendly social intercourse and the feeling of fellowship among its members. The Society has a philanthropic side as well, a secondary aim being to provide a home for and to furnish assistance to such as may be impoverished and who can prove their eligibility to membership in the organization.

"Any woman above the age of eighteen years is eligible to membership in the Society (always provided that she is acceptable as a women of refinement and upright character,) if she can satisfactorily prove her lineal descent from an ancestor who served his country during the Revolutionary period, as a military, naval or marine officer or private, always remaining loyal to the American cause. Other ancestors from whom eligibility may be deprived are signers of the Declaration of Independence, members of the Continental Congress or the congress of any of the original Colonies or

"A candidate for membership should apply to the Secretary-General, at No. 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City, who will forward appliation blanks to be filled out, subscribed by the applicant, acnowledged before a notary and ndorsed by two members of the ociety or by two persons of recognized standing. After the applicant's references are investigated and found satisfactory, and her claims to descent from a Revolutionary ancestor who actually did something to promote the cause of independence have been carefully verified, she will receive official notification of the fact. The initiation fee is one dollar and the annual dues three dollars. The payment of fifty dollars relieves the member from any further payments during her life time.

The insigna and seal of the order are the same in design, a shield surmounted by an eagle, with the motto of the society: 'Liberty, Home and Country.' The insigna is of gold ornamented with darkblue enamel, and is worn suspended from a gold bar-pin inscribed with the name of the wearer's State, the suspension ribbon being in General Washington's colors, buff and blue. This badge costs ten dollars and the bar-pin three dollars and a half, but a buff-and-blue silk rosette identifies the wearer as a Daughter' quite as effectually as the expensive badge, though the latter is dearer to the fair patriot's heartand very naturally.

"The work of the Daughters of the Revolution along educational and social lines is being more and more appreciated as its far-reaching aims are recognized. Says its founder: We want a broader conception of liberty, a loftier vision of duty, a grander appreciation of life. A society like ours should be an educator, and by association lend an influence effectual and enduring. It is imperative and should be understood that in all social and official acts members should avoid even the semblance of sectional feeling or of political or religious partisanship, thereby the more effectually aiding to bring all descendants of the heroes of the Revolution together in this organization, whose watchword should be patriotism, pure and unalloyed."

The General Society is at work through its various chapters in a number of enterpises. In New Jersey the Summit Chapter lately offered two prizes to the pupils of the high schools and grammar schools throughout the State for the best essay on 'New Jersey During the Revolution.' 'The Character of Benjamin Franklin,' and 'The Genius in the Cause of American Independence Displayed by Israel Putnam.'

"The Long Island Chapter is raising a fund with which to build a worthy monument to the memory of of the prison ship martyrs buried at Fort Greene, in Washington Park, Brooklyn. Several thousand dollars are already on hand.

"In Philadelphia the 'Daughters' have succeeded in their appeal to the City Council's Committee on City Property, to be allowed the right to meet in the rooms on the second floor of Independence Hall.

A Novel and Interesting Event

Participated in by the members of the Massachusetts chapter was the raising of a cairn at Squantum Head, to commemorate the landing of Miles Standish two hundred and seventyfour years previous. The cairn was built on the hill and was formed of stones from the neighboring beach, each one of the members of the four societies assisting in the work with her own hands. A slab of polished Quincy granite set in the face of the cairn bore this inscription:

CAPT. MYLES STANDISH, With his men, guided by the Indian Squanto, Landed here September 30, 1621.

The Memorial is erected by the Daughters of the Revolution, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Quincy Historical and Bostoniana Societies, September 30, 1895.

The first threat of a ripple to mar the smooth march toward the nomination of Major McKinley came late last night, in the shape of a report that the Missouri delegates, owing allegiance to Chauncey I. Filley, had determined to break from McKinley to Reed. The first report was that five delegates had signed an agreement to vote for Reed, while others were preparing to do likewise.

This development grew out of the defeat of Filley for the post of national committeeman at yesterday's meeting of the Missouri delegation. The bitter fight which has been waged between the factions of Missouri Republicans, led by culminated at St. Joseph, May 12, when Filley swept everything before him in the three leaders, Chauncey M. held a conference last night to balance their account of votes. When they finished at midnight, Congressman J. F. Aldrich of Chicago said: "The Reed men are greatly encouraged by the day's developments. We calculate that Mr. Reed will poll 145 votes at the start. We have telegraphed for a lot of Reed supporters, who had intended to stay at home, asking them to come here at once. If we had another week, and the Reed sentiment continued to grow as it has today, we would win on the first bal-

The populace had its inning on the night before convention, with enough of the spectacular red fire, brazen marching music, uniforms, banners, transparencies and insane cheering to satiate the most expectant. Around every corner, in every hotel lobby and before the headquarters of states and candidates, the deafening changes were blown upon "Hail to the Chief," and "Marching Through Georgia," while the streets leading to the big hotels had but little elbowroom left for pedestrians bent on errands, other than sight-seeing. Chauncey I. Filley, the white bearded leader of Missouri Republicans, furnished the most unique and impressive spectacle of the night. For, although rejected by his state delegation, Filley retains a strong hold upon the popular demonstration in his honor be any criterion. There had been arranged several days ago a parade of the local Republican organizations for the delectation of visitors. The procession materialized with an abundance of marchers in the ranks, and it also became a tribute to Filley. Some 3000 men were in ine, nearly all of them carrying staves, his famous shovel-hat. Filley himself drawn by white horses, bowing continually and waving his hat along 10 tack, and the vote elected Mr. Platt by miles of the march. The Southern hotel balcony, where the Reed followers congregate, gave an ovation to the Filley turn-out while it passed, because reports that Filley was bolting to Reed placed him in the affections of the New Englanders. These New Englanders, or that part of them attached to the delegations of Maine, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, organized an impromptu demonstration to divert the crowds from the big McKinley meet-

Each of the states attached to its banners the legend:

"Solid as gold for Reed; solid as Reed for gold,' which had been adopted as the Reled slogan. Another center of interest was in a square near the Planters' hotel, where the Blaine club of Cincinnati had erected a bandstand, and furnished a

Miller denounced Platt. Depey suavely told Miller that he had mistaken his (Depew's) attitude, and Miller told Depew as politely as he could that he was a prevaricator, and had purposely misled him.

The arena for the battle had been arranged with the greatest care. When Mr. Depew stepped to the chair he faced a small circle of delegates, three deep. Right in the center sat Thurlow Barnes and Edward Lauterbach. To the right sat Warner Miller, surrounded by about 10 of the McKinley adherents. In the second row, on the right, sat Platt, and just in front of him, John Raines, of excise fame, sat leaning forward, awaiting the time when he could attack Miller The latter seemed to apprehend trouble but was evidently not prepared for th withdrawal of Depew from the race with Platt for the chairmanship of the delecation. The preliminary sparring over His defeat resulted in his followers Mr. Depew stated that he had misunderthat they at once fell into the trap laid The Merchants' League club paraded the streets last night, cheering for Reed. GROWTH OF THE HALL.

From a Simple Passage It Has Come to

Be the Principal Room. The ordinary older cottages, those of a marter of a century ago, were generally planned with a single entrance facing the approach. This opened from a porch into a passage rather than a hall, with the stairway starting a few paces within and running straight up against the side wall to Deacon Washington — George, dis right and left, with the dining room belooks mighty s'picious. Dose am Mistah | hind the one and the kitchen beyond the other. Between the last two came the butler's pantry and servants' stairs and

This, pure and simple, was the general pan from which the house started. Step by step it developed. First the passage was attacked, and, being broadened, became a hall. The staircase fell away from near the threshold to a less obtrusive place, with landings and returns, and windows opening upon them. As the hall grew the parlor, as its uses and purposes were more absorbed by the hall, became of less importance. The fireplace became a promi nent feature, and, placed in the hall and more elaborately treated, became an ingle nook, with the mantel over it forming an imposing chimney piece. Improving thus its separate features upon the old, the newer plan advanced farther in the disposition of these features. The new hall having become broad and ample, and the rendezvous and seat of the home life, took its position in the most desirable place in the advanced plan. The house grew up about it, following with the other features and details in their proper sequence, until Mr. Vandergould - Well, deacon, now, from the sum of all that has been that's mor'n I kin tole yer. Dar it am done, the resulting general plan, with its

The Programme.

Seventeenth by the Adams Chapter is very informal.

In the morning a committee of ladies will meet Company K and the City band in front of the Unitarian church.

At eleven o'clock Company K headed by the band will march to Payne's hill, where they will be met by another committee of ladies.

At the hill the band will play throughout the program; Company K will patrol the grounds and assist in the ceremonies.

Caterer Nash is to serve light refreshments in a large tent all the afternoon. Mrs. Nelson V. Titus, Regent of Adams Chapter, will open the exercises with a few remarks, which will be followed by speeches by Mayor Adams, Mr. Edwin Shepard Barrett, Hon. Charles Francis Adams, Mr. Henry H. Faxon, Mr. Edwin W. Marsh and music by the band.

After which the corner stone will be laid by Miss Abigail Adams, and the other stones by those present.

A flag is to be run up on the standpipe while Star Spangled Banner is sung, and there will be an interesting program throughout.

Decorations and Inscriptions.

Last summer several Quincy ladies discussed the idea of forming a local Chapter of the Society of the Daughters of the Revolution in Quincy, and straightway much interest was manifested and several sent for application papers. In January, on Monday the 27th, Miss Annie L. Prescott gave a large reception to the State Officers of the Society, and invited the Quincy ladies interested to be present. At this reception the local Chapter was organized with Mrs. Nelson V. Titus, Regent, and Miss Annie L. Prescott, Secretary.

Since the first business meeting the Adams Chapter has grown from five to nearly forty members, with as many more working in their application papers. In the fall a large increase of membership is looked for, as many ladies are to use their leisure time this summer looking up their ancestral record.

The oldest and most valued member of Adams Chapter is Miss Elizabeth Coombs 1 John and Abigail Adams. The Order Killed for the Paving of Copeland street.

An important meeting of the City Council was held Monday evening at which many public matters came up for consideration, including sewerage, water, soldiers monument, City Hall, Copeland street, etc., etc. The LEDGER gives an extended report.

The absent members were Councilmen Pinkham and Cleaves.

A communication was received from the Mayor in relation to the petition which he made to the Metropolitan Park Commission in relation to the care of that part of Randolph avenue which is within the boundary line of the Public Reservation. The Metropolitan Commission said they had no appropriation for this purpose and requested the city to petition the State Highway Commission to maintain it. To Committee on Streets.

To Committee on Public Buildings.

The Mayor forwarded a slong com munication from the Metropolitan Water Commission, in which it was stated that the original plans had been changed and it was now prepared to build a reservoir on Forbes hill with a capacity of 500,000,000 of the cairn in memory of the event gallons, and also to erect a standpipe. This would provide better service and the Commission requested that the city deed the public park on Forbes hill, and lot No. 12 to the City of Boston for this The July number of The Delineator, is purpose, in consideration of the payment called the summer number, and is remark- of the sum of $4,000. Heavy Rain Caused General Improvement In New England.

Higher Temperature Is What Is Now Needed.

A Little Too Cool For Best Growth of Many

Boston, June 16.-The United States agricultural bureau, New England section, issues the following weather-crop bulletin for the past week:

The weather in New England for the week ending June 15 has given plenty of rain, but a deficiency of heat and sunshine. A light frost prevailed in northern counties on the morning of the 11th, and also on the 13th, but no damage has been reported. Corn has made but very little growth during the week, but nearly all other crops have done well, and grass and grain especially have improved very much. Hoeing has been delayed by the wet weather. Heavy rain fell in the north on the 9th, and in the south on the 15th, and the ground is everywhere well saturated.

The following amounts give the fall of rain in inches for the week, from 8 p. m. of the 9th to 8 p. m. of the 15th: Eastport, Me., 1.80; Portland, Me., .81; Northfield, Vt., .80; Albany, 1.17; Nantucket, Mass., 1.06; Boston, 1.92. In central Connecticut over two inches fell on the 14th. More rain has fallen in Maine during the past week than fell in the previous 65 days. Grass and grain have been given a fresh start, and are improving discouraging. Potatoes have grown an agreement. fairly well, and some hoeing has been done, but on account of the cold nights other crops are coming along slowly. Corn especially feels the lack of sunshine and warmth. There was a light gardens in lowlands. Apples have been | ing at'Nashua, N. Strawberries are yielding a good crop in eastern sections, but wet weather retards picking. In western Worcester county the vines that are on the sunny side of the fields are yielding well, but where in the shade. the fruit is rotting. Grapes are making a good growth. Cranberry bogs appear vell, and are blossoming for a good crop. There are few cherries or plums. Apples promise well, although one correspondent in Barnstable county says the crop will be light, although the trees blossomed full. Tobacco is growing, but the wire-worm continues its damage. Onion and radish maggots are doing some damage. The white maggots are doing mischief among early cabbages in ing fast. Corn needs warmer weather and sunshine.

Over two inches of rain fell over the southern part of Rhode Island on the Mth, and as it was accompanied by a high wind, it is feared some damage has been done to fruit, though it is too early to tell its effects. Hoeing has been delayed by the wet weather, but crops have made a good growth during the week.

Wild berries promise a good yield. The weather has been too cold in Connecticut during the week, and although field crops have made some growth and their appearances is good, higher temperature and sunshine would make a marked improvement. A great many fields of grass have improved wonderfully, but the majority of correspondents say that old fields especially are and must be exceedingly light, as the grass is virtually dead. A rust has appeared in the meadows in Litchfield county. There is much complaint in this county that all seeds have come up very poorly and unevenly. Cut worms have done much damage here too, and at Winsted many farmers have been obliged to plow up and replant their onion fields. Strawberry picking has been hindered by the rains, and the fruit has decayed con- received severe injuries while "shooting siderably. Cherries are ripening ahead the chutes" at Washington. Pure Ice.

THE Proof of Purity can only be ascertained by a scientific analysis. Any claims make by dealers without this test are worthless. We have had the Ice furnished by the MEADOW BROOK ICE CO. submitted to this test, and it is with much satisfaction that we present the following analysis, made by H. CARLTON SMITH, Chemist, Bor ton. The figures represent the number of parts found in 100,000 of the water examined:

Free Ammonia, .0026 Albuminoid ammonia, .0088 Nitrites, none Nitrates, none Chlorine, .0039 Total solids, Fixed solids, Loss on ignition, Sediment, none

Mr. Smith says: "This ice is of exceptional purity and the water formed by letting his ice melt would compare very favorably with most, and in fact any spring water."

The General Society is collecting and Revolutionary Relics. This collection includes historical works, old manuscripts and letters, portraits, book-plates, coats-of-arms and quaint articles of virtu long cherished as As Gleaned Today in the Historic family heirlooms. Mrs. H. Courtney Manning, the Society's Librarian-General, is in charge of this collection at the rooms, No. 156 Fifth feeling disposed to contribute to it articles of the kind indicated is sure of a warm reception. The social reunions of the Society are numerous and are always delightful functions, especially in New York City. Last season tableaux were given representing Revolutionary scenes, the gentle descendants of the women of '76 appearing in satin petticoats and high-heeled slippers of their greatgreat-grandmothers, forming some lovely living pictures. This year an elaborate reunion at Delmonico's commemorated the one hundred and twenty-first anniversary of the Battle of Lexington.

And what does the light reveal? An ancestry of honest, sturdy, hardworking folks, poor and in humble circumstances, but of such sort that no man in this democratic country need be ashamed. A boyhood spent among simple but pure in an honest endeavor to rise. A young manhood devoted to gallantly fighting for the Union, and later, when peace had come and the sword was put away, to the pursuit of an honored profession. The details of his later career in congress, where for years he represented his state faithfully and with much personal credit-these were widely known before. His later services to the great commonwealth of which he became governor are of such recent date that they need hardly to be mentioned in summing up the events of his life.

Young McKinley had been a keen observer, so far as his opportunities went, of the political events that culminated in the firing on Fort Sumter. The call of the president for troops found a quick response in his breast, as it did all through the north. And when the drums and fifes aroused the echoes of the quiet streets of Poland, among the first applicants for enlistment was William Mc-Kinley, Jr. It was a new experience and a new

REGULAR TUG OF WAR.

Battle For the Republican Vice Presidency Waxes Hotter and Hotter.

Teller Announces Withdrawal From the Party.

In Interesting Story of the Doings of a Busy Day at St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 18.-The Republican national convention has cleared the resterday, one of an hour in the morning and one of three hours in the afternoon. The permanent organization was affected, and the permanent chairman, Senator John M. Thurston of Nebraska, assumed the duties of presiding officer at the morning session, and the reports of the committees on credentials and rules were received and adopted at the Ifternoon session. This leaves the batlle royal over the platform and the nomhating of the candidates. It is probable that the platform would also have been disposed of last night, had it not been that a night session would have interfered with the mammoth McKinley parade previously arranged.

Nothing could have been in more striking contrast with the dull, featureless session of Tuesday than the animated mession of the convention yesterday The hall was packed to its utmost capacity with spectators, keyed to the highest pitch of enthusiasm, and a hoarse roar of 12,000 voices came thundering down the pit from the black wail of people on all sides, accompanied with waving of handkerchiefs, made the pulses beat faster. The brief speech of the permanent chairman, Senator Thurston, was warm and eloquent, and found ready sympathizers in the vast crowd of people, as he recalled the fact that he had presided over the convention of 1888, which nominated the last glorious ticket, and predicted that he was now presiding in one which would nominate the next President of the United States. The enthusiasm lasted for several moments. The vast audience cheered, yelled and shouted. Tuesday the mention of the names of the great leaders of the party evoked no demonstration; yesterday it was like applying a match to a powder magazine to mention a distinguished name, and several times, when there was no occasion, the exuberent galleries concluded their exceeding with the election of permanent officers. Before the report of the committee on credentials had been heard, Senator Wellington and Congressman Mudd of Maryland, and Delegate Littlefield of Maine, vainly protested that it was irregular, and that there was no convention until the credentials of the members had been passed upon, but their angry protest was set aside like chaff before the wind. The convention was in no temper to be delayed.

At the afternoon session the first test of strength between the McKinley followers and the opposition came, and, although the issue presented was not as strong as McKinleyites anticipated, demonstrated the fact, after all, that the candidate has a clear majority of over 100 in the convention. The question was the adoption of the report of the commit-tee on credentials, which ratified the action of the national committee, giving lmost all the 158 contested seats to the McKinleyites, and deciding the last tation of the report was met with a violent minority report, denouncing the committee on credentials for presuming to accept, unchallenged, the findings of the national committee.

The presentation of the issue fanned into a flame all the bitter animosities in the convention. Mr. Fort of New Jersey and General Grosvenor of Qhio were put forward to champion the committee, and Mr. Hepburn of Iowa led the opposition The lines were not drawn absolutely as quite a number of delegates who are pledged to McKinley voted with the opposition, notably the Maryland delegation, but it was apparent from the cheers with which the opposition greeted the announcement of every vote in their favor that they were marshaling every wailable vote at their command. They were defeated—545½ to 359½.

They realized that they could not overthrow the victorious hosts of McKinley, and made an attempt to emphasize their liscomfiture by demanding a rollcall on ks final adoption.

The rollcall was followed with intense interest. In Illinois the rollcall changed the vote to 30 year and 18 nays. Michigan, Kansas, Minnesota and other states swung solidly into line for the adoption of the report, while Massachusetts, Indiana and Maine tumbled into the wake of the committee side. When New York was called, ex-Senator Platt arose, and his appearance was the signal for the first great demonstration of the convention. Delegates all about him rose to their feet and the galleries theered. One man yelled, "Three cheers for Platt," and they were given. The cheering was renewed when he announced 19 votes yea and 52 votes nay. The clerk blundered in announcing the New York vote, and was wildly called down by a delegate.

call resulted 16 yeas, 8 nays. Vermont report was assured, and the doubt which had been gathering on Mark Hanna's forehead disappeared. When the roll of states was completed there was a minute of anxiety while the clerks footed up the totals. When Chairman Thurston announced the result, 5681/2 for ordering the previous question, and 3391/2 against, the Mc-Kinleyites howled themselves hoarse. The rules of the house of representatives, which govern the proceedings of the convention, pending the report on deck for action. Two sessions were held rules, permit 20 minutes on a side for debate after the previous question is ordered, and Chairman Fort of the committee on credentials mounted the platform and spoke five minutes in defense of the majority report of his committee. He spoke with great earnestness of the care with which the roll was made up, by the national committee, after a most exhaustive hearing of the contests. He went somewhat into details of the Texas contest. His description of Wrigh Cuney, the colored man at the head .f the contesting delegation, taking his hat, adjourning the convention and taking the convention with him, raised a laugh. In the Delaware contest, delegates and spectators joined in a tumultuous demonstration of approval of his bitter denunciation of the Addicks Republicans in Delaware.

> Mr. Hepburn then mounted the platof the 160 contests. Mr. Hepburn deprecated attacks upon the character of Mr. Addicks, and asserted that no proof had been brought to sustain them. The minority delegates gave Mr. Hepburn a round of cheers when he finished.

Referring to the Delaware contest, Mr. Mr. Hepburn, "That, with honeyed angered Evans of Tennessee to such an fair declined at the last moment to imwords about fair play, he had come here as the representative of the biggest scoundrel on record." As Grosvenor scoundrel on record." As Grosvenor finished a trifling diversion was provided many votes, but enough to make trouble. The silver men felt themselves swept on by an irresistable fate, and with protestations of regret they cast the die. Speeches were made by Senator Teller, who joined the Republican party at its inception, and who was an ardent supporter of Lincoln and who for 20 years has represented his state in the senate of the United States as a Republican, save for two years in the cabinet of President Arthur.

Senator Dubois, the handsome stalwart Senator from Idaho, whose father was nominated for secretary of state of Illinois by Abraham Lincoln; young Senator Cannon of Utah, whose father was president of the Mormon church, and Representative Hartman, the young and vigorous Congressman from Montana; Lemon of California, Mott of North Carolina, the son of Dr. Mott, the secretary of the silver party, and the dele-gates from New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma, have voted with him in committee, and they, too, made speeches, but did not announce their purpose to withdraw. The scene was a most affecting one. The gold men in the committee were filled with compassion, and there was not a dry eye in the room while Senator Teller spoke. What Will the New Yorkers Do With Morton?

A Breezy Account of the Doings of Delegates at St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 17 .- Auspiciously and serenely, beneath a sky across whose arched dome not a cloud floated, the chieftains of the Republican party, from the pineries of Maine to the orange groves of California, from the everglades of Florida to the placid waters of Puget Sound, met in council in the presence of about 8000 spectators, and entered upon the work of selecting candidates and formulating policies for the campaign of 1896. The first session of the Republican national convention was brief and formal. Chairman Carter of the national committee dropped the gavel at 12:20, and 60 minutes later an adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock today. There was not a jar to mar the proceedings, there were no sensational incidents to arouse, nor any demon strations to thrill the vast concourse of

The temporary chairman, C. W. Fairbanks of Indiana, delivered his address a strong, forcible statement in arraignment of the present administration and in definement of the issues; the committee selections of the various delega tions were announced-that was all.

Mr. Fairbanks' address, dealing, as it did, with a review of the existing situation, was not designed to fire the imagination. The telling points which Mr. Fairbanks made were, however, appre ciated and applauded. When he reached that portion of his speech enunciating the Republican doctrine of currency, his first references to the party's friendship for silver were marked by scattering applause over the western and middle states delegations, which was increased perceptibly by the more emphatic ap plause of the eastern delegation, when he mentioned the "Maintenance of present standard." "Solid gold," shouted some of the Massachusetts delegation. The demonstration reached its climax when he announced the unalterable op position of the party to a "Fifty cent dol The silver people from the west, headed by Senator Teller, however, took no part in the demonstration. They sat perfectly silent.

The magnetic name of Blaine, as h attributed to the great Republican idol the authorship of reciprocity, carried hundreds of men to their feet, and was the signal for cheers from all parts of the building. His expressions of sympathy for struggling Cuba was also warmly greeted. He closed with a declaration that the issue was protection and honest money, against free trade and free silver, and the convention heartily cheered. Those who expected some allusion to McKinley which would loosen the bottled up enthusiasm for the little Napoleon, which has had no fight to un cork it, or who imagined that perhaps ome of the great leaders or orators of purely a formal session. The recogtions. Platt. Lodge, Depew and Quar were applauded, but Mark Hanns, the Warwick, did not create a ripple when air. The fiery rivalry that attends contests between struggling giants where fought and the battle is yet to be won; but they said that they thought that only which arouses clans and factions to the wildest pitch of excitement, was lacking. While there may be vain hopes, that the inevitable result should be blighted ambitions and bitter animosities, still tossing beneath the onward first choice are looking forward to relief to the end of the unequal struggle, good will in the end.

But this being the situation, the main interest vesterday centered in the personality of the great men who assembled in the convention hall. That hall, to which the vast procession wended its way, although unpretentious in exterior, is admirably adapted for the purposes to which it is put. A vast structure it is, about 300 feet long by 150 wide and almost 100 feet high. The two galleries, which extend all about the ining and flags conceal the trusses and pillars, the galleries are adorned at inter-

But, as stated above, the real interest sat his colleagues on the national committee, a notable group of astute party generals. In his front sat the delegates, the king maker, the dashing Foraker, Indiana delegates, clustering about Gendelegates, headed by the majestic Hastings and the silent sphinx-like Quay, the conqueror of so many hard fought political battles. In the next tier were the New York contingent, with Platt, the old associate of the imperial Conk- draft of the platform: ling, at the head of the dominant faction, and the suave Depew, and Warner Miller, the leader of the opposition.

They have said to Mr. Hanna in substance "Your solomn mission is to secure the nomination of McKinley, and whatever your personal views may be, they should not be permitted at this time to influence the convention's action on this subject.'

Von Emden-Kolb Nuptials.

A very pretty home wedding was held in Atlantic on Tuesday evening, at which time Miss Henriette Barbara, daughter of Jacob Kolb of Clive street, was united in marriage to Mr. Henry Von Emden, Rev. Edward Norton officiating. The attendance at the wedding, and the reception which immediately followed, was very large and included the leaders of society of Atlantic and many guests were present from out of town.

Quarryman Blown Up.

Julian Madfazo was blown up by a premature explosion of a blast at his quarry this morning, and was seriously burned about the face. Madiazo has a little quarry near the office of the Quincy Paving and Edgestone Co.'s office, where he gets out pavers. This morning he prepared a seam blast which exploded before he meant it should, with the result as noted above. The unfortunate man was removed to his home on Buckley street and Dr. Dion called, who pronounced his injuries quite serious. He may possibly lose his eyesight.

Woodward Commencement.

The first commencement exercises of the Woodward Institute for girls, which was is intended to train your minds so that opened two years ago, were held at City Hall Wednesday evening, and very interesting they proved to be.

The attendance was very large, few if any of the 700 seats provided being unoccupied.

A large platform had been erected at the head of the hall and here were the seats occupied by the pupils of the school.

On the wall was a huge bank of evergreen, across the centre of which was the class motto "En Avant" in large white letters, and around the front of the platform and in front of the balcony were branches of ferns and field daisies, while beneath the chandeliers on the side walls were large bunches of ferns.

At the right of the platform were the seats occupied by the faculty of the school, and directly in front of the platform were the clergymen comprising the Board of Directors. With them sat Rev. H. A. Philbrook, Rev. A. F. Roche, and Rev. J. H. Yeoman, former members of the board, and Mayor C. F. Adams, 2d.

It was but a few minutes past eight o'clock when the pupils of the school, some 90 in number, entered the hall from

of the school.

The programme:

day afternoon the agitation around Mr. Hanna and all others at McKinley's headquarters has been on the vice presi dency. The committee on resolutions having decided on its report, and the platform, as well as the nomination for first place being practically disposed of, there was nothing left for Hanna to do but to consider the merits of the different men proposed for second place. And all the agitation was over Morton. To those who appeared for the favorite ns of Tennessee, New Jersey, Ithode Island, Connecticut and other states, Hanna said he was looking after the interests of McKinley, and he did not want to anticipate or interfere with the will of the convention, but he had to give audience to matters that involved more than the second place on the ticket in connection with the name of Governor Morton of New York.

MARCUS AURELIUS HANNA

The delegation from New York, who were friendly to ex-Senator Platt, argue that Morton's nomination would do more in the interest of harmony than any other nomination. Attention was called to the fact that Harrison carried New York, and was elected, when Morton was on the ticket with him in 1888, and that Harrison lost New York, as well as other doubtful states in 1892, when Morton was

Your Watch is No Good.

"That is fighting talk," you say, but wait until we finish the sentence-if it fails to tell you the correct time.

A watch will sometimes run several years without being cleaned, but it is wearing out, and, when it finally stops, some genius who advertises "Clean your Watch for a Dollar," and whose kit of tools comprise a brush, tack hammer and a screw driver, brushes out the dirt, ignorant of the damage the watch has sustained, and your watch, once your faithful friend, can no longer be relied upon.

Think This Over

Then F. W. Clair of Waterville presented a minority report, declaring in favor of the equality of the two metals. This at once raised a storm; the delein front of the platform, and three or four motions were made, but not seconded. Then a motion for the adoption of the majority report was made and seconded. The chairman put the motion, although Mr. Frank of Portland was on his feet, trying to be heard. The motion was declared carried, but the chair's decision was doubted. Then came a wrangle over the methods of putting the motion. Finally, by general agreement, the question was opened for

The tumult was stilled while Mr. Wiggin of Saco spoke for gold, amid cheers At Cincinnati-Cincinnati, 6; St. Louis, tor Cleveland. Dr. Wells of Oldtown spoke for gold. He said in the committee on resolutions the majority report was adopted by a vote of 7 to 6.

A motion was made and carried that a vote be taken by rollcall by counties. There was so much excitement at this point that the chair waited until the delegates had taken seats. Then the different county delegations gathered in different part of the hall, and took separate votes. The vote resulted as follows, on

Anxious to Help.

New York, June 18.-William C. Whiton the Teutonic, which sailed for Europe yesterday, 1.4ys. "I decided late Tuesday night to remain at home, and go to the convention at Chicago. I do not think that I can help matters much, but have yielded to the requests of many."

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL have yielded to the requests of many friends, who have been at me for several weeks to be present when the convention meets. All this muddle that the party has got into over the silver qestion may, in my opinion, result in its entire disruption, and if I can be of assistance to those who were instrumental in helping to re form matters in 1892, I shall be glad to do so. It is true I had not, up to Tuesday night, expected to attend the convention at all, or in fact have anything cepted. to do with it, and my sudden change of plans is only the result of my determination to yield to the wishes of my friends. Nothing said by Mr. Cleveland has influenced me, as I have not heard from him, directly or indirectly. His renomi nation is, to my mind, impossible. Nobody can tell what will take place under present conditions. If I can help matters sizes. Henry L. Ocala, Fla., June 18 .- In the Democratic state convention yesterday the free silverites were beaten on every point, though by a narrow margin. The committee on resoultions voted, 23 to 22, against free silver, and in favor of re-tional convention for determination. Subsequently in the convention a motion was offered to instruct the delegates to Chicago to vote for free silver, but it was defeated by a vote of 175 to 171. Senators Call and Pasco, both candidates for delementing upon assertions made by its New York correspondent, says: President Cleveland's letter (calling upon gold standard Democrats to make a fight for their principles) is very sensible, but it is a trifle tame. Our correspondent calls it despondent, and the epithet doubtless reflects the impression produced upon almost everybody who cratic state convention declared for the read it, and reflected the apparent posigold standard yesterday, cheered Will- tion of the Democrats. M'KINLEY AS A LAWYER.

He Wanted to Continue His Military Career, but His Parents Objected.

When the war closed, McKinley was John Curtis kept open house all day just 22. He was full of youthful enthusiasm and ardor, and he returned to Wednesday and entertained a large number his home in Ohio fully expecting to accept the flattering offer made him of a commission in the regular army.

But to this his parents offered strong opposition. They pointed out the small rewards to honor and ambition that considering the bent of his mind, he more free from the ordinary claptrap Canton, where he formed a partnership in all its loneliness with vivid distinctwith Judge Belden.

McKinley was a protege of ex-President Hayes, and up to the time of the latter's death he recognized the expresident as his adviser and counselor. He was in General Hayes' regiment during the rebellion. General Hayes knew him and his father well, and saw in the dashing young cavalier the germ of greatness. He needed a counselor, an adviser, a friend, and General Hayes watched over him with the filial love, devotion and pride of a father.

The war ended, McKinley still remained an object of hope, of interest and pride to General Hayes. McKinley became a candidate for congress and was elected. When Hayes was president, McKinley was in the house of representatives. The major was a frequent welcome visitor at the White House. One day the president gave McKinley advice, which made McKinley the foremost champion of a protective tariff. President Hayes thus spoke to the young the house and on the stump so effective. Indeed the occasion is still recalled when he held an audience of Georgia people for two hours at a Chautauqua assembly near Atlanta while he preached to them the glories of the protective tariff system. "It was only by the greatest self control," said Henry W. Grady, speaking of this event afterward, "that I restrained myself from rising as McKinley concluded his wonderful speech and declaring myself henceforth ready to follow him as a disciple."

James G. Blaine, in his "Twenty Years of Congress," reviews the Fortyfifth congress, in which McKinley first sat, as follows: "William McKinley, Jr., entered from the Canton district. He enlisted in an Ohio regiment when but 17 years old and won the rank of major by meritorious service. The interest of his constituency and his own bent of mind led him to the study of industrial questions, and he was soon recognized in the house as one of the most thorough statisticians and one of the ablest defenders of the doctrine of protection."

At a great mass meeting in Indianapolis several years ago ex-President Harrison was presiding officer. McKinley was one of the speakers, and Harrison introduced him as follows:

"He has endeared himself to all by his record as a gallant young soldier battling for the flag. He has honored himself, his state and the country by his conspicuous services in high legislative and executive places. No man more than he is familiar with the questions that now engage public thought. No man is more able than he lucidly to set them before the people. I do not need to invoke your attention to what he shall say. He will command it."

The sentiment which resulted in the nomination of McKinley for governor of Ohio was engendered immediately upon the announcement of the result of the election of 1890, when after 14 years' continuous service in congress the Ohio statesman was defeated for re-electhe Democratic majority from 2,900 to Miss Gould's Poem.

Miss Elizabeth Porter Gould concluded her address at the erection of the cairn on the Seventeenth with a beautiful gem, which we are glad to produce in full today

We build a cairn, replete with loving thought Of her, who Queen of Daughters, earned a nation's praise.

If glories in the light of freedom sought For all the Sons and Daughters of the coming days.

Its corner stone resplendant shines, To bear the gaze of peoples yet unborn Its rugged form a mother-love enshrines Strong beacon of our land, till dawns

Watch tenderly, O Air! O Sky! O Fates And may these stones, so blessed by loving hearts and hands Be lasting symbols of our glorious states, HOUGHS NECK.

A Good Time Terminated Because of Jealousy.

The hot wave has not struck Houghs Neck, that is why people fly here to escape it. Many cottages have been opened this week and all are expected to be occupied next week.

The march of improvement has also reached us. The steam road roller has done good work between the turnout and Quincy and is now this side of the causeway. It is proposed by Commissioner Knowlton to push the work to Great hill. Sea street being the only city way, will be the only one to receive attention.

By the new time table to go into effect on the street railway the cars will probably leave the beach at twenty and fifty minutes past the hours, to make close connection with the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. trains. One of the jolliest parties at the beach was in process at the Casino on the evening of the Seventeenth. A large number were assembled and were gaily tripping the light fantastic. At times there were nine or ten sets. Mr. Costello had given Mrs. Nickerson of Hotel Linden permission to dance provided no admission was charged, and a piano was moved in and the free dance was popular. But some one complained to Mr. Cestello that he was not loing the square thing by the other dance halls and without ceremony he came down and ejected the whole party. It is unfortunate for Houghs Neck that there is so much jealousy.

More Bicycles Recovered.

Inspector McKay recovered Thursday afternoon the bicycle stolen from John H. Dinegan last September and this proved to be another of the Turnquist boy's cases, for although the wheel was not found in Austin Potter, Mr. Reginald Brooks and his possession it was traced back through several parties to him. When taken Thursday afternoon the wheel was in the possession of John Oschund, who had paid out $10 on the wheel and was to pay $6 more. The wheel had been reenameled and it was with difficulty that the number of the machine could be made out. This makes four wheels recovered this week, the fourth being a wheel of John Collins of Squantum street which was recovered in a second hand store in Boston.

Senator Lodge, rising in his delegation street railway lines of the South Shore, for Chairman, the friends of Mr. Reed have and standing upon his chair, said: "Mr. then it is that the link between Boston and followed him with the same loyalty which he has always shown himself to country and principle and party. That loyalty they now transfer to the soldiers. the patriot, the American whom you have nominated here today, and on beham street railway will come over the half of my own state, and I believe of all Quincy & Boston line to Quincy where one | the other New England states that supwill stop and the other proceed to Nepon- ported Mr. Reed, we pledge a great majority in our own states and our assistance in other states, and all the help we can render for William McKinley. I move you, sir, that the nomination of William McKinley may be made unanimous."

Mr. Hastings of Pennsylvania, who had nominated Senator Quay, seconded the motion to make Mr. McKinley's nomination unanimous.

Thomas C. Platt, on behalf of the state of New York, also seconded the motion to make William McKinley's nomination unanimous, and declared that New York would give its usual (if not double its usual) majority for the Republican candidate. Mr. Henderson of Iowa also seconded the motion. The convention, he said, had elected a national committee to run the coming campaign, but it was not Yielding to vociferous calls for speech, Mr. Depew mounted his chair in the back part of the hall, and made a pleasant address. Cries of "Quay" and "Mark Hanna" were raised. Mr. Hanna, from the body of the hall, responded in a few words, which were almost inaudible in the conclusion, pledging himself to take his place in the ranks and work for the elec tion of McKinley.

The chair put the question: "Shall the nomination be made unanimous?" and by a rousing vote it was so ordered. The chair announced that William McKinley of Ohio was the candidate of the Republican party for President of the United

Hobart For Vice President.

It was 6:15 when Senator Lodge made the motion that the convention proceed to the nomination of a vice president, and that speeches be limited to five minutes. There was so little interest in the second place, or so prevalent an appetite for dinner, that in five minutes the galleries had been deserted.

Samuel Fessenden of Connecticut was ecognized to nominate Governor Bulkeley, but the convention had exhausted its enthusiasm so that the mention of the name of McKinley failed to draw a handelab.

At the end of the five minutes the crowd called "Time" enthusiastically, and the rollcall proceeded until New Jersey was reached, when delegates began to cry "Hobart." General Hobart was named by Franklin Fort of Newark. The speech was loudly cheered, the New Yorkers joining with the New Jersey men in the nomination. J. O. Humphrey of Illinois seconded Hobart's nom-W. K. Allen of Rhode Island nomi

Hobart's Career.

Garrett A. Hobart was born at Long Branch, N. J., in 1844. After having received a common school education he attended Rutger's college, whence he was graduated at the age of 20. He took up the study of law, and was admitted to the bar in 1866. He was chosen city counsel of Paterson in May, 1871. The following year he was appointed counsel to the board of chosen freeholders and at the end of his term declined a renomination.

In 1872 Hobart was elected assemblyman, and was re-elected. In his second term he was elected speaker of the assembly. In 1875 he declined a renomination, and in 1877 Passaic county sent him as its representative to the state senate. In 1879 he was re-elected, and by the largest majority his county had ever givn to any candidate for senator. He closed his career as a legislator in 1881 and 1882, when he was the president of the senate. Hobart was the Republican caucus nominee for United States senator in 1884, but the legislature was overwhelmingly Democratic on joint ballot, and John R. McPherson was elected.

After serving one year as a Republi can state committeeman, Mr. Hobart was elected chairman, in 1880, and con tinued as chairman of the committee for 11 years, resigning in 1891. He was New Jersey's member of the Republican na tional committee in 1884, and was elected vice chairman.

Hobart was receiver of the New Jersey Midland railway, the Montclair railroad and the Jersey City and Albany line, and of the First National bank of Newark. He has managed the East Jersey Water company, is president of the Passaic Water company, Aquackanonk Water company, Paterson railway, Morris Bros.' Flax Spinning company, Pioneer Silk, Edison Electric Illuminating, Amerof L.L. D. from Rutgers.

The scene at the McKinley home when the news came in is beyond the power nomination was gained, and delegates of pen to describe. There was a hurrah began to leave. Pending the announcement of the vote, a resolution was from the immediate friends and the representatives of the press who had been resentatives of the press who had been adopted, making Chairman Thurston keeping tabs on the doings of the convention.

Many of those around me have not always agreed with me, nor I with them, touching political questions, but it is pleasant as I look into your faces to recall that in all the years of the past there has never been a moment of time when you have withheld from me your friendship, your encouragement and your confidence.

"Any work or care would entirely unnerve me. When my babe was 11 months old, friends persuaded me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken one bottle I felt the effects. My back dia not ache so badly, and I felt stronger. After taking four bottles I felt well. My ambition returned, menstruations were painless, leucorrhœa entirely cured, and I could take care of my tabe and do my housework. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound for all women, especially for young mothers."-MRS. H. L. GOOLD, Oregon, Wis.

If Mrs. Goold had been well before the birth of her child, subsequent suffering would have been avoided. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should always be taken before and after birth, in order that the system may withstand the shock.

The house stood back from the road moon. As the cabby peered toward it he saw the figure of a man come into the moonshine. It sprang across the open space in soft leaps like a great black bubble, its every movement full of a dreadful vitality. Then it was gone. As the driver himself turned to go, he saw a tiny red spark flash out from the house before him, and one after the othglowed red, as a crawling blotch of sparkles will eat across soot. The man was there-the man who owed him money-and all fear fled but the fear of loss. The cabby tied his under cover of the hedges. When he reached the house, he raised himself gently and looked in at one of the windows. "Diamonds!" he cried softly. Then he grasped at the window ledge, for the creature gave a howl of anguish. "Good God, they give no light!"

And the echoes chattered back, "No light! No light!"

There was a long silence. The huddle on the floor rocked to and fro, his face buried in his thin hands.

The moon had sunk and the sky was clear as dark glass. A cock crowed somewhere in the east. At that sound the wretched figure raised its head. Opposite him was a door with a fan shaped transom over it, and as he looked it grew gray and then rosy. Some one was coming; now even the cabman could hear the light creak of steps. Nearer they came, nearer. The door opened, and a little figure peeped into the room -the little figure of a woman, shriveled and very old.

The man by the fireplace sprang up. As the woman's eyes met that ghastly face she gave a cry. "Judas!" she screamed, "Judas!" Then she tottered and slid in a heap at his feet. He kicked at her, but she only lay there, gibbering: "What do you want? What do you want?"

At last he answered her.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Eeginning June 21 Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-Doubts and difficulties.-Ps. xl, 1-17

(A question box meeting suggested.) This psalm may be divided into two parts—the first (verses 1-10) dealing with a former difficulty and how relief came from God in it, and the second (verses 11-17) a cry and a prayer for deliverance from fresh calamities that have come upon the writer. The experience of the psalmist in both instances, and particularly in the first, sets forth doubts and perplexities from which we may be delivered in all their phases. What may be said of doubts may also be said of difficulties.

1. Doubts and Difficulties. - The best of Christians meet doubts and difficulties in their Christian experience. The palmist here had evidently fallen into the slough of despond. He had been in a pit of destruction, in a swamp of miry clay, where he would experience the horror of realizing that he was sinking, and yet could not stay his downward course because there was no solid footing beneath him. He speaks of no physical sickness, of no persecution by ene mies, and therefore we may conclude that his trouble was mental and spiritual, some doubt or perplexity that had taken possession of his mind concerning his spiritual condition or concerning the things that involved his spiritual blessedness. All Christians may meet these times of doubt and despondency. They may come from trouble, from disappointment, from inability to understand all we would like to understand concerning God and the future life, from failure to be faithful and true to God.

2. The Remedy For Doubts and Difficulties.—The psalmist sets before us the only true remedy: In each case he waited upon the Lord, he prayed to God. "I waited patiently or surely upon the Lord, and He inclined unto me and heard my cry." Thus he did his part, and then God did His, for next he says "He brought me up also out of a hor rible pit, out of a miry swamp and se my feet upon a rock and established my goings, and He hath put a new song in my mouth." God is the only remedy for doubts and perplexities. If we wait upon Him, if we cry unto Him, He will hear us and answer us by removing the difficulty from us or by giving us grace to endure it. If we trust in God in time of doubt and despondency and come to Him, He will place us upon the rock, Christ Jesus, and instead of despondency and despair there will be songs of joy in the heart and on our tongues.

If doubts come, let us trust God and act as if there were no doubts. Obedi ence brings assurance. "If any man will do His will, he shall know of the doctrine whether it be of God.'

The Word of Hope.

When, by nobler culture, by purer experience, by breathing the air of a higher duty, vitality at length creeps into the soul, the instincts of immortality will wake within us. The word of hope will speak to us a language no longer strange. Harrity Thinks Sound Money Will Carry the Day at Chicago.

Tariff Would Thus Be Made Main Issue.

Democrats Have No Idea of Hobnobbing With Teller, et. al.

Pittsburg, June 20.—Chairman W. F. Harrity of the Democratic national committee passed through here yesterday, en route to Philadelphia from St. Louis. He has been the guest of ex-Governor David R. Francis of Missouri. While in St. Louis, Mr. Harrity declined to be interviewed on the subject of politics, for the reason that his visit there was of a purely personal and social character. discuss politics from a Democratic

When asked about the platform adopted at St. Louis, he said: "In my opinion the action of the Republican national convention makes it even more important that the Chicago national convention shall declare for sound money than if an equivocal financial plank had been placed in the St. Louis platform I am on record as predicting that the Democratic national convention will not declare for free coinage of silver, and I am still quite hopeful that the sound nioney element of the Democratic party will prevent it in the convention.

"What effect will the withdrawal of Senator Teller and his free silver associates from the Republican national convention have upon the Chicago con-

"It ought to give no encouragement to our party to adopt a free silver policy. It will be found that the gentlemen who bolted the St. Louis convention will not take any step to help the Democratic party. They would doubtless co-operate with Democrats providing the Democrats would follow where they lead. The suggestion that Senator Teller may be nominated by the Chicago convention is not worthy of a moment's serious consideration.

"I believe, continued Mr. Harrity, that the Democracy can enter the campaign with much more hope and confidence if they will unequivocally declare for the existing gold standard. If they will do with such a declaration, the currency issue will be practically eliminated from main, it would be to the advantage of the Democrats in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, because of McKinley's equivocal record and attitude. The tariff would be made the main issue, and, I believe, that this would be to the prejudice of the Republican candidates, who stand for an extremely high protective tariff. The business interests of the country, except those having a direct concern in still higher duties upon imports, want a rest from further tariff agitation.

"As soon as this country gives satisfactory assurances of the soundness and stability of its monetary policy, as would be the case if both the great parties de-clare for the existing gold standard, general confidence would be restored. It will then be found that the present tariff will produce ample revenue for all of the expenses and needs of the government. With restored confidence and ample revenues, we will at once inter upon an era of business revival and general pros-

ENCOURACING WORDS.

McKinley Assured of Hearty Support, For Which He Returns Thanks. Canton, O., June 20.-The enthusiasm of Thursday has increased, each incoming delegattion is greeted by steam calliopes and shrieking whistles of every and drum corps galore gave music to the merry marchers. Delegations called last night in rapid succession, but the governor shows no signs of wear or relapse after the strain of convention week. During yesterday the news spread rapidly that the New York McKinley league would stop at Canton, on its way home from St. Louis, and that the special convention party would arrive home in the evening. It was shortly after 6 o'clock when shrieking whistles of locomotives heralded the approach of the New Yorkers and returning Cantonians, as well as # special train-load of 500 people from the Mahoning valley, where Governor McKinley spent his boyhood days. Eulogistic speeches were made by Congressman Taylor, Judge Baldwin and Judge Day.

Governor McKinley responded as follows: "My Fellow Citizens: How can I make fitting response to the splendid tribute which has been paid by three of my old and earliest friends? I think I might be excused by merely saying that I am inadequate to the task, and can only express my gratitude from a full heart. I have had a great many touching incidents in my life. Yesterday, immediately after the nomination, was surrounded by my neighbors and fellow citizens, who did not go to St. Louis, and by friends from Alliance and Massillon, and then came 4000 more of NO TROUBLE them from Akron last night. With all TO USE. these tokens I was deeply and prowords spoken by these three gentlemen, surrounded as I am by their associates, who journeyed together to St. Louis-deeply and sounded the depths of my heart more profoundly than anything that has gone before. In this audience today are representatives from all of the counties which for years constituted my congressional district, and with which I have been associated all my life. And my fellow citizens, I will only add that

I thank each and every one from the bottom of my heart for these manifes tations of your friendship, your devotion and your loyalty. And as you seem t have brought back what you went for, those whom you left behind want to say that they are glad to see you home succeeded in forcing its way to the front piazza, led by John E. Milholland. It took some time for Governor McKinley to get through the house and through the hall to greet these eastern visitors. Mr. Milholland mounted the chair and presented ex-Senator Warner Miller, who made a brief speech.

the signal for a great ovation. When comparative silence had been restored,

Mr. McKinley spoke asmollows:
My Fellow Citizens of New York: It gives me very great pleasure to meet and greet you, here at my home today. It was most gracious on your part to have paused in your journey to the east long enough to give me the pleasure of meet ing you face to face. And nothing could have been more agreeable to me than to be presented to the members of the Mc Kinley league of the state of New York by my old friend, Senator Miller. I was giad to meet and to greet him. All to do this year, my fellow citizens, is to keep close to the people. Hearken to the voice of the people have faith in the people and if we do that, the people will win for us a triumph for that great masterful principle, which, in all the years of the past, have given us plenty and prosper-

The New Yorkers gave another round of applause, and departed for their train. One of the incidents of the day was the singing of a campaign song, composed by Peter Cunyeo of Youngstown, an Afro-American. He was very proud of his song, and wanted to sing it, so he betook himself to the governor's library, which adjoins the family dining room, and as the governor and his friends took dinner, he regaled himself with melody to aid digestion and make good cheer. Among the late callers last evening was W. C. Hayes, son of the late ex-

President Hayes, who dropped in from Vermont and visited the governor.

Two Denver Opinions. Denver, June 20 .- The Rocky Mountain News (Dem.) says: The withdrawal of Senator Teller and the delegations of the silver states from the national Republican convention at St. Louis is the first step toward a new alignment of parties in this country. No eulogium can be passed on Mr. Teller's speech which will do it justice. Such impassioned words, dictated by such unquestioned motives, and coming from so true a heart, have never before been heard in an American convention. They will make the name of Teller a hero in the fight now openly begun, the result of which will determine whether the people or the money power is to rule the destinies of the nation. The Times (Ind. Rep.) says editorially The ticket nominated by the national Republican party at St. Louis will prova strong one in the manufacturing sec tions of the east, and in all localities where the financial question is not understood. It is essentially the rich man's ticket. It nowhere will have the strong lating business. I can only repeat that hold on the masses of the people. If we shall elect McKinley. so, and nominate candidates in harmony elected in November it must be through the power of money at the polls. The action of the convention in adopting the cial plank of the platfo weak, unpatriotic and impolitic. It will give the Democratic party the oppor tunity of a century to rally itself with the interests of the whole people, while the Republican party must stand as the protector of the small class of rich men in the money lending and importing branches of business.

Declared For Bland.

Little Rock, June 20.-The Democratic state convention was in session until 2:15 o'clock yesterday morning, the greater part of the time being taken up in a hot fight over the question of expressing a choice for a presidential candidate. A resolution instructing the na tional delegates for Bland was finally adopted, by a vote of 420 to 327. The platform adopted makes no reference to the national administration.

Bloxham For Governor.

Ocala, Fla., June 20 .- In the Demo cratic state convention here, nomination of a ticket was delayed by a deadlock on the nomination for comptroller The gold men had a majority, but not the necessary two-thirds. Finally, by a compromise, W. H. Reynolds was named for comptroller. The rest of the ticket follows: For governor, W. D. Bloxham; for secretary of state, J. L. Crawford; treasurer, C. B. Collins; attorney general, W. D. Lamar.

The Laureda Episode. Philadelphia, June 20.— Captain Charles D. Dickman of the steamship Laureda was arrested yesterday by a United States marshal, charged with being implicated in the alleged filibustering expedition, which sailed from New York on May 8, for Cuba. The warrant also calls for the arrest of Colonel Elillie Nunez, but the latter is in Washington. The warrant was McKinley." tain Dickman was taken before the United States commissioner, who held Captain Dickman in $1000 bail for a further hearing on Wednesday. Bail was furnished.

GENERAL GROSVENOR

You think Republicans generally wil be satisfied with the platform adopted? 'The enlightened sense of the country speaking through more than 800 dele gates in the convention, is a sufficient answer to that question. The great majority of the Republican party is for sound money and the gold standard." Representative Cousins of Iowa has n fear that McKinley will fail to carry the state. "Integrity and industry," Mr. Cousins, "always win in Iowa. They represent morality and prosperity, and those are always determining factors with our people. Our sound money plat form will bring back to the party that large and influential German element which left us on account of the party' position on prohibition."

And so through the year the ingenious housekeeper can, by a little painstaking, furnish a table both dainty and æsthetic, says Good Housekeeping.

For instance, a few strawberries with their stems, moss banked in a centerpiece, and the same delicious fruit served in many tempting ways would furnish forth a beautiful repast. No relief is needed save the white of some accompanying flower with its greenery. The viands should contain many reminders of the toothsome berry, but not too many. Otherwise the taste would cloy upon the palate. With that of the berry cherry might be interspersed, as cherry pudding or cherry cups. Most persons, though, would prefer the strawberry unaccompanied by any less exquisite

THE SPORTING WORLD.

When a millionaire goes in for racing his expenses are just about double those of a pleasure season. Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt, for instance, could not dream of a racing season that cost him less than $175,000, and even then he would find himself running short of money. To begin with, there is the prize money of the crew, the special setting of the sails, the testing and overhauling, unless, indeed, the boat were built for a special race, when $500,000 might be considered as something to begin with. After the yacht is built and equipped and tested and approved, each race she runs costs $10,000 if it be any race at all.

It takes 30 men to make a proper crew for a yacht like Mr. Vanderbilt's Valgreat deal of company at home, and I iant, although less would man her. There are three cooks and three sculitors would rob me of my Clotilda's af- lions. The stewards vary according to the number of guests. The captain of an ordinarily luxurious yacht commands $3,000 a year. W. K. Vanderbilt has paid $6,000. A little boat, holding but 12 persons, costs its owner less for wages, of course, but a good deal for repairs.

No wonder, then, that yachting, in term, eats into the revenues of the richest. Horse racing is nothing to it, and gambling cannot be considered in comparison for a moment. A yacht could break the bank at Monte Carlo and then in New York for $14,000 and equipped with sails for a few hundred. Such craft are not considered yachts by those who want to sail in the society of the cup defender. - Exchange.

HIS EXPERIENCE ONE OF UNUSUAL INTEREST.

For the good of humanity and the praise of God, Mr. D. A. Strong, of South Manchester, Conn., tells his remarkable experience. He is a native of Connecticut, and had been preaching the gospel and teaching throughout that State for thirty years, until about six years ago, when his health became so poor that he had to give up both. He was advised to try outdoor work, and went to live on a little farm in South Manchester. He says: "A few weeks ago I had no faith in any medicine or in any doctor. My trouble was said to be epilepsy, but I have always thought that indigestion, together with constipation, were the causes of all my suffering, for in my family there has never been a case of epilepsy or fits of any kind.

"About five years ago, while eating breakfast, I was suddenly taken with a faintness. My head fell back, and I was carried unconscious to my room and put to bed. This continued at intervals, until I had about given up hope. I tried everything, at least everything that was recommended to me, and aside from the kind dealings of a loving Heavenly Father, received no help. I even tried electricity, but in spite of it all I was not able to leave the house, and it seemed as though I must give up entirely.

"One day, my wife, noticing the Puritana advertisement, called my attention to it. As it seemed to meet my case, I concluded to try it. I did so, and firmly believe that God sent me Puritana, for it has performed "To-day I am working in the field, and can eat and sleep as of old. I am convinced that in a short time I shall be able once more to preach God's word, which has been my desire ever since my affliction.

"I wish to add that there is no medicine in the world that I would take to-day outside of Puritana."

O'REILLY'S MEMORIAL

Unveiled by the Youngest Daughter of the Beloved Poet

In Presence of a Most Distinguished Gathering.

An Eloquent Tribute by President Capen of Tuits College.

Boston, June 20.-When the memorial to John Boyle O'Reilly was unveiled in O'Reilly, 1844-1890, Poet, Patriot, Orator; Ireland gath him birth, England exile, America freedom and honor; God gives him rest."

Vice President Stevenson was present, representing the national government, and besides a host of eminent Catholic clergymen, there were Rt. Rev. William Lawrence and a number of other Protestant clergmen present. Acting Governor Wolcott represented the state, Mayor Quincy the city, and there was a deputation of members from the legislature and from the city government. The program of exercises was as follows:

Jubilee overture, conducted by B. J. Lang of the Handel and Haydn society. and rendered by 150 singers from the St. Cecilia and the Apollo clubs, with 50 members of the Symphony orchestra.

Introductory remarks by the chairman of the committee, A. Shuman. Address by General Francis A. Walker, president of the day.

Singing of a poem by John Boyle Presentation of the memorial to the city of Boston by Thomas J. Gargan.

Speech of acceptance by Mayor Quincy. Unveiling of the memorial by Miss Blanid O'Reilly, the poet's youngest daughter. Crowning of the figure with a laurel wreath by Mrs. Louise Chandler Moul-

Poem by James Jeffrey Roche.

Oration by Rev. Dr. Elmer H. Capen, president of Tufts college.

Address by Vice President Stevenson. Chorus, national anthem. Benediction by Very Rev. Vicar General William Byrne. At an interval, during the exercises, letters were read from President Cleveland and other distinguished invited

Following is the address of President

Capen: The speaker began his address with a brief sketch of O'Reilly's life, beginwhen he was 11 years of age, and passing rapidly over his seven years' apprenticeship in a printing office, his return to Ireland, his intention of entering journalism, his enlistment in the in giving bail for prisoners. famous cavalry r giment, the Tenth Hussars, his interest in the Fenian movement in which he joined, his arrest and conviction as a traitor to Great Britain, his imprisonment in England and Australia, and his escape from the latter island on board an American whaler, landing at Philadelphia, Nov. 23, 1869. "Here," said the speaker, "he began a new life, and became one of the most intensely patriotic American citizens, assumed a high rank as a journalist, literateur and orator. Continuing, haracter that gave him such high distinction and brought upon him such universal honor?

First of all, his sincerity and gentle-ess were of the rarest order. They were qualities which drew men to him and held them, just as the particles of steel are drawn and held by the magnet. His soul was absolutely transparent, and without guile. He had all the simplicity, spontaneity and genuineness of a child. He wore his heart upon his sleeve. He had no concealment and no duplicity. His wisdom was not of the self-conscious sort, which puffs and struts and vaunts itself before men. Everywhere he was the Christian gen-tleman, and his wisdom therefore was of that refined and heaverly sort which an Apostle has described as "First pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits without partiality and without hypoc-

But there were many chains of the more subtle sort. His culture was of an all-around character. More than any man of modern times, so far as I know, he reproduced the old Greek life. In the Olympic games, the runner, boxer, charioteer, reciter of history, orator and poet received alike the laurel wreath of victory. O'Reilly was equally at home in whatever effort called forth the best in men. He was an expert in all manly sports. His muscle and eye had been trained as well as his brain. But he also excelled in the creations of his mind. He was a master of speech, and could sway an audience as with a magician's wand. Of his place in letters it is too early to speak with certainty. His culture undoubtedly missed the refined quality that is apparent in Lowell and Longfellow, or in Moore and Shelley. His schooling was too brief to secure for him the exquisite finish which nothing but schooling can give. But whatever may be said of the roughness of his execu-tion, no one will deny that he had in the fullest measure and highest degree the

But O'Reilly had other and higher qualities. He had an unmistakable power of leadership. This way of leadpower of leadership. This way of leadership, upon which he entered with bold and unfaltering tread, swept him forward to sentiments of the loftiest patriotism and the broadest humanity. If a question arose which involved the welmen in an age that is sometimes called agnostic and irreverent. His religion was an ever present reality, pervading his whole being. His faith was lofty and clear. With every fibre of his being he was a Roman Catholic. Yet I are constrained to say he was more. No single name could adequately describe that subtle and elastic quality of soul which we call his religion.

which we call his religion.

Such was the man whose monument we have reared—the broadest minded and most accomplished Irishman since Edmund Burke. One of the few rare and transparent souls, to whom out of panic in 1893, this week's increase is 22 of the last half of the 19th centure. and transparent souls, to whom out of all the races the last half of the 19th century has decreed an immorality of fame.

Some Think! We Know!! Pure Ice.

THE Proof of Purity can only be ascertained by a scientific analysis. Any claims made by dealers without this test are worthless. We have had the Ice furnished by the MEADOW BROOK ICE CO. submitted to this test, and it is with much satisfaction that we present the following analysis, made by H. CARLTON SMITH, Chemist, Boston. The figures represent the number of parts found in 100,000 of the water examined:

> ANALYSIS. Free Ammonia, .0026 Albuminoid ammonia, .0088 Nitrites, none Nitrates, none Chlorine, .0039 Total solids, Fixed solids, Loss on ignition, Sediment,

Mr. Smith says: "This ice is of exceptional purity and the water formed by letting this ice melt would compare very favorably with most, and in fact any spring water.'

3d. The large quantity of TEA which we sell enables us to be often in the market as buyer, and any advantage to be had by any cash buyers we get.

4th. Because we can refer you to hundreds of families in Quincy and vicinity who have used TEA purchased from our establishment with satisfaction.

5th. Because we never sold more than at present time and never with better results. 6th. We never give prizes, preferring to give the value in the goods.

There are more reasons but above will show that we mean business.

We will gladly give a generous sample for trial to any lady calling at our store or by sending a note by messenger with name and street number of lady sending same, for the task confided to them is one that otherwise no samples will be given to children.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

The Caretakers of City Mansions-Mrs. Fleming's Trial a Novelist's Theme-Popular Songs.

[Special Correspondence.]

New York city in the "season" and New York city during the summer are two very different places, at least in apters. Already the residences in the up town streets have begun to show unmiscaretaker. Flowers bloom in basement I rose windows, dogs, undoubtedly of plebian origin, revel in the yards, and family groups that plainly have no permanent Had staid at home behind me and was fast place there gather in the areas. The presence of children playing in streets which never witness such a spectacle at other seasons is another sight that He burned with great ambition, for he knew and from quarter deck to masthead. proves how large a proportion of the city's well to do population is already out of town. Some of the families that move in to look after the closed houses during the summer are regular tenants, and year after year return to the same place. Their services are highly valued, has its difficulties, and satisfactory peo-BOSTON BRANCH GROCERY, Durgin & Merrill's ple are not easily to be found. There are usually people in the adjoining houses who are prompt to complain of any delinquencies on the part of their neighbor's caretakers, and babies that cry, dogs that bark, and other unaccustomed features of quiet and exclusive city regions are very soon noticed and objected to. Often the caretakers are old servants of a family, married, and glad to return from tenement life to the comforts of larger quarters and a quiet neighborhood.

The Songs of the Hour.

Have you ever noticed that with the advent of each summer there almost always comes along a song that develops into a craze which slowly sweeps over And, with vigor unabated, this man with a the country from coast to coast, eventually penetrating even to the remotest hamlets? Last year it was "There's Only One Girl." From present appearances it looks as if either Gustav Kerker, Andrew Mack or Charles E. Trevathan was to be responsible for this summer's musical mania. Kerker's "Molly," which is sung in "In Gay New York," is exasperatingly infectious. Mack's "My Black Baby Boy" has already set Philadelphia humming, and according to the Boston newspapers Trevathan's new song, "Honey on My Lips," which has proved to be the hit of "The Merry Go Round," is in every way a worthy successor to his "New Bully."

Mrs. Fleming In a Book.

A great many sensational murder trials, especially those wherein the accused have been women and the alleged crime has been committed by the administration of poison, have been seized upon by writers who, under the thinnest disguises, have converted the incidents to their own uses and thereby saved themselves the trouble of concocting original plots for their novels. A case in point is that of Mrs. Maybrick, the American woman who was accused of having done her husband to death in England with the assistance of a small quantity of arsenic. She was convicted and sentenced to be hanged a couple of weeks later. The clamor against the injustice of the verdict, however, became so great that she was granted a commutation and is now a life prisoner at Woking. As all newspaper readers are aware, great efforts have been made unsuccessfully to obtain a pardon for the unfortunate woman, whom most persons after the trial. A prominent writer of fiction made use of the more thrilling revelations of the case in a novel which had an enormous sale, and in which the guilt of the "heroine" was disproved and the culpability of another character fully established. Now it is said that a well known story writer of this city will shortly publish a novel dealing in the same manner with the case of Mrs. Fleming, who is charged with having killed her mother in order to get possession of an entailed estate of something over $80,000. It will be very interesting to observe the reception accorded to the coming book, as, if it should prove a financial success, it is reasonably certain that the country will be called upon to endure a similar work close upon the heels of every trial which may be sufficiently sensational to attract general at-The Cyclist In Politics.

When bicycle riding in this city had worked itself up to the dignity of a craze it soon became apparent that that bane of every self respecting cyclist, as well as pedestrian-the scorcher-could only be suppressed by means of bicycle policemen, as they have come to be called. The League of American Wheelmen was as loud in its demand for these functionaries as the nonriding class. Now that fast, or, more properly speaking, very fast riding, is much less frequent than formerly, it is said that a minority of the organized wheelmen of the city, consisting mainly of those individuals who take especial delight in evading the law, or disobeying it outright, will get together for the purpose of exacting a pledge from aldermanic and mayoralty candidates, here and in Brooklyn, that they will, if elected, do all in their power to have the laws as to fast riding, carrying lamps and bells, etc., repealed. They won't accomplish anything at all, of course, but it is just such fool riders as these who prevent cyclists from getting those privileges to which they are justly entitled, and who are responsible for the strong feeling against cyclists which many very estimable persons unquestionably entertain. So, too, on board of a man-of-war the bugle is used to make an order penetrate the uttermost parts of the ship, from deck to hold, from stem to stern From morning till night it is calling And that nature's view in putting him on officers and men to routine duties, and in battle it is directing nearly their every movement and inspiring them to their utmost endeavor, says Lieutenant John M. Ellicott in an article in St. Nicholas describing "What the Bugle Tells on a Warship.'

At the time assigned in the morning orders the officer of the deck gives his first routine order: "Sound the reveille! Call all hands!" At once there ring out in the hitherto silent ship merry bugle notes known to almost all of us. To them have been fitted the words:

I can't get 'em up; I can't get 'em up I can't get 'em up in the morning.
I can't get 'em up: I can't get 'em up; I can't get 'em up at all.

The captain's worse than the sergeant; The sergeant's worse than the corp'ral; The corp'ral's worse than the private, But the major's the worst of all.

I can't get 'em up; I can't get 'em up;
I can't get 'em up in the morning. I can't get 'em up; I can't get 'em up; I can't get 'em up at all.

The last note is followed by the shrill whistle of a boatswain's mate and the ha-a-nds!"

Then on the decks below you can hear the master at arms rushing from hammock to hammock, giving the sluggards a slap and a shake and repeatedly cry- Fire Insurance Placed. Best Companies,

"Heave out; heave out and lash up!" There is one call to quarters more imperative than the others. Its notes are high and rapid, like a danger cry. It means "To the guns!" and is sounded without warning by day or night. No Since then he's tried things many, but could muster is awaited then. Every man flies to his station, and the guns are cleared away and loaded without waiting for All his glory has departed, and I lately heard an order, for the call means that the enemy is at hand.

At the last note of tattoo the shin's hell is struck note of tattoo the ship's bell is struck twice for 9 o'clock, and the poatswain's whistle sounds "Pipe down!" Every man must then turn into his hammock whether he is sleepy or not, for an inspection is made by the master at arms to see that all have done so. Then sounds that last, long, mournful call, "taps."

> That Million Stamp Business. Here is what Golden Days tells about that much talked of matter of collecting

1,000,000 stamps: "If you care to collect 1,000,000 s, almost any dealer will give you $75 for the lot. Of course it may take Half Hours with the Bible, (Old and New ten years to collect 1,000,000, and $7.50 The lady's opera glasses were peculla year is not extravagant pay, but that Longfellow's Evangeline. is your lookout. The dealers who buy Frontier Humor by Palmer Cox, 40 cts. these enormous numbers look them over carefully and sort out all the rare ones, and the remainder are shipped to Europe, where they are disposed of at a profit of 4 or 5 cents per 1,000. This assured profit, together with what is made on the few rare ones which are sure to be found among so many, makes the investment a very good one. One dealer in Boston paid an old lady $125 for 1,000,000, which she had been 20 years collecting. He disposed of them at a profit of $475. Still it could hardly be said that he made the money easily, for it took three persons, spending the greater part of each evening, three months to look them all over."

Wooden Swearing. "I hope, dear children," said a mother, "that you will never let your lips speak profane words. But now I want to tell you of a kind of swearing I heard a good woman speak about not long ago. She called it wooden swearing. "It's a kind of swearing that many people besides children are given to when they are angry. Instead of venting their feelings in oaths, they slam doors, kick the chairs, stamp on the floor, throw the furniture about and make all Braintree Graduations.

Graduation week, with all that it means to the children and youth of today, has rolled around again and by the time the reader's eye falls upon this paragraph, will be a thing of the past.

The week has been a busy one. Commencing with public day Tuesday at the Jonas Perkins school, there has been a vast amount of work done by the pupils and teachers.

Quite a number of ladies and gentlemen were present to witness the departmental work done in this school and they were well pleased with what they saw.

Thursday afternoon the graduating exerises at the school took place. Many guests were present and the programme which we give below was carried out with perfect smoothness and with much credit:

The Honey Bee Chorus. School Recitation, Getting the right start Richard DeNeill. Recitation, The Pied Piper of Hamelin Edna Stewart.

Essay, Charles Brooks. Roses and Carnations Chorus, School. Recitation, A Good Name Alexander Lang.

Abraham Lincoln

Essay, Reminiscences of an Inkwell Alice Stevens. Cheerfulness Recitation, Fred Hansen.

Guitar Solo, Miss Marion Baldwin Vision of Sir Launfal, Part Recitation, Lillie Custance. Vision of Sir Launfal, Part Eva Lawe. Process of Printing Henry Ryan.

Bird Caro School. Our Country Otto Rymarczick. Recitation, The rich man and the poor man Elsie Horsman. Birds of Killingworth

Charles Orr. Hark! the merry pealing bells School. Courtship of Myles Standish Bertha Perry.

At 10 o'clock, Thursday morning, the pretty hall in that school building was well filled to listen to an address by Rev. A. A. Ellsworth. The platform was lined with beautiful flowers and decorations. The class sang songs, Mr. Ewart made appropriate opening remarks, after which he introduced Mr. Ellsworth, who in a humorous and intensly interesting manner talked to the children for a half hour. He immediately caught their attention by free trade, so far as the public is concerned, announcing for his subject the word "Gumption." He said it was a down east expression. TAINTED BLOOD.

Scrofula Almost Universal-Some of Its Many Forms.

Scrofula taints the blood of almost every one, and it is the cause of much of our ill health. If it attacks the breathing organs, the issue is consumption; if the digestive bility; if the muscles, the issue is rheumaruption. It is a mistake to characterize it as unseen. What festers your skin on every little abrasion? Scrofula. What gives that hack to your cough on exposure to the slightest damp and cold? Scrofula. What makes your food an oppression? Scrofula. What racks and bones and sinews as you grow old? Scrofula. It operates by withholding nutrition and defeating all efforts toward nourishment: life becomes a burden, and the victim knows not the blessing and 4 Faxon's Block, Quincy, happiness of health. It is your duty to yourself, your family, and your race, to manfully oppose and dislodge this demon. How? We can only say, that others, who were afflicted as you are, have found relief and a cure in a moderate use of Hood's Sarsaparilia, that compound in which the skill of the modern pharmacist and the knowledge unite for the benefit of suffer ing humanity.

Harbor Excursion.

The Sunday School of the Unitarian Church will go on a harbor excursion on Wednesday, July 1st. The steamer Martha has been chartered for the occasion. It will leave the wharf at Quincy Point, at 2 o'clock. Members of the school will meet on the church steps before 1.30, when cars will take them to the steamer. The party will return at 6 o'clock.

The expense of the trip will be borne by the Sunday School. Children under ten may bring one older person with them. The entire number will be limited to two JOHN O. HALL, JR.

Children's Day.

Children's Sunday was observed at the day forenoon. The younger classes took a prominent part in the exercises. Mr. John R. Anderson made the address. Five little children were baptized by the pastor,-the Rev. Edward A. Robinson. They were: Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Alvord of Newton, William Sewall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Sayward, Ethel and Marie Elizabeth, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dickie, and Abby King, new Savings bank building are nearly daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. complete.

Wollaston Unitarian church on Sunday forenoon. There was a large attendance. There was a wealth of floral decorations, the most noticeable being the great arch of bayberry bushes, which spanned the auditorium. The pastor Rev. James E. Bagley, delivered an interesting address to the children. Three children were baptized: passing the churches while services are Winslow Bradford, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Weston, and Helen and Marion Francis, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Browne. Children's Day was observed at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning There was a large attendance, a beautifu ecoration of flowers and flags, and a programme of unusual interest and appropriateness. The recitations by the children and their singing were very well done, surprisingly so by the little ones of the primary department. The sacrament of infant baptism was adminstered by the pastor. A goodly effering for the Board of Sabbath Alfred Noon of Boston is announced to preach for the pastor next Sunday.

Children's Sunday was observed at the West Quincy Methodist church Sunday, The church being very prettily decorated with flowers and green boughs. Rev. A. A. morning preached a memorial sermon in church. In the evening there was a Sunday school concert with appropriate readings, recitations and singing by the children

Democratic Party Receives Another Warning From Whitney.

Free Silver Coinage Means Panic and Misery.

Incidentally Mentions That He Has No Presidential Aspirations.

New York, June 22.-Ex-Secretary of the Navy Whitney yesterday made the following personal statement:

"I find it necessary to make a public statement embodying my views on the situation, to correct misconceptions and save time now occupied in answering questions. Far too much importance has been attached to my decision to go to the Chicago convention. I have been practically out of politics for four years, and there are now many eastern Democrats who can do much more than I can for the party. I shall not assume any osition of leadership. My decision to stay was simply based on the duty of every person who believs in the party for its principles, to stay by and lend his aid and take chances when the great crisis is upon the Democratic party. "Fundamental differences of principles exist inside of the party, marked almost by sectional lines. The great question, to my mind, is whether the party meets in convention now as in 1860, with issues and differences that are for the moment irreconcilable. For the past 15 years leaders of public opinion in the south and west have been advocating as the great remedy for existing ills, the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, with or without the co-operation of other na-

"Our people, on the other hand, en-tirely disagree with these views, and believe almost universally that it wili bring general ruin to the business and prosperity of the country. It is deemed a new doctrine when proposed to be incorporated into the platform of the national Democracy. It is true that in no previous platform of the party can it specifically be found. Consequently no party obligations heretofore assumed oblige them to subscribe to it. Under these circumstances, if the results of the Democratic convention should be to establish as the issue of this campaign the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, independent of other nations, in intensity of feeling likely to arise, it is to | Moon sets-1:20 a. m. be seriously apprehended that a dis- Full sea-8:28 a. m.; 8:50 p. m. ruption of the Democratic party might occur. Certainly no substantial following could be secured for the doctrine mong eastern Democrats. "This movement for free coinage purports to have for its object the establishment and maintenance of gold and silver, as the money of the country, upon equal terms with each other, and at a parity of purchasing power. If, by the proposed measure, that object could be secured, there would be no substantial disagreement in the party. Every national Democratic platform that has heretofore spoken upon the subject has declared for both gold and silver money. It is our traditional policy. But the maintenance of the double standard at the present time is not a question of desire, it is a question of ability. The commercial value of silver has declined greatly in the markets of the world. "Whatever the causes are, and whoever is to blame, the fact is that silver has declined, and free coinage now at 16 to 1 is the same as our offering for all the silver in the world about twice what it is selling for in the market. At the present moment Germany, France, Italy, Austria, Holland, Belgium and the United States wish to co-operate for the establishment and maintenance of the joint standard by international agreement, and Great Britain has, within three months, made a most important concession. Most any sacrifice might be asked of Democrats for the sake of the party and they would cheerfully make it. But if the delegates from this locality should go to that convention and represent that the rank and file of the party would follow the lead of our southern brethren and vote for the free coinage of silver by the United States alone, they would be misrepresenting the state of public opinion here. And the same feeling of indisposition to com-promise with the matter for votes or anything else is as active and dominant here in our party as it was found in the

RUSSELL IS OUT OF IT.

Does Not Want to Be the Democratic Presidential Candidate.

Will Aid Whitney In Fight For Sound Money.

Talk With Judge Corcoran on the Prospects at Chicago Convention.

Boston, June 25 .- Ex-Governor Will-Democratic nomination for the presicoinage Democrats will hold sway at Chicago, and instead of being a candidate himself he intends to go to the convention in response to the call of President Cleveland, and fight side by side with William C. Whitney of New York, in favor of a strong financial platform.

This determination on the part of Massachusetts' popular ex-governor was arrived at yesterday, and an official statepress. In this statement he recites that the coming campaign is one of issues rather than men, and that after the call of President Cleveland and the decisive and determined stand taken by ex-Sec retary Whitney, he can see no other condition than to divorce himself from the bligations of candidacy and go to Chirago to fight the free silver heresy.

thanking the party in the state for their loyalty and support, that under no conditions does he desire to press his candidacy, and so withdraws. He expresses the less be for silver, but under the unit rule hope that the country will repudiate all financial heresies and that a sound money plank will follow. Judge Corcoran, the ex-governor's right hand political friend, was seen by a reporter last evening. He said: The governor has repeatedly stated to me that he had grave doubts as to whether he ought to allow his name to be presented to the Chicago convention insisting at all times that the platform was of greater consequence than the candidate. A demand will be made that wil require his attendance at the conven-tion, and one of the delegates from his district will retire in his favor. "Mr. Russell recently announced that he was in favor of Mr. Whitney as a candidate, but the latter's recent withdrawal in order to look out for the interests of the sound money people has met with Mr. Russell's approval and led CEO. H. FIELD, Agent. him to adopt a like course. He will unite with Mr. Whitney."

"Has Mr. Russell expressed any views in regard to another candidate?" "As far as I know he has no personal preference, but his political interest will be in the selection of a man who will stand for a sound money platform that will commend itself to the business and financial interests of the country." "How will the fight at Chicago be

"The fight hinges on the insertion of the gold plank in the platform, and will killed. be made by direct appeals to the judgment and conscience of the assembled delegates. In fact, Mr. Russell will advocate such a platform as will be upheld by Massachusetts and New York." "What course will be adopted by the Massachusetts delegation, it having been instructed for Russell?" "In view of the decision not to have his name presented, the delegates will go to Chicago ready to do what seems best for the interests of the party, in policy and principle." "Do you think the Massachusetts votes no doubt they will be overwhelmingly in favor of any man recognized as the embodiment of honest Democratic principles. Details are not of so much con-sequence as results. Hobart's Popularity. Paterson, N. J., June 23.-This city turned out in a body last night to do

nonor to Garrett A. Hobart. Never in its history has such a demonstration been held. The entire city was a mass o bunting and flags; red fire and fireworks were burned throughout the night, and the people sheered as they never cheered before. One of the features of the demonstration was a parade, in which 10, 600 men were in line, including societies of every order, labor, military, political and wheelmen. The line of march was taken up at the armory, where a reception had been held earlier in the even ing, and about which a dense mass of citizens had congregated, and from there the procession moved to Mr. Hobart's residence, where it was reviewed by the iam E. Russell is not a candidate for the gentleman in whose honor it was started. Among the others who spoke was Mr dency. He expects that none but free Hobart himself, and he declared that even though defeat come to him, he would be satisfied, because of the grand demonstrtion the nomination had made it possible to hold. He was presented with two magnificent floral horseshoes each 15 feet high.

Under Altgeld's Thumb. Peoria, Ills., June 23.-Populism has omplete mastery of the Illinois Democ acv. The state convention will resolv in favor of "the equal rights of gold and silver coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1," and will instruct the delegates to Chicago to vote as a unit in favor of such a prop osition. A resolution will also be pre sented, favoring a constitutional amendment so that a graduated income tax can be levied by the government. A renomination of Governor Altgeld on such a platform will follow as a matter of ourse. There has probably never been a state convention where one man's con trol was as firm as that which Altgele has over Illinois' Democrats.

Gold Men In Minority.

Indianapolis, June 23.-The Democrats of Indiana are gathering in great numbers for the state convention. It is probable that two days will be devoted to the convention. Free silver will carry, and the platform will be very strong favoring free and unlimited, immediate and independent coinage of silver at the ratio of 6 to 1. The Free silver delegates will inlude 1500 of the 1747 delegates, the major ty of the gold standard element coming from Indianapolis. The prospects ar that B. F. Shively of South Bend will be nominated for governor.

Gold In Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, June 23.-The chances are will adopt a gold platform by a majority of two to one, although there are many delegates who favor silence on the subject and still more who want a silver plank. Few of the delegates are here yet. Some of the delegates will doubt-

The Whole Question to Decide, Is It a Beverage?

Judge Humphrey Finds Mr. Durgin chapel a week from Sunday, the first Sun-Guilty and He Appeals.

The case against A. G. Durgin of Quincy, for keeping a common liquor nuisance came up in the Quincy court today. Louis A. Cook, Esq., of Weymouth appeared for the government and J. W. McAnarney for the defence.

Henry H. Faxon was the first witness. He testified to buying Durgin's malt extract at his store. Asked for another kind Decoration day tourney, was defeated by but took Dargin's. Sent it to Mr. Sharpless the champion of the Merry Mount Tennis of candidates for admission to Adams aca and had it analyzed. Bought some May club, Walter M. Continuous Electric Line from Quincy to the Beach.

Along Route.

Enjoys a Banquet.

A continuous line of street railway is now in operation from Neponset to Nantasket beach the connecting link at East Wey-

Not only is it the connecting link between Quincy and East Weymouth but Montello, Hanover, Brockton, Abington and the Weymouths as well; and all these cities and towns participated in the formal opening by invitation of the Hingham Company.

Special cars were run from all the above places those from Quincy leaving about 3 o'clock. For the street railway officials and newspaper men from Boston a car left Post Office square, Boston, at 145 and run to Neponset bridge where a change of cars was made and in 55 minutes from the time of starting the gentlemen were landed in City square, Quincy.

Here a stop of a few minutes was made to enjoy the hospitality of the Quincy & Boston, who served refreshments in the directors' room and drank toasts to the Hingham street railway and the press.

The two gaily decorated Hingham cars which were in waiting were then taken and with three cheers the start for Nantasket was made.

Among the Quincy party were Councilmen Bryant, Nickerson, Lamb, Hayden, Little and Rideout, Commissioner Knowlton, Overseer of the Poor Bass, Clerk of Council Spear, George W. Prescott, of the LEDGER, Charles A. Belcher, Editor Huxford, of the Randolph Register, Editor Green, of the Advertiser, E. F. Porter, J. W. Rideout, Arthur T. Spargo, George T. Magee, President Graham, Superintendent Weeks, Roger H. Wilde, Thomas H. McDonnell, J. F. Merrill, Dr. W. A. Drake, John A. Duggan, and A. G. Burnham of the street railway.

The run to East Weymouth was made in 5 minutes and here several public spirited itizens exploded quantities of fireworks. From East Weymouth to the Hingham lepot the run was made in 18 minutes.

Arriving at the Hingham depot the Quincy Boston. cars took a spin over the line toward South Hingham going as far as Liberty Pole hill, the only stop being at the residence of Hon. J. O. Burdett, where more refreshments were served.

From South Hingham the run was made to Broad Bridge again, and from there to the power house where a stop of a few minutes was made to inspect the plant. Then the cars were again taken, the next stop being at the Ocean View house, at Nantasket, at which point the excursionists from Brockton way were met; also some gentlemen who had come all the way by electrics from Bridgewater.

After washing off a little of the dust that had accumulated dinner was announced and in a few minutes the four hundred were busily at work upon an excellent shore dinner, to which all did ample justice.

The Quincy & Boston had brought one of their own cars down to bring the Quincy people home, and a few minutes before 7 clock the homeward start was made.

Just as Conductor Austin had given the signal to go, a hand organ man was sighted and he was taken aboard, and there was one continuous strain of music all the way home; several of the gentlemen in the party taking a hand at the crank with a proficiency which led the others to think that they had been there before. The hat was passed twice during the trip and the hand organ man was five dollars richer by

All went well until the Hingham depot laid piece of track that had not been completed, the car jumped the track causing a delay of half an hour.

This gave Rev. F. Roche, who resides directly opposite, an opportunity to shake hands with several of his Quincy friends who were in the party.

This was the only event to mar the nomeward trip and Quincy centre was reached shortly before 9 o'clock.

The Hingham company certainly have a fine piece of track and everybody was loud in their praises of it; and of the hospitality extended the party by its officials.

One lovely young matron, whose light brown hair is admired, had a spray of pink half opened roses in her bair. Another matron wore white roses and deep red coses ornamented another fair young head.

The flower girls, Miss Eleanor Randall and Miss Helen Baxter, both of Quincy, delicately gowned in white, and carrying big baskets of roses which they strewed along the bridal path, slowly entered from the chapel and went down the aisle to meet the bride, who with her father and maid of honor, Miss Davis, in Hall's Catarrh Care. pink, advanced to the altar to be met by the groom in full naval dress, and his Savage, of the Church of the Unity of Boston, whose church the bride has attended the past few years. Many stood to catch the little that came to them of the happy party; and it seemed as if old Quincy did its best to make a happy augury for the young bride, who has made so many friends among us, and her gallant husband.

A fervent God speed is wished this newly wedded couple and long years of mutual happiness.

This is the first international marriage in our city, in the so called fashionable circles, and it attracted considerable attention. A reception at the house of the bride's father followed. The grounds about the pretty residence were very beautifully and tastefully illuminated by colored electric ights; the wiring was done by our excellent electrician, E. S. Beckford.

The reception at the house on Adams street was from 8 to 10 o'clock; the music was by the Germania band of Boston.

Among the prominent guests were noticed Col. Henry Thomas and wife: M. J. Murray and wife; Revs. Savage, Butler, Hosmer, Wilson and Porter; Drs. Gilbert and Gordon; Col. William Barrett of Concord; Benjamin W. Munroe and daughter of Boston; Henry H. Faxon, was reached, when in passing over a newly E:q; James Doane of Cohasset, 90 years old; William Allen of Plymouth, grand uncle of bride, 79 years old; John D. Morton and wife; Joshua Mayward and wife of Boston.

After the reception the happy couple left for Boston, in a hack gayly trimmed with white ribbons, inside and out. Their wedding trip is to Newport, R. I, and their future residence at London. They leave Boston next Saturday on the Steamer Cephalonia, the sam boat in which they first met each other, or their future home.

The Honorable J. F. Greer, one of the best known and most highly respected county Judges of the State of Florida, writes of his horrible sufferings from Inflammatory Rheumatism:

Green Cove Springs, Clay Co., Fla.

I was attended by the most eminent physician in the land. I visited the great Saratoga Springs, N. Y., the noted Hot Springs of Arkansas, and many other watering places, always consulting with the local physicians for directions, and finally came to Florida, ten years ago. About two years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, was confined to my room for twelve weeks, and during that time was induced to try P. P. P. Lippman's Great Remedy, knowing that each ingredient was good for impurities of the blood. After useing two small bottles I was relieved. At four different times since I have had slight attacks and each time I have taken two small bottles and each time I have taken two small bottles and each time I have taken two small bottles and each time I have taken two small bottles.

Fruit and Berries Have Made Rapid Growth.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

A Week of Favorable Conditions

Throughout New England.

Good Progress Made In Cultivation of Crops In General.

Boston, June 23.-The New England section of the United States agricultural bureau issues the following bulletin: The weather in New England for the week ending June 22 has been generally warm and dry, with plenty of sunshine. Moderate rain came in showers on the 17th and 21st, giving field and garden crops moisture enough in most places for surface needs, while the high temperature for the last of the week has been favorable for plant growth. The conditions have been favorable for cultivating the crops, and that work has been carried on as fast as possible. Corn has changed in color and pushed ahead fast. Tobacco has made a rapid growth. In fact all crops are in a very satisfactory condition. Apples are dropping some in the central sections, but there is no general complaint. The outlook for berries is promising. Haying has begun on some fields in each of the three southern states, but the work will not become general for another week. Pastures are excellent. Grass on old fields is still reported light, but new lands and meadows are improving and thickening up

Fair, warm weather has prevailed in Maine during the week and all crops have been most favorably affected. Hoeing was much behind hand, but it has been a favorable week for cultivating the crops and that work has been pushed Pastures are better than a week ago, and grass is generally looking well, though backward in northern sections. Potatoes are in good condition, with encouraging prospect. There is some complaint in Oxford that corn seed rotted, but the main crop is well up and growing fast. Fruit set well and the outlook for it is very promising.

It has been a "grand week for growth and work" in New Hampshire, and time has been fully improved by the farmers in pushing along the hoeing and prepar ing for haying. Grass on uplands is about ready to cut, but lowlands and nev fields are still growing fast. Corn and potatoes are making a splendid growth and the former has changed from the yellow color of a few weeks ago to a rich green. Field strawberries are ripening fast, and are of good size and quality Blueberries are beginning to ripen i Rockingham county .One correspondent in this county says cherries are plenty Grapes are blossoming full. One corre spondent in Cheshire county remarks: that "apples are falling fast from the trees where there are many."

Light showers fell in Vermont on the 17th, and in southern counties on the 21st gave only light fall, but in the northern districts over three-fourths of an inch of rain fell in a thunder shower The warm weather with the showers even though light, has brought crops along very fast. Corn and beans esterday by the departure of 40 families pecially have shown marked progress. WE are daily receiving letters testifying in the strongest manner to the purity of the SHAWMUT SPRING WATER, as well as the beneficial results from the use of the provinces later in the week. Tradestates that farmers on hill farms back states that farm of the great number of grasshoppers which are unusually thick on high ground. Apples are falling quite badly in Addison county. Very little rain has fallen in eastern Massachusetts this week, but in west-ern districts a good shower came on the 7th and another on the 21st, doing much good. Crops have made good progress and are now for the most part in satisfactory condition. Corn is reported to be small on many fields, but its color is good and it is promising. Potatoes have improved a good deal. In Barnstable county rye is light, but generally grains of all kinds are doing well. Apples are dropping some in eastern counties, but in western Hampden they are hanging on very well. The correspondent in the last named section states that no material damage has been done this year from any insects, and adds the perhaps significant note that song birds are more plenty than for several years. Strawberries are everywhere reported plenty. Blackberries are looking well. Cranberry bogs are in good condition. To bacco has made an excellent growth. and is well advanced. Some haying has been done on dry fields, and the corn is light. It is thickening up very fast on low lands.

Good growing weather has prevailed in Raode Island during the week, and crops have all advanced very well. Pastures are in good condition. Meadows have improved. Strawberries are at their best now, and the supply is plentiful and the quality fine. Potatoes look ing well. The weeds developed very fast during the wet weather, and hoeing goes on slowly in some fields.

The weather has been very favorable for all kinds of crops in Connecticut during the week. Over one and one-half inches of rain fell in southwestern districts the 17th, and a moderate amount came in other sections on that date, and also on the 21st. Haying has begun on some fields, but the work is not general. bathing. Grass is still improving, except on the driest fields. Corn and potatoes are growing very fast. Correspondents in Tolland county say that rye is not heading well, and that a light crop of grain is promised, but in Fairfield county rye is turning fast and the "heads are well filled." In Litchfield county strawberries blossomed very full, but the large growers say the crop will be light, due probably to the long spell of dry weather. Apples are dropping more or ess, but the correspondent in New Haven county says they will yet have to be thinned on many trees.

A Yale Sensation.

New Haven, June 23.—There was a tre mendous sensation on the Yale campus yesterday afternoon, caused by an unexpected remark made by Rev. Dr. Joseph Twitchell of Hartford during his oration at the dedication of the Woolsey me moriai statue. It arose from the fact that the ivy planted was from the grav of General Robert E. Lee. In the cours of his speech referring to Professor Wolsey, Dr. Twitchell said: "He was a Union man, heart and soul, and it would make this bronze statue avert its hea were he to know that the graduating class at Yale were to plant on the wall of a building on the campus an ivy fren the grave of Robert E. Lee, Genera Lee was a good man, but he was loyal to an infamous cause." The consensus of opinion among the professors and senior is that the remarks were at least ill-ad vised. Immediately after the dedicator; exercises the ivy committee held a meet ing and the proposition was made to change the ivy, but it was voted down and it was planted with the usual cere

Ohio Democrats For Silver.

Columbus, O. June 24.—The silver men have almost 600 of the 675 delegates in the convention, which met here today. The committee on resolutions and other committees, including the state central committee, stand 17 to 4. The Ohio delegates to Chicago, when the dele gates are all chosen, will probably stand 38 to 8 for free silver, although the silver men claim 40 to 6. With their large majority in this convention the silver men intend to instruct the Ohio dele gation for free coinage and to vote as a unit, so that the four gold districts, which include the cities of Dayton, Ham ilton, Toledo and Cleveland, will be shut

While the instructions for free silver will be ironclad, there will be no instructions for president. Most of the county conventions had endorsed ex-Governo Campbell for president before the tidal wave for silver set in, and now the silver leaders claim that Campbell is too conservative on the financial question. Meantime, John W. Bookwalter, a free silver man, who was the Democratic candidate for governor against Charles Foster in 1881, had worked up quite a sentiment in favor of his endorsement for president. Campbell and his friends openly oppose Bookwalter. The fight between them was stopped yesterday by the friends of John R. McLean, wh said they would oppose either instruc tions or the endorsement of any one for president. It is understood that this movement is in the interest of McLean for the national ticket, while Campbell McLean and Bookwalter have their respective followings as the Ohio favorites. In closing, he said:

"Whatever promotes the content of the people elevates their life and is conducive of happiness. This is the Sunday school and this is a matter of great mo ment in that it is equal to all men, with no seats marked 'reserved!' The Sunday school of today is not as it was 25 years ago. The Sunday school of Robert Raikes exists today but in name. All these features have given place to better methods. As it stands today it is practically a new institution, born of 19th century needs, and tremendously potential for good in its indirect methods. which it supplies to all within its charmed circle. It is not a fad or a fashion, a plaything of unemployed men nor of lelsure-blessed women. In the newer states of the country it is the nucleus of civilization. Few can know the part the little cross-road Sunday schools played in the lives of the earlier settlers of the country. The Sunday school is not only for children, but for adults. It is the best kind of men's clubs. The largest percentage of the church membership comes from the Sunday schools and the Bible classes. "I, myself, do not know where a man can better spend his time, energy and money than in a well-appointed Sunday

A Peculiar Case.

Salem, Mass., June 24. - William S. Atkins, a conductor on the Lynn and Boston road, died on Washington street here last night under peculiar circumstances. The Sunday School Enrollment Shows Small Percentage.

List of Arguments Presented by the Various and has a flavor and body that Boston, June 25 .- At the opening of the second day's session of the Sunday school convention at Tremont Temple, prayers by Bishop Vincent and John Wanamaker, were followed by an address by Mr Moody on the "Holy Spirit and Its Work." At the business session the chair was taken by the new president, Samue B. Capen, oston. The first formal paper of the day was by W. B. Jacobs of Illinois nois, whose topic was "Thorough Organ ization."The general topic of methods was continued by a paper on "Working Up a County," presented by W. J. Semelroth of Missouri. The work of working up a county, said the essavist, is a hurdle race, with natural and designed ob structions. All of these may be over come by diligence and tact. In this work these things will be necessary; knowl edge of the field, dissemination of literature, conference of pastors and superintendents, conventions at stated times Excellent suggestions were made for the plan of conduct of the conventions. "County and Township Organization was the topic of a paper presented by Rev. E. M. Fergusson of New Jersey. T. E. Barkworth of Michigan, the third essaylst, considered the third sub-divisrecated the employment of theological speculations or discussions, and urged that a thorough imbuing of the holy spirit and thorough organization are the two things most productive of co-opera-

The final speaker of the morning session was Marion Lawrance of Ohio, who presented a paper on the subject of "The State Convention." "The best music for conventions," said the speaker, "is that made by the convention. Have a choir if you like, if it has a good leader, but be shy of local soloists, especially if they want to sing. Tell each speaker how much time he may occupy, and let the presiding officer call him down if he encroaches beyond it." These were only an example of the terse, practical suggestions concerning the conduct of conventions. A brief discussion followed the reading of the papers, and closed the session of the morning.

pled in a service of prayer and praise. The subject of the home class department was the first taken up. "The Home Department of Home Classes" was the subject considered by W. A. Duncan, Ph. D., field secretary of the Congregational Sunday School and Publishing society, Boston. His paper stated that in the country at large the Sunday school enrollment is about 20 per cent, with 80 per cent of non-attendants. In the state of New York there are more than 750,000 children and youth of school age 5-91 who are not enrolled in any of its Sunday schools, and 4,500,-000 people out of 6,000,000, and every state in the Union has a similar record. The following are some of the aims of the home department, and where it is successfully worked are the invariable results: Promotion of Bible study; the promotion of Christian usefulness; the increase of attendance on the main school; the increase of attendance upon the services of the church and the formation of a bond of union between non attendants and the church: the salvatio of souls; the increase of the church mem bership; the increase of contribution to the benevolent causes of the church. Rev. Dr. G. B. F. Halleck of Rochester continued the discussion and spoke of the utmost importance that all should have a close acquaintance with the Bible. Any plan which will increase th number of those who read and study and love and live, the Bible and Bible truth is to be welcomed by Christians every-

"Denominational Co-operation" was the second topic of the afternoon, and was discussed by Rev. C. R. Blockall, D. D., of Pennsylvania; Rev. G. M. Boynton, D. D., of Boston; Dr. R. R. Doherty of New Jersey, and Rev. J. A. Worden,

The Whole Country Around Salisbury Has Risen.

White Forces In Danger of Being-Slaughtered by Rebels.

Cape Town, June 25 .- Mlimo, the native "god," has been killed in a sacred cave, 15 miles from this point, and in the very heart of the Matoppo hills, which has been the stronghold of the rebellious bling and foaming to the last drop, Matabeles since the first outbreak occurred among them, and Buluwayo was threatened. Since the beginning of the rebellion, Miimo has been the directing force of the natives, and he has issued ing made from the choicest roots instructions and orders for the various native attacks from this retreat in the and herbs, it is a tonic for children Matoppo hills. He was in the act of offi or grown folks. Numbers of the native rebels ere present, and were bringing offerories to this dusky deity when the sho was fired. The natives immediately fled in terror, while the whites succeeded in reaching their horses and galloped for their lives.

A telegram from Salisbury says that the whole country around that point has risen, and relief is anxiously awaited, many outlying places being defenseless. Stations along the Umtali and Salisbury road have been attacked, and Motundella's store has been looted and six of its defenders killed. A number of iso-lated men along the road have also been killed. It is feared that 50,000 Martini cartridges fell into the hands of the rebels with Motundella's party. Sever whites from the latter party fought thei way through to safety, passing a number of corpses of white men on the way The bodies of some women were als seen, and these had been mutilated by the natives. A member of the party, young girl, obtained a revolver in order o commit suicide if there should be danger of a capture.

There is an intense feeling of concern in Cape Town, there being so many well known people in danger. Nearly the whole of the house of assembly has signed a petition to the government, urging that the colony should aid the imperial government with volunteers used to native warfare, and with the resources of the colony.

A Pretoria dispatch says that circum stantial rumors are in circulation there that Salisbury has been attacked by the rebellious natives and captured, about 0 whites having been killed in the assault and fearfully mutilated. This re port also says that the maxim guns at Salisbury had been smashed. There is no confirmation of this rumor from any other source.

Key West, June 25.-Another alleged filibustering expedition has succeeded in starting to Cuba. Shortly after the ar rival Tuesday of the last steamer from New York a large amount of merchan dise was transferred on board the steam ship City of Key West, while the Cuban hand here gave a concert at Labrisa which was prearranged in order to attract the crowd and enable the mem pers of the expedition to put the cases or poard the steamer without attracting much attention. The City of Key West put to sea between 2 and 3 o'clock yester day morning. It is supposed she will meet the steamer Three Friends outside the three-mile limit and transfer to the latter her passage and cargo. The expedition is in charge of a young American, who is an experienced filibuster.

An Important Decision.

Boston, June 25 .- Judge Colt of the Inited States circuit court has granted preliminary injunction in the case of the Tannage Patent company vs. John E. Donallan of Lynn. The complainant claims the exclusive right to the so-called chrome tanning process, which is used in all morocco leather manufactories, and the decision of the court appears to mean that every morocco leather manufacturer in the country nust pay royalties to the plaintiff. It is said that hundreds of thousands of dollars a year are involved. An appeal will be taken to the circuit court of ap-

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, Saves a Man From Becoming a Cripple.

Mr. Asa Ammons, a well-known citizen of Jacksonville, Florida, was afflicted by a terrible ulcer. Medical skill seemed unavailing in stopping the ravages of the terrible disease. leg was swollen and intensely painful, as the ulcer had eaten its way down to the very bone. All medicines and treatments having failed to effect a cure, the doctors said the leg must come off. Just when it seemed that Mr. Ammons would become a disabled and a crippled man, he tried P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and the result was wonderful.

P. P. P. SAVES HIS LEG.

"Jacksonville, Fla., July 1, 1895.— Two years ago I had the worst ulcer on my leg I ever saw. It had eaten down to the bone, and my whole leg below my knee, and my foot was swollen and inflamed. The bone was swollen and painful, and discharged a most offensive matter. My physicians said I had necrosis of the bone, and my leg would have to come off. At this stage I commenced to take P. P. P. and to bathe my leg with hot castile soap suds. It began to improve at once and healed rapidly, and is to-day a sound and useful leg "I think P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, is all a man could ask for as a blood purifier as I have known it to cure so meterrible cases of blood poisoning in a remarkably short time.

"ASA AMMONS." TERRIBLE BLOOD POISON.

Puritana

Nature's Cure

Fred M. Burroughs, who is with N. Boynton & Co., Boston, and who lives at 32 Pudding Lincoln St., Charlestown, says:- "Last December I was all run down with stomach and bowel trouble. I was troubled with gas, and my food disturbed me after eating. Cod-liver oil emulsion did not give me relief, and I used Puritana and felt good results from the start. I can now eat anything within reason, can enjoy my food, and am not troubled by it after meals. My bowels are as regular as clockwork. I can truly say that Puritana appeals to me as a grand good cure for those afflicted with stomach trouble, and especially indigestion."

In substance these letters set forth that have been looking forward for months. statements that Thomas C. Platt and Harvard second, by a length; Pennconvention in forcing McKinley's friends lengths. The official 'time was 10:18, to accept the gold declaration against 10:22, 10:261/2 and 11:51 respectively. "The skeleton of the money plank adopted by the convention," Mr. Hanna is reported as saying in reply to these pretensions, "was in St. Louis before ex-Senator Platt, Senator Lodge and E. H. Lauterbach arrived. I don't desire to detract from the efforts made by these gentlemen for the cause of sound money, but I do wish to state most emphatically that the plank defining the party's position was advocated by western men, drawn up by western men and approved by me before any man from the east reached St. Louis. The plank, as it was finally approved by me, went to the convention without eastern interference or vention without eastern interference or suggestion. Finally, I may state with equal emphasis, that the plank shown me by Senator Lodge as representing the eastern sentiment was not adopted by the convention, nor was it anything like the declaration made officially for the Republican party, being only two or three sentences long."

A GENEROUS RESPONSE

To the Call For Subscriptions to Carry on Sunday School Work.

Six Thousand Dollars.

Reading of Many Important Papers Prepared by Able Thinkers.

Boston, June 26.—The morning session of the Sunday school convention yesterday, after the address of Mr. Moody which was concerning the work of the holy spirit, was devoted to the reports of the treasurer and of the committees The treasurer, L. H. Biglow of New York, reported the expenses of the lesson committee, showing receipts of $2523.39. The expenditures for five meetings of the committee, and for the post age and incidentals, have been $2493.86 leaving a balance of $29.53. For the gen eral expenses of the convention, th treasurer reported receipts of $21,969.79 ing a balance of $108.41

G. W. Bailey of New Jersey, chairman of the finance committee, reported for that committee. The report showed that the amount pledged at the last convention, held at St. Louis in 1893, for the exnses of the work was $19,555. For arious reasons there was a serious fall ings in several large cities, with the r the report of the executive committee made its report, embodying some perti nent suggestions, especially concerning the work among the colored people of the south. C. S. Smith, a colored delegate from Tennessee, offered as an amend ment to the resolution of acceptance the report, providing for a request to the colored people themselves to aid in the "We appreciate this work among the colored people of the south," he said and we desire the privilege of helping

Next in order was the reception o money pledges from the various states territories and provinces, for the prose cution of the work for the coming thre years. The chairman of the executive committee, B. F. Jacobs, made an ad dress setting forth the requirements of the work, and asked for total pledges to the amount of $25,000. The call of the annual subscriptions from states, territories, provinces and individuals. $11. 521.66 2-3—for three years, $34,565.-Special subscriptions in lump sums, $1015; grand total, $35,580. Several smaller subscriptions afterward handed to the chairman of the executive committee will bring the sum total of the subscriptions to

The ladies held the platform at the afternoon session. The discussion was devoted to the primary department. The only male speaker of the session was Patterson Duboise of Pennsylvania who discussed "The Primary Principle. Other speakers were Margaret C. Brow of New York, who spoke of "Child Study; a Vital Issue in Froebel's Philosophy;" Bertha F. Vella of Massachu setts, who discussed "The State Primary Work;" Mrs. J. W. Barnes of New Jersey, who talked of "The Work of the Primary Union;" and Mary Chisholm Foster of New York, who considered "The Kindergarten of the Church." Mr. Duboise enforced the thought that children should not be regarded or treated as merely little adults, but as a class by themselves, requiring a distinct sys tem of teaching. The center of all move ment in education is the child. The ad dresses of the ladies were all pungent SOMETHING and carefully considered, and were well

Keene Banks Pinched.

Keene, N. H., June 26.-Upon recommendation of the New Hampshire bank bank at Winchester and the Hinsdale Savings bank of Hinsdale yesterday ceased paying or receiving developing d ceased paying or receiving deposits. The cause assigned in both cases is the shutting down of practically all the mills in Hinsdale and Ashuelot, consequently applications for nearly $25,000 in deposits vere made. The bank officers in both cases say, that while the banks assets are sufficient to meet all demands made the poor market for securities might nake it difficult to realize anything like their real value. The officers are confident that a resumption of business in the mills is all that is needed. In 18 months six banks in this county have been enjoined, leaving only two in active business at present.

In Charge of Jailer.

Manchester, N. H., June 26.-Dr. J. C. Moore, under conviction for overissuing stock of the Union Publishing company of which he was formerly treasurer, and under bonds pending a hearing on exceptions of counsel taken during Dr Moore's trial, was brought into court yesterday upon petition of the state to answer the question of the sufficiency of $5000 bonds furnished by him under the appeal. After a long conference the matter was postponed until July the respondent being ordered to furnish an additional bond of $5000 for his appearance at that date. Two bail commissioners were appointed, and the doc tor was remanded to the custody of the jailer, pending the approval of the new urers and agents of all cotton mills in New England, was held here yesterday to discuss the proposed plan of curtailing production. A committee of six was appointed to visit all places where mills are located for the purpose of ascertaining the feeling among the operatives and the probability of strikes, etc., in case the mills are run on short time. It was decided that production must be decreased in any event, so that the short time season will probably be through July and August.

Boston, June 26.-A meeting of the

No Trouble to Get Away.

Rockland, Me., June 26.—Joseph H. Peters, Leslie Small, Charles L. Farr and Claude Meredith sawed their way out of Knox county jail in broad daylight yesterday afternoon, and made a break for the woods. The three last named were captured, but Peters, who nas twice before escaped from Rockland jail, is still at large in the woods back of Dodge's mountain, with an armed posse on his trail. These make 19 escapes from the new jail.

Quincy Called Upon.

Boston, June 26 .- Mayor Quincy left for New York last night, in response to a telegram received from William C. Whitney yesterday afternoon. It is given out that Mayor Quincy is the spokesman of the sound money men in Massachusetts, with whom he has held fortnight. Mayor Quincy will remain a couple of days with Mr. Whitney, assisting the New York leader and Senator Hill in perfecting the details of their fight to be made at Chicago. Mayor venience. No, there is but one Quincy will accompany the Massachusetts delegation to Chicago. Ex-Mayor Matthews is also expected to go to Chi ago, and although not a delegate, Mr. Whitney is anxious that he should lend his aid in the fight that is to be made.

High, and what a change it was! School began somewhat later, as the building was not completed. On September eighteenth took place the ceremony of dedication. Rev. Mr. Wilson pronounced the invocation. The late Governor Greenhalge, Dr. Joseph M. Sheahan, the Commissioner of Public Works, William N. Eaton, Esquire, Committee, Emery L. Crane, Esquire, Sunt. H. W. A flag was preented to the school by the Grand Army. though it had been through the war, as the lots and streets. girls of our class can testify from the work equired to mend it.

As we now had the long desired new building, the improved courses which had been anticipated with eagerness were now matured. The study of Greek was begun, and the pupils from the three higher grades composed the first class in this subject.

The study of chemistry, now in charge of Mr. Tucker, was also introduced, and to cause sorrow to their neighbors as well M. S. Nash of Hanover; as to themself. As there was now a Physical Laboratory, many of the experiments, before omitted could now be performed.

Another valuable improvement that the new building made possible, was the business course. This is a two years' course of commercial studies and English, and fits the pupil well to fill positions of usefulness. This year we were able to have the Prize Speaking Contest and the Graduation exercises in our own hall. How much pleasanter and easier for the pupils to speak when looking around upon familiar objects in their own hall than to do so amid unfamiliar surroundings! With what mingled feelings of sorrow and delight did our class come back in stands. September '95 for their last year at the last year, and delight, to meet again their classmates, and to see once more the familiar walls. Now we saw more clearly the advantages of a High School education. The school exercises a profound influence over the pupils, and so aids in moulding their characters. They are surrounded by reminders of nobleness in the busts and pictures which adorn these walls. They hear frequent discourses on moral subjects. And how can the study of those characters of antiquity and literature do aught but ennoble one, and lift him above all lower passions and desires? Certainly the pupils do all in their power to raise the standard of the school, and make it lead all others.

The High School fits one for a better position in life. With only a grammar school education one cannot take a very responsible position. Four years of study here, broadens one's ideas, and one is then better fitted to solve the problems of Contests is an important advantage. The work in translations and essays gives opportunity to exercise and develop the mind. The contestants can receive he p success. The results of the work have been excellent. The expectation was to leave here last leaders of the ill-fated Bermuda expediammunition and supplies Wednesday night. The men were prevented from of the Spanish consul. The Commodore was to meet the steamer City of Richmunition. They were to meet near Cape Sable, where the Commodore was to also get a large quantity of arms buried there. The Richmond left Key West with munitions at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning. Her leaving time was 5 o'clock usually, so all regular passengers were left.

The steamer mot the McLane and the Commodore yesterday afternoon on her way into port, and reported both making for sea. When the Commodore arrived here Tuesday, she had just returned from where she had landed an expedi tion picked up off St. Johns bar, under command of Julian Zaraga, another of the Bermuda leaders. The McLane will probably watch the Commodore and prevent the trasfer of the cargo, or catch her afterward and return to port.

HIS CELEBRATION.

[Copyright, 1896, by the Author.] Sound the hew gag! Play the pattle tong! Let the jawbone jingle! Fire off your dynamite and ring the bells, For this is the Fourth of July.

There was not much music about little Peter Perkins' performance, although he thought he was singing the nonsense he had made up to celebrate one of them is responsible for the good the day. What he lacked in melody, government of this land. As they grow Not for him were the joys of gunpowder it was to have pocket money, and therefore such things as fireworks were out of his reach, even if such things had been for sale in the village. He was an

"How can we celebrate the Fourth.

"Celebrate," said Mr. Perkins, who was a very solemn looking man. "The best way to celebrate is to do your chores extra well, and"-"All done, pop," said little Peter. "I "Yes, I know you did," said Mrs. Perkins dryly. "You made noise enough to get everybody else up." "Well," said little Peter, "today is the day when every good American ought to make a noise. Didn't President Adams say that we ought to fire off cannon and ring bells and kick up all sorts of a fuss on the Fourth, or was it President Madison?" He turned to his father as he spoke, and his father said: "You'd better study your schoolbooks a little more closely, and you wouldn't have to ask that question. But I can tell you how to celebrate. The young man who is going to teach school in the district next fall is in the village today, and if you get all the boys and girls together this afternoon I'll have the big barn cleared out and get him to come over and make a Fourth of July speech to you. And I guess your mother will have some kind

Peter helped to ring the bell and was al-Then, when the time came, to Peter's astonishment, there was a great crowd. Not only did the children come, but nearly all the grown people as well, and the schoolmaster was there too.

The old white haired preacher was there, among the others, and he first asked the people to sing "America." Then he introduced young Mr. Whitney, who was going to be the schoolteacher, and he, without any fuss or nonsense, began talking.

"I am not going to make any set speech," he said. "We have had orations and addresses and speeches on the Fourth of July so long and so often that it seems to me that we are beginning to lose sight of what we are trying to do in celebrating the day. All I shall try is to set before the young people some of the reasons why they ought to be glad they should remember the people who on the Fourth of July more than 100 years ago made it possible for us to live as happily and as well as we do. "We are a community of quiet farmers. There is no excitement, and no bustle, and no great struggle for existence and girls I am talking to. Any one of them may become famous and great, has natural talent and the genius for hard work. "All that may sound commonplace, but it is only because you have heard it so often. It would not have been so if it had not been for the Fourth of July and what was done that day. Before then laws were made for our people without their consent. They were governed, not by themselves, as we are today, but by strangers in another country who were sometimes friendly to them and sometimes were not. They were subject to what was called the divine right of kings, which means that God in some mysterious way selects certain men to rule over nations and keep the people in some sort of a condition of bondage. As you know, we do not believe in anything of that kind now, and no king or ruler can claim obedience from us. We make our own laws and put our servants in charge of | earth. things to see that those laws are ob-

"I am saying all this principally to the younger children," continued the young schoolteacher, "but it seems to me a good thing that some of us older ones should stop and think about it from time to time, so that we may realize how simple it is, and yet how important. And the Fourth of July, which we are proud to call Independence day, is the time of all times when we should do this, because on that day some of our forefathers took their lives in their hands and signed that declaration of human rights which resulted in free government. They were called traitors, and in a certain sense they were guilty of treason, but their treason was glorious loyalty to the human race.

"And now what I want the children to learn from all this is, first, that each however, he fully made up in noise. up they have the duty of maintaining the laws of their country. It is not enough for us to say that the majority should rule. That is perfectly true, but a single man or woman who has the support of the Almighty is in the majority. It was only a handful of men who signed the Declaration of Independence, but it afterward proved that they were in the majority. And it has happened in the course of the history of our government more than once that a few men and women have used their influence to change our laws, and by continual effort have brought the entire nation to see that they were right. And so, while it is the first duty of an American citizen to obey the laws, it is his second duty to see that the laws are what they ought to be. And that is the true lesson of Independence day."

Two ideas, intimately associated, present themselves to us in the words of David. We are exhorted not to worry because evildoers prosper on the one hand, and on the other we are exhorted to trust in God and to be true to God ourselves. The temporary prosperity of the wick-

But Cornell Soon Had Varsity Race night. All Her Own Way.

Columbia Outclassed.

Were Bedraggled.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27 .- The Harvard, Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania four-mile straightaway boat race on the Hudson yesterday was won by Cornell's eight in the phenomenal time of 19:29, Harvard second, Pennsylvania the freshman race two days ago, in which the order of the finishing was strangely two miles, but after that Cornell had their own way. Harvard tried their old scheme of tiring out Cornell at the start, but it failed. Cornell rowed a clean race, with never a break of any kind. Pennsylvania splashed and rowed badly, and Columbia for some unknown reason was not in the race after the first quarter mile. Harvard's men rowed pluckily, but were outclassed.

remembered. The four crews lined up for positions about 5:30. There was a good deal of trouble, however. Just as the referee had asked the usual question about getting ready, Captain Bullard of Harvard raised his hand Ad complained that Columbia's stakeboat was below the line of the line o below the line. Cornell and Pennsylvania agreed to this, and the referee ordered it back. This took some moments, and then the crews were lined up again. To be sure that there should be no error or claim of unfairness he asked each crew, "Are you ready, Cornell?" "Are you ready, Harvard?" etc., to which came in every instance the re-ply, "Yes." The conditions were favorable, the water was smooth, the wind undisturbing and the ebb tide in favor of very good time. The referee took a last critical look at the crews and then sent them off with the pistol.

All struck the water together, but Columbia only got a half stroke. Cornell and Harvard were both fully prepared, and got the advantage of a long sweep. started with a 40 stroke, which Harvard tempered down to 39 at the first quarter. while Cornell had come down to 38. Columbia seemed to have a leaden weight on its boat, and it hung in the water as if it was not intending to try and keep with the others. Pennsylvania was rowing 39 to the minute, but it was a ragged stroke that rocked the boat and a recovery that stopped it. Both Harvard and Cornell had settled down

Harvard's boat poked its nose ahead of Cornell at the half-mile, and the rooters yelled with approbation. Then slowly, inch by inch, the Harvard boat crept by Cornell until her stern just lapped the latter's nose

But somehow or another the enthusiasm did not demonstrate that this lead meant anything. It was noticeable that the Cornell men never changed their , but worked steadily at 38 and 37 strokes, with good back work and beautiful clean blade action, and as they neared the two-mile mark, this work was noticeable in its effect. Harvard's men had put all their hard work in their arms and legs, and it was beginning to tell, for they could not get the stern of their boat away from Cornell, and grad-ually the Cornells, with their backs working from the sliding seat to the motion that was beautiful to see, began to gain their lost ground. Harvard tried desperately to hold the lead, but as the two boats flashed by the two-mile mark Cornell had shoved herself forward on even terms, and was still going. The No. 2 man in Harvard's boat was splashing, and the stroke wavered a little, but with bulldog grit they stuck to their work. But that steady 37 stroke swing, with the stronger stroke and the neat, clean blade work was telling, and inch by inch the bow of the Cornell boat went forward from the bow of the Harvard boat. Pennsylvania was splashing on at a 37 stroke gait, three lengths behind Harvard, and Columbia was hopelessly beaten. So they went to the third cent, compared with the fourth week in mile, Harvard pulling desperately and June, 1895. somewhat prettily, but Cornell putting an inch of distance at every stroke between the boats. The long stroke and the clever back work of Cornell was counting. It was evident that "Harvard was beaten, for while at the third mile there was an their plucky opponents.

The record-breaking time of the race was in a measure due to the ebb tide, that was quite effective, but it is believed that the timekeepers, unable to see any flag at the finish, have made an error. Hone Mach to and pen continually spoke for the side of improvement, progress and education. He possessed a vast amount of common sense, which, with good judgment and ready wit, gave him a power that moved the people. He was always listened to in town meeting, and his writings were read with pleasure and profit.

He planted good seed in his religious work, and the work of education. His ideas in town, state and national politics bore valuable fruit.

He planted scores of trees by the road-side which today point heavenward; a beautiful monument to his memory.

Where to Go for Vacation.

Suggestive of green fields, bright with clover blossoms, are the covers of the handbook of Vermont and Lake Champlain vacation resort for 1896, just issued by the passenger department of the Central Vermont railroad. As one scans the pages of bright descriptive text within, embellished with beautiful half-tone engravings, he can almost imagine himself in that glorious summer country, drinking in the fragrance of blossoming meadows and the health-giving breezes from the great green hills. Printed on the finest calandered paper, the book is indeed a gem of the printer's and illustrator's art and is an eloquent sermon in behalf of Vermont as the summer paradise of New England. In addition to the matter descriptive of the state and its many charms of scenery and climate the book gives a complete list of hotels and homes open to summer visitors at from $4 to $10 a week, railroad routes and rates and a vast amount of other information that every intending vacationist will find very helpful in deciding the question where to go. "Summer Homes" will be sent for a five-cent stamp on application to S. W. Cummings, G. P. A., Central Vermont railroad, St. Albans, Vt., or T. H. Hanley, 260 Washington

TALKED ON LESSONS.

Sunday School Convention Got Into a Rather Lively Debate.

Question of Instructing the Lesson Committee

Showed That Minds Were Not All Alike on the Question.

Boston, June 27. - At the morning meeting in Tremont Temple yesterday, Mr. Moody made some pertinent suggestions as to practical methods of study of the Scriptures. He told of the manner in which his famous annotated Bible grew into being, a story which was listened to with much interest. The session of the convention which followed, was wholly devoted to the transaction of business. The report of the committee on nomination of a lesson committee was first in order, and was presented by Rev. C. R. Blackhall of Philadelphia. The list presented was elected. It was

Warren Randolph, D. D., (Baptist), Rhode Island; B. F. Jacobs (Baptist), Illinois; A. F. Schauffler, D. D., (Presbyterian), New York; A. E. Dunning, D. D., (Congregational), Massachusetts; E. B. Kephart, D. D., (United Brethren), Maryland; John R. Pepper (Methodist), Tennessee; Professor John R. Sampey, D. D., (Baptist), Kentucky; Moshein Rhodes, D. D., (Lutheran), Missouri; John Potts, D. D., (Methodist), province of Ontario; J. S. Stahr, D. D., (Reformed), Pennnsylvania; Professor J. I. D. Hinds, Ph.D., (Presbyterian), Tennessee; B. B. Tyler, D. D., (Christian), New York; H. W. Warren, D. D., (Methodist), Colorado; Professor W.W. Moore, D. D., (Presbyterian), Virginia; Principal E. I. Rexford, B. A., (Episcopal), province of Quebec

With regard to the lesson committee, the following recommendations were offered and adopted:

First-That no change be made in the number of members composing the committee, the present denominational and numerical apportionment being regarded as the fairest and best that can be made. Second-That the lesson committee name their own officers as heretofore. Third-That because so clear an under standing now exists with regard to the functions and scope of the lesson committee, it be not hampered or embarrassed by any new or special instructions by the convention.

Fourth-That in order to obtain the most full practical co-operation of all parties concerned in the provision, arrangement and production of the international lessons, each of the denominational societies or publishing houses that issue lesson helps on the international series be privileged to send, at their own cost, a representative to confer with the lesson committee at such time as may be mutually agreed upon; such representatives to have simply the right of conference, and not of voting upon questions that may be considered by the lesson committee

The adoption of the third resolution, as finally worded, was not without a very lively debate, participated in by delegates from all parts of the country. There were some who believed that the lesson committee should be given anew from 4 to 12 inches wide, white, cream and insertion of at least a quarterly lesson at Hampden, Me., by falling into the the St. Louis instructions, regarding the inculcating the study of temperance There were others who believed that, inasmuch as the lesson committee, as \$40,000, for sewer construction, sold to chosen, represents the highest intelli-Serviceable, economical, at $12\frac{1}{2}$ cents a gence and Christian character in the country, and inasmuch as their names were selected by the nominating committee after earnest prayers, it would be safe to leave the selection of topics wholly with the committee and trust to the guiding hand of Divine Providence

An Uncommonly Good Bargain. There were others who urged earnestly that, while it would be wholly safe to trust to Providence in general, it would be far greater, in this particular matter, to submit to the guiding hand of the Women's Christian Temperance union. For baby faces the lovely Muslin Hats at Dr. Randolph, the chairman of the lesviews, remarked that the committee of the last three years had found it difficult to insert, each quarter, in the midst of the series of lessons under consideration, a lesson covering the specific subject of temperance. It is the design of the committee, he said, to consider every sin and vice, in the order in which they may properly come. He thought that the committee would much prefer to remain wholly untrammelled.

Various amendments to, and substitutes for, the resolution as originally framed by the committee were offered and debated, and the resolution, as given above, was finally adopted by a narrow margin. It was moved that the vote be and conviction of the footpad who shot made unanimous, but there were some and killed Frederick N. Strange. Citiwho still held out for their conviction in zens will contribute an equal amount, the matter, and the subject was dropped. Corresponding members were chosen the names being Rev. J. Munro Gibson, hairman, W. H. Greser, Rev. C. H. Kelly, Rev. S. Green, D. D., Charles Waters and Edward Towers, all of London.

Additional resolutions were offered by the committee on the executive committee's report, and adopted.

Niipped In the Bud.

Providence, June 27.-Two of the most desperate criminals in Cranston at tempted to break jail here yesterday. Big Jim Ryan was one of the men, and William Sullivan of Boston the other. Ryan was caught passing a note to Sullivan, and it aroused the suspicions of the keepers, who on searching the prisoners' work boxes found a wicked looking dagger, two files and a jimmy. Ryan had stolen three files, one of which had been made into a stiletto by Sullivan. Ryan will be shot the next time he makes an attempt to escape. He was in league with "Gentleman" George Elwood when that worthy met death in a like attempt. Some weeks later he led another gang in an attack on the keepers, and received three bullets in his body from Officer Armstrong's revolver.

Charged With Intent to Kill.

Portland, Me., June 27.-Edward Grafthe state in the Coburn murder case, and on whose testimony James Lewis, on his first trial, was convicted of murder, was before Judge Robinson yesterday on a grave charge. On his second trial Lewis was acquitted. Soon after the trial Graffam married Josie Lowell, one of the government witnesses against Lewis, and has since lived at Scarboro, clam dig ging. He was arrested on a complaint made by Almira Lowell, also a witness against Lewis, a sister of his wife. In court the girl told the story of the alleged assault, and said that Graffam twice threatened to kill and did choke her badly. Judge Robinson held Graffam for the grand jury in September, bail being fixed at $1000.

Preachers Kicked.

Swampscott, Mass., June 27.-The citizens held a mass meeting last night to hear the decision of the selectmen relative to the request that they enforce the Sunday closing law. The selectmen said they were not ready to give an answer. This aroused the ire of three elergymen, who were present, Revs G. A. Jackson, L. A. Palmer and A. C Skinner. Their remarks almost turned the meeting into a riot, and they wer forced to leave the hall. The presence of the constables prevented injury to the reverend gentlemen.

That the Latter Will Control the Convention Is a Foregone Conclusion.

Washington, June 27.-Although the real labor of the Republican congressional committee has not fairly begun there is considerable preliminary work now in progress, and the committee headquarters at the Normandie hote. show signs of decided activity.

The committee occupy six rooms at Normandie in addition to a building or I street, where documents are stored and from which place they will be dis tributed to the various districts. It Chairman Babcock's purpose to mak his committee an effective auxiliary the national committee. In pursuance of this purpose he will confer with Mr Hanna's executive committee, with view to securing an equitable adjust ment of the work. The principal offi cials of the congressional committee, in addition to Chairman Babcock, ar Lewis D. Apsley of Massachusetts, vice chairman; David H. Mercer of Nebraska secretary, and William B. Thompson treasurer.

Mr. Babcock expresses entire satis faction with the political outlook. He does not doubt that the Republicans wi capture a sufficient number of district to give them the control of the nex house by a good working majority. It Mr. Babcock realizes the necessity of securing the lower branch of congres in order, if McKinley be elected, that the latter shall have the co-operation of national legislature which will carr out his policy. Mr. Babcock is quoted as saying that a good scare will stimu late the Republican congressional candidates to put forth their best efforts This being done he does not doubt that the great majority will be elected, whereas, without this stimulus, they might yield to over-confidence and be come the victims of a Democratic "stil hunt."

cago gives the silver people little to fear from the operation of the two-third rule. By the most conservative esti mate they have, on the basis of presen instructions, 585 votes, or 33 short of the two-thirds necessary to nominate. To overcome this slight margin would not be a difficult task. In fact some tables place the silver strength at 597 at the start. The Michigan delegation will furnish material for some manipula tion. While instructed to vote as a unit it stands 15 to 13 for gold, but a contes has been worked in two districts by the silver people, which if arbitrarily de cided in their favor would give a majority of the delegation to silver, and by the unit rule send the whole 28 votes to that side of the convention. That the Michigan Democracy would be delighted to have this change made cannot be ques tioned. There are delegates in other states counted for gold that want to break away and join the procession, and some people believe that the necessary two-thirds will be forthcoming on the first decisive ballot; if this proves to be the case the convention need not be a everything their own way and ought to settle matters promptly. The silve lelegates from Delaware, Maryland and Wisconsin are restive under unit rule.

This is the way the states will vote or the money question should the delegate in each instance follow their instruc Delegates, Silver, Gold

I had kidney complaint, indigestion, and accompanying troubles. I was so used up and nervous that I could not sleep two hours a night. Although I had a good appetite, I could not eat, as everything in the shape of food lay like a brick on my stomach. I own a place at Wolfboro, N. H., where I go every summer, but experienced no relief from the change of air until I took Dr. Crosby's prize formula. When my suffering was greatest, my son, Dr. C. S. Breed, the proprietor of the St. James Stables, at 1440 Washington St., Boston, sent me some Puritana. The relief it gave me was marvelous. I found that my nervousness left me, my kidney trouble disappeared, my indigestion was cured, and I was enabled to eat and sleep. I can honestly say that I gained at least 20 pounds and am feeling altogether another man. I cannot only eat anything that is put before me, but feel so well that I cannot do enough for Puritana to compensate for the good Puritana has done me. My only wish is that others may see this and profit thereby, as I am a firm believer in Puritana. "A. J. BREED."

Mr. Breed also says that he recently advised one of his neighbors at Wolfboro to try Puritana, and he finds that the old gentleman is much pleased with the results.

DEARTH OF MODERN NATIONAL HOL-IDAYS.

Partial Parallels to Our Own Great Festival-A Dangerous Tendency-Stimulus to Forces of True Nationalism-A Study

HERE shall we discover any analogue of the Ameri-can Fourth of July? No. can Fourth of July? Nowhere. It is unique in history.

Among the earliest landmarks of civil growth in peoples, after they have emerged from the status of first cousinsome sort of holiday. Even so called sav- the other freezes and kills. age and barbarian tribes have had their appointed times for the celebration of a legendary event or personage, when they reveled in the elysium of drunkenness or paid a less bibulous tribute to a memory or superstition. So the festival, as one of the many phases of hero worship or divinity worship (and the two have always tended to blend into one), must be reckoned with as the uniform fact which binds together the earliest dawn and the full noontide of civilization. It is curious to note, however, that these days of jubilee have not been, except in a few cases, national or patriotic in a strict sense. They have for the most part had their origin in the worship of the gods, and been closely identified with religious rite. This is true of ancient and modern times alike, of the Egyptians and Babylonians, whose civilization began at least 6,000 years ago, and of the modern Christian nations. Even among the Greeks and Romans, where the idea of the state, as the organized expression of the civic spirit, touched closely that of the nineteenth century, one can quote only a few exceptions. Yet there are some which had a scintilla of the Fourth of July sentiment, even where the relibe cited the feast of the Passover, that celebrated the final stroke of release which parted the Hebrews from Egyptian bondage; the great national festivals of the Greeks, the Olympic, Pyth- earth. ian, Nemean and Isthmian, which had great political and social significance, and the Roman celebration of Romulus and the founding of the city, known as 1776. the Quirinalia.

Strange to say, there has been as great a poverty of listinctively patriotic holidays in modern as in ancient times. We cannot dignify by this title the birthdays of kings, emperors and queens. These represent but little, and nations skins when death jerks the string and the puppets are changed. If England had ordained a national holiday perpetuating the memory of that meeting of the barons at Runnymede which wrested Magna Charta from King John, or her independence won from the tyranny of Spain by an annual day of rejoicing; if the French republic had so named the anniversary of the fall of the Bastille, that lurid dawn of her emancipationthat none of these or of any other quotembodiment of the spirit of liberty. Without belittling the colossal events which changed the course of our history in so many ways, without lessening one jot or tittle of reverence before that image which shines so benignly as a ruler amid that turmoil, there is a lesson to be learned from the faraway event which our country needs as much as it did half a century since-perhaps needs the enforcement even more, since the open floodgate of immigration has poured on us a volume of anarchical sentiment, rampant in diagnosticating patriotism as a symptom, not of health, but of disease. The centrifugal powers of gathering force from the developments of finance and industrialism, operating differently in the various sections of a vast country, feed collision and discontent among the members of the body politic. It is the story of Æsop's fable, the controversy of the brain, and the heart, and the stomach, and the dow screens. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

-There's no doubt that Commissioner Waring is a great street sweeper. He says that of the 417 miles of streets in New York city there is not one now that is not swept at least once a day. Streets measuring 260 miles are swept twice a day, and 20 miles are swept three or four times a day, while there are certain streets where they keep at it all day long. Probably this is more sweeping than is done in any other city on this continent.

Address by Rev. M. S. Nash, of Hanover and Franklin Jacobs.

Sunday was Memorial day for the Odd Fellows of Quincy. Mt. Wollaston lodge, No. 80, assembled at its hall in the afternoon and had as guests members of John Hancock lodge of Wollaston and Carrie E. Ruggles lodge of Rebekahs. A line of which were attended by about 100 Odd members. Some additions were made to the church decorations of the morning.

Mrs. Hood presided at the organ, and after the voluntary, Rev. E. N. Hardy, the pastor of the church, offered the invoca-Tirrell, Miss Carrie Follett Spear, Mr. A. L. Hood, and Mr. Doane, rendered "How Long Will Thou Forget Me, O Lord" by Carl Pflunger. Rev. Mr. Hardy read the Scriptures, which was followed by the following introductory by Past Grand Jacobs of Mount Wollaston lodge:

"We meet today in compliance with our usual custom in the month of June to engage in services that shall tend to refresh in our minds the memory of those of our Brothers who have left the scenes of their earthly labors; to call to mind their earnest appreciation of the value of the principles that lie at the very foundation of our order, hoping that thus we may not only keep ever green in our memory the examples they have left us, but also it may serve to stimulate us to emulate their devotion to the maintainance and practice of those principles they so constantly manifested and which never ceased until they crossed

> GEORGE L. GILL, P. G., who died Dec. 16, 1895. He was born in Hingham, but was long a resident of Quincy. He joined our order, I think, at the institution of Mt. Wollaston lodge, July 18, 1845. He was made N. G. in January, 1850, and was an active member until the surrender of its McLane second. His love for the order neve ceased to exist, and in 1884 he was a petitioner for the reinstitution of the lodge, being a charter member, also treasurer for several years. Words of mine cannot represent his character as faithfully and vividly as it exists in your minds today. Though the cares of a busy life, and increasing years caused his attendance at meetings to be less constant than formerly, yet special occasions always found him ready to aid and attend, while by conversation and inquiries he manifested his interest and kept well informed as to the affairs of the lodge.

BRO. WILLIAM GRAGG, died March 22, 1896. He was initiated into Odd Fellowship on the occasion of the reinstitution of Mt. Wollaston lodge, March 10, 1884, and continued a faithful member until his death. Being of a retiring disposition he has not taken so active a part in the meetings and business of the lodge as many of its members, but his readiness to perform the duties his membership enjoined has always been effectively manifested in a quiet and unostentatious manner.

HORACE O. SOUTHER, P. G., died May 29, 1896. Born and resided the greater part of his life in Quincy. He was made an Odd Fellow in University Lodge, No. 144, of California, where he was residing for some years. Returning to Quincy he 100101110101003010111110-14 joined Mt. Danger of Further Disaster Makes Attempts at Rescue Exceedingly Hazardous.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 29.—At 3 o'clock yesterday morning the city of Pittston, nine miles from here, was thrown into and severe shocks, accompanied by rumblings resembling an earthquake disturbance. They were so strong as to awaken the people from slumber throughout East and West Pittston. The entire population was greatly alarmed, and the general terror was at caused the legislature to pass a law comonce considerably added to by wild whistling at the Twin shaft at Pittston Junction, accompanied by repeated fire been found. Superintendent Law lost no time, but at once put a number of timber-men at work. The squeeze continued, however, and on Saturday the situation became alarming. In the afternoon a slight fall occurred, and the men who were at work had to retreat efore it. A consultation of mine offiials was then held, and it was decided that heroic measures would have to be resorted to to prevent heavy damages. Inside Superintendent Langan gave instructions that the most experienced miners should be secured, and that the low, rumbling noise, and the flying coal At Washington-Baltimore, 6; Washand debris drove the men back.

Major McKinley stepped for ward, not party and convention at whose instance you come, for the high and exceptional distinction bestowed upon me. Kinley responded as follows:

the notification committee of the Re-publican national convention—To be selected as their presidential candidate by a great party convention, represent-ness so vast a number of the people of the United States, is a most distin-guished honor, for which I would not nceal my high appreciation, although eply sensible of the great responsi-ities of the trust and my inability to pear them without the generous and constant support of my fellow country-men. Great are the issues involved in the coming election, and eager and earnest the people for their right determination. Our domestic trade must be won back, and our idle working people empack, and our file working people employed in gainful occupations at Amer-ican wages. Our home market must be on the return trip from Gloucester yesican wages. Our home market must be restored to its proud rank of first in the world, and our foreign trade, so precipitately cut off by adverse national legislation, reopened on fair and equitable terms for our surplus agricultural and manufacturing products. Protection and reciprocity, twin measures of a true American policy, should again command the earnest encouragement of the government at Washington. Public confidence must be resumed and the skill, the energy and the capital of our country find ample employment at home, sustained, encouraged and defended against the unequal competition and serious disadvantages with which they are now contending. according and the state of the government should at New York—New York,5; Brooklyn, 2.

The American people hold the financial honor of our government as sacred as our flag, and can be relied upon to guard it with the same sleepless vigilance. The money of the United States, and every kind or form of it, whether of paper, silver or gold, must be as good as the best in the world. It must not only be current at its full value at home, but it must be counted at par in any and every commercial center of the globe. The dollar paid to the farmer, wage earner and the pensioner, must upon lines of theory and speculation, but in the light of severe practical ex-perience and new and dearly acquired knowledge. The great body of our citi-zens realize that the Republican party believes that our work should be done at home and not abroad, and every-where proclaim their devotion to the principles of a protective tariff, which, while supplying adequate revenues for the government, will restore American production and serve the best interests of American labor and development.

The platform adopted by the Republi-can national convention has received my careful consideration and has my elected at the St. Louis convention to unqualified approval. It is a matter of gratification to me, as I am sure it must convey to McKinley the official notification of his nomination arrived in Canton vesterday morning. Grain looks very promising. Black- in one thing is not to be trusted in another. berries have blossomed full, but some say they were badly winter killed. In Oxford county, farmers are reporting a serious damage to the apple crop from the May frosts.

The weather in New Hampshire has been generally favorable, but it is getting too dry for the best growth of most crops. Pastures begin to show the wan of rain, and many report that grass in fields will grow but little more unless rain comes right away, Grass and grain are maturing fast. The hay crop is generally reported light, but some say it is better than was expected. A correspondent in Cheshire county states that raspberries begin to ripen, but will not be very plenty. There are a good Stockings at 5 cts. a Pair. many blueberries, and blackberries are fruiting well. Currants promise a good crop. The apple prospect is growing poor in Sullivan county, and they are now dropping badly in Belknap county Potatoes are looking finely. Corn and oats have made a good growth.

The past week has been very dry and dusty in Vermont, with only a light sprinkle of rain in any section. All correspondents report that rain is muc needed. A very light frost was experienced in Addison county on the morning of the 23d, but no damage has been reported. Some hay is being cut as it is practically matured on old fields On new land and rich meadows it is gaining well yet. Corn is rather back-ward, but is of good color and doing well now. Oats are short, but good color, One correspondent reports that it is too dry for apples, and they are drop ping badly.

About one-half inch of rain fell in southeastern Massachusetts on the 28th. doing much good to crops on mellow land, and helping fields and pastures to some extent. In other sections of the state the ground is getting too dry, although crops have grown well during the past week. Haying has begun to a limited extent, and the crop, though light, is better than was expected earlier in the season. The days have been ecru. warm, but the nights a little cool. Corn is improving, but is still small for the season. All spring grains promise well. Early planted potatoes are in blossom, and show a good stand of vines. Tomatoes are growing finely. Tobacco is holding its own, and looks well. Apples are hanging on well in western counties Blueberries and blackberries are setting for a good crop. Low bush blueberries are getting ripe. Currants are late, but are showing up well. Early peas are quite plenty, and of extra quality. Fruit rees are making good growth.

A little grass has been cut in Rhode Island during the week, but as yet no great amount of haying has been done. Though a little dry in places in this state, the top of the ground has been moistened by light to moderate showers, and all crops are growing well. Hoeing is well along. Potatoes are looking well. Wild berries are unusually plentiful, and are ripening early.

Cloudy, showery weather has pre-vailed for the most part in Connecticut, and all crops have made a good growth. One correspondent reports the ground unusually moist for this season. The nights at the first of the week were a little cool for corn, and that plant is still somewhat backward, yet growing well. Pastures are good, and grass on lowlands is improving. Haying has been hindered by the cloudy weather. but the work will be general this week Hoeing has been pushed along, and strawberries have been picked. One farmer in Winsted has six acres of strawberries, and has marketed from 12 to 15 bushels a day of fine berries. Raspberries are maturing fast, and picking will begin this week. The prospect of turnip seed at Milford is reported to be not over bright; it will be ready for outting in about a week. Wire worms have done some damage to corn and tobacco. Corn for fodder is still being planted. One correspondent in Fairfield county reports potatoes looking rather poorly, but others report them in good condition. Apples are dropping some, but it is thought enough will remain to mature well.

Swift Flying.

Fall River, Mass., June 30.—H. G. Thurston's homing pigeon arrived here yesterday from Amherst, Va., a distance of 500 miles, the average flight being 1197 yards a minute. Of the 25 birds released at 5:20 o'clock yesterday morning, 16 had returned before dark.

child—or if they do not, they ought to; but angels cannot change the course of Nature, and it is not right that they should. The Boston, June 30.—The New England section of the United States agricultural bureau issues the following bulletin:

The week ending June 29 has given cloudy, showery weather in southern New England, and fair weather, with only light showers and with cool nights in northern. In central and northwestern districts the ground is getting very dry again, and atthough no crops are seriously suffering, a good rain would advance them all. Crops are all in a flourishing condition. The prospect for most fruits, both large and small, is very good. Vegetable gardens are flourishing, and the crops that have been harvested are of good quality. Hoeing has been pushed along, and is well under way. Some grass has been tut, but the work is not general yet. Crops the ground is not general yet, which one in the restination and so to the composition of the presentation of Nature, and it is not fight that they should. There have been marked changes in temperature in Maine during the week, and on the whole slightly cooler than usual. Correspondents in Oxford county report corn backward, and other crops growing slowly, but generally everything is making good progress—some say the best growing week of the season. Grass is growing on most fields. Fastures need rain. Potatoes are irregular, but on the whole looking well. Grain looks very promising. Black-

SILVER CONFERENCES

Will Be Held Daily to Work Up Plans For the Campaign.

Bimetallic Men Are Seeking "An Understanding."

Senator Cockrell Predicts an Unequivocal Sil-

for them. The general purpose of the meetings is to exercise a supervisory care over the interests of the silve: cause in the Democratic convention. two months ago, when the silver people were not so sure of being able to control the convention as they now are, and would be necessary, in the protection of their interests, to keep an eye upon the proceedings of the national Democratic tant at that time that the silver people should have such a perfect understand inng that there would be no doubtful moves made in the convention, or elsewhere. Now they profess to feel so sure of their ground that they do not longer feel the necessity for such caution. Among the matters to which they do propose to give their attention are the contests for seats in the convention made by silver men and the selection o a temporary chairman of the convention, and possibly later to the preparation of a platform, and, if necessary, the election of candidates. Major Towles of Missouri, who is cretary of the national bimetallic Democratic committee, says that probably the first work of the committee vill be the appointment of a sub-com mittee to confer with the national Demuring harmonious action in the con vention. "Our committee," said Major Towles, referring to the bimetallic organization. "has done much of the work which has resulted in securing a maority for silver in the convention, and ve want to make sure that the cause s protected in the convention. Whatever the predictions of the national mmittee, I suppose they will show no disposition, to deprive the silver majority of the convention of its right to name the temporary chairman and to xercise other rights belonging to the majority, but if such a disposition should be manifested, it would be reented, and the silver men would un oubtedly name a candidate of their wn for presiding officer. Furthermore, they would elect him. Hereofore, when a number of men have found themselves differing radically from the leadors of their party on questions of principle, they have found it necessary to separate from the parent organization and to organize a new party. We have revolutionized the Demcratic party on the question of the curency, and are still in the ranks. That consider an achievement worthy of

Mr. Towles thinks that when the test mes, the silver men wil be found to have the necessary two-thirds to nominate a presidential candidate. The bimetallic committee has from the first studiously eliminated the question of candidates from its consideration, but For baby faces the lovely Muslin Hats at they will take the matter in hand later nomination of a desirable man.

Senator Cockrell of Missouri is a delegate to the national Democratic convention, and is here for the purpose of attending the Democratic silver conference. He says: "We shall nominate a straight silver man on an unequivocal silver declaration in the platform. I strength to drive out of your system am, of course, for Mr. Bland, and our that which is the cause of Spring Fever. delegation are instructed for him, but if P. P. P. is needed at once. we cannot get him, we shall get some other man who is sound on the currency question, and more, will support nim at the polls. Mr. Bland is a safe, practical man, and, if elected, would be entirely reliable as a president. There can be no doubt on that score. I have not, however, devoted myself so much to finding presidential material as I have to making sure of a silver majority in the convention. That assured, we shall have but little difficulty in finding an available man for president." The senator thinks that the financial question will be made the paramount issue in the platform, and that there will be a square declaration for the mintage of silver on terms of equality with gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, and without waiting the co-operation of other nations. He does not believe that an unequivocal silver plank will drive many eastern men out of the party, and argues that, on the contrary, it will bring many votes to the party that cannot be caught in any other way.

"We shall get on immensely in the west," he said, "and we shall not lose in the east. The people have not yet come to a full realization of the strength of the silver movement. It will sweep the country at the polls, as it has swept the Democratic party at the primaries." Senator Cockrell does not consider that there is any danger of a bolt by the New York or other eastern dele-
